Walkable Cities Carlos J. L. Balsas, 2019-10-01 Gold Medalist 2021 Independent Publisher Book Awards in the Transportation Auto Aviation Railroad Category Co Winner of the 2020 Global Division Outstanding Book Award presented by the Global Division of the Society for the Study of Social Problems Walkable precincts have become an important component of urban revitalization on both sides of the Atlantic In Walkable Cities Carlos J L Balsas examines a range of city scales and geographic settings on three continents focusing on the Iberian Peninsula Spain and Portugal Latin America Brazil and Mexico and the United States Phoenix and New York City He explains how this pedestrianization of Main Street approach to central locations downtowns and midtowns has contributed to strengthening various urban functions such as urban vitality pedestrian and bicyclist safety tourism and more However it has also put pressure on less affluent peripheral and fragile areas due to higher levels of consumption and waste generation Balsas calls attention to the need to base urban revitalization interventions on more spatially and socially just interventions coupled with sustainable consumption practices that do not necessarily entail high growth levels but instead aim to improve the quality of city life

Jesus and the Stigmatized Elia Shabani Mligo, 2011-08-01 Biblical scholars often read the Bible with their own interpretive interests in mind without associating the Bible with the concerns of laypeople This largely undermines the contributions laypeople can offer from reading the Bible in their own contexts and from their own life experiences Moreover such exclusively scholarly reading conceals the role of biblical texts in dealing with current social problems such as HIV AIDS related stigmatization Hence the lack of lay participation in the process of Bible reading makes the Bible less visible in various common life situations In this volume Elia Shabani Mligo draws on his fieldwork among people living with HIV AIDS PLWHA in Tanzania selects stigmatization as his perspective and chooses participant centered contextual Bible study as his method to argue that the reading of texts from the Gospel of John by PLWHA given their lived experiences of stigmatization empowers them to reject stigmatization as unjust Mligo s study shows that Christian PLWHA reject stigmatization because it does not comply with the attitude of Jesus toward stigmatized groups in his own time The theology emerging from the readings by stigmatized PLWHA through their evaluation of Jesus attitudes and acts toward stigmatized people in the texts challenges churches in their obligatory mission as disciples of Jesus Churches are challenged to reconsider healing hospitality and caring prophetic voices against stigmatization and the way they teach about HIV and AIDS in relation to sexuality Churches must revisit their practices toward stigmatized groups and listen to their voices Mligo argues that participant centered Bible study methods similar to the one used in this book whereby stigmatized people are the primary interlocutors in the process can be useful tools in listening to the voices of stigmatized groups Homeless Advocacy and the Rhetorical Construction of the Civic Home Melanie Loehwing, 2018-10-04 Homeless assistance has frequently adhered to the three hots and a cot model which prioritizes immediate material needs but may fail to address the political and social exclusion of people experiencing homelessness In this study Loehwing reconsiders typical characterizations of homelessness citizenship and democratic community through unconventional approaches to homeless advocacy and assistance While conventional homeless advocacy rhetoric establishes the urgency of homeless suffering it also implicitly invites housed publics to understand homelessness as a state of abnormality that destines the individuals suffering it to life outside the civic body In contrast Loehwing focuses on atypical models of homeless advocacy the meal sharing initiatives of Food Not Bombs the international competition of the Homeless World Cup and the annual Homeless Persons Memorial Day campaign She argues that these modes of unconventional homeless advocacy provide rhetorical exemplars of a type of inclusive and empowering civic discourse that is missing from conventional homeless advocacy and may be indispensable for overcoming homeless marginalization and exclusion in contemporary democratic culture Loehwing's interrogation of homeless advocacy rhetorics demonstrates how discursive practices shape democratic culture and how they may provide a potential civic remedy to the harms of disenfranchisement discrimination and displacement This book will be welcomed by scholars whose work focuses on the intersections of democratic theory and rhetorical and civic studies as well as by homelessness advocacy groups Queer Inclusion in the United Methodist Church Amanda Udis-Kessler, 2012-02-27 The United Methodist Church has been in conflict over lesbian gay bisexual transgender inclusion issues since 1972 In this groundbreaking book Udis Kessler examines this struggle analyzing both sides of this divisive debate among one of the most prominent religious organizations in the United States Are We Thinking Straight? Daniel K. Cortese, 2006-01-31 This book highlights the strategic deployment of a straight identity by an LGBT organization Cortese explores the ways in which activists strategically use a straight identity as a social movement tool in order to successfully achieve the movement objectives The Contemporary US Peace Movement Laura Toussaint, 2008-11-04 As peace activists have faced increased government repression and accusations of being unpatriotic since 9 11 Toussaint examines how current attempts to control dissent impact the peace movement This study offers an analysis of self identified peace activists in terms of their demographic characteristics motivation for activism political opportunities and views of the peace movement It also discusses the processes involved in successfully mobilizing an increasingly diverse constituency and how broad based support can be sustained beyond reacting to crises Domestic Democracy Jennifer Fish, 2005-11-16 This study examines the dialectic relationship between social inequality and change in the newly democratic South Africa through the lens of paid domestic labor The complexities of this institution provide an in depth analysis of the tension between the race and gender priorities of South Africa's new democracy and the lived realities of the majority of its population Because paid domestic work remains the largest sector of employment for women in South Africa it is critical to situating the scope of social change in this emergent democracy This book presents the first comprehensive study of paid domestic labor since South Africa s 1994 post apartheid transition Drawing upon 85 interviews with domestic workers employers Parliamentarians community activists and organizational leaders this research offers diverse perspectives on the race class and gender divides that remain integral to social relations in the context of national transition In contrast this study also details women s collective agency through the exploration of a critical social policy change shaped by the activism of a new union of domestic workers Drawing upon extensive fieldwork this book demonstrates that transformation of social relations remains one of the greatest obstacles to engendering democracy in South Africa

Striving and Surviving Leah Schmalzbauer, 2013-10-08 Drawing on data the author gathered in Honduras and the United States from weekly time diaries in depth interviews participant observation and interpretive focus groups she looks specifically at the experience and prospects of transmigrant labor in the United States the aspirations and consumption practices of transnational family members in the United States and Honduras especially as they relate to the American Dream and she explores the ways in which families negotiate caretaking responsibilities both financial and emotional while striving and surviving in a transnational space This is the first daily life study of undocumented immigrants and the first transnational analysis of Honduran families

Minority within a Minority Amal Ibrahim Madibbo, 2007-11-21 This book examines the institutional racism and language discrimination that Black Francophones who constitute a racial minority situated within a linguistic minority face and identifies the strategies of resistance Black Francophones invent to gain access to power structures The book is written to cover an area of research Black Francophones that is largely understudied The book deals with the areas of immigration race and anti racism gender multiculturalism linguistic minorities and francophone studies It brings together multidisciplinary sociological and sociolinguistic theories and methodologies and sheds light on the discourse of institutional racism and resistance

Class, Ethnicity, Gender and Latino Entrepreneurship María Eugenia Verdaguer, 2009-02 Verdaguer examines first generation Latino entrepreneurs revealing not only that Latinos strategies for access to business ownership and development are cut across class ethnic and gender lines but also that immigrants options and practices remain shaped by patriarchal gender relations within the immigrant family community and economy

Unequal Partnerships Ira Silver, 2005-11-03 Through an examination of the Chicago Initiative Silver analyzes how elite philanthropists exercise social control over community organizations that do work in poor neighborhoods

The Suppression of Dissent Jules Boykoff, 2013-09-13 Despite longstanding traditions of tolerance inclusion and democracy in the United States dissident citizens and social movements have experienced significant and sustained although often subtle and difficult to observe suppression in this country Using mechanism based social movement theory this book explores a wide range of twentieth century episodes of contention involving such groups as mid century communists the Black Panther Party

the American Indian Movement and the modern day globalization movement If I Only Had a Brain Mark

Sherry,2013-10-14 This book offers a rich insider's viewpoint of the lived experience of brain injury Sherry a survivor of brain injury himself uses a cross disciplinary theoretical approach drawing upon the social and medical models of disability and combining them with lessons from feminism queer theory postcolonial and postmodern literature to frame an enriching narrative about the lived experience of brain injury Gender Trouble Makers Jennifer Rothchild,2007-05-07

International development efforts aimed at improving girls lives and education have been well intended somewhat effective but ultimately short sighted and incomplete This is because international development efforts often operate under a reductive understanding of the term gender and how it influences the lives of girls and boys Gender is more commonly conceived by international efforts as characteristics which are ascribed to girls as norms for behaviour In particular the analysis in Gender Trouble Makers focuses on the social constructions of gender and the ways in which gender was reinforced and maintained through a case study in rural Nepal In developing countries like Nepal promoting access to and participation in existing formal education programme is clearly necessary but it is not in itself sufficient to transform gender power relations in the broader society When gender is properly addressed as a process then all stakeholders involved researchers governmental officials and community members can begin to understand and devise more effective ways to increase both girl and boy students enrollment participation and success in school Rice Plus Susan H. Lee,2006-02-14

This book explores the economic coping practices of rural widows in the aftermath of the Cambodian civil war War produces a preponderance of widows often young widows with small children in their care Rural widows must feed their families and educate their children despite rural poverty and the lack of opportunities for women The economics of widowhood is therefore a significant social problem in less developed countries The widows predominant economic plan was to combine rice cultivation with an assortment of microenterprises a rice plus strategy Many widows were unable to grow enough rice on their land to feed their families They filled the hunger gap by raising cash through microenterprises to purchase additional rice Gender work roles were both permeable and persistent allowing a flexible sexual division of labor in the short run but maintaining traditional roles in the long run Most widows called on relatives or exchanged transplanting labor for male plowing services although a few women took up the plow themselves The study also explores widows access to key economic resources such as land credit and education War decimated widows family support networks including the loss of children their social security The study concludes that Cambodia's gender arrangement offered many economic options to widows but also devalued their labor in a cultural structure of inequality Gender poverty and war interacted to reduce widows financial resources accounting for their economic vulnerability Linking Activism Morgan Gardner,2013-09-13 This book a unique examination of the activist striving to work for more holistic social change creates a conceptual framework to give visibility to the complexity of activist practice that spans environmental and social justice concerns Praxis and Politics Janet M.

Conway, 2013-10-14 Praxis and Politics explores the knowledge arising from activist praxis and its significance for reimagining radical and democratic politics. It is based on five years of direct involvement in the Toronto based Metro Network for Social Justice and their work in coalition building, campaign organizing and economic and political literacy work in the aftermath of the signing of the Canada US Free Trade Agreement. The book breaks new theoretical and methodological ground in social movement studies in drawing on a wide range of traditions including cultural studies, urban studies, political economy and feminism.

Negotiating Decolonization in the United Nations Vrushali Patil, 2007-11-13 Combining discourse and comparative historical methods of analysis, this book explores how colonialists and anti colonialists renegotiated transnational power relationships within the debates on decolonization in the United Nations from 1946-1960. Shrewdly bringing together Sociology, Women's Studies, History and Postcolonial Studies, it is interested in the following questions: how are modern constructions of gender and race forged in transnational colonial as well as postcolonial processes? How did they emerge in and contribute to such processes during the colonial era? Specifically, how did they shape colonialist constructions of space, identity and international community? How has this relationship shifted with legal decolonization?
