rivers with particular attention to the legal governing framework. Alongside contributions by legal scholars from the respective riparian countries on the national water law, the book offers a unique interdisciplinary perspective on political, hydrological and environmental aspects of water management in the region. Additionally, the overall legal implications of water sharing and water resource management are addressed and analyzed in a critical overview. Finally, Water Law in the Euphrates Tigris Region: A Comparative and Interdisciplinary Approach serves as a comprehensive analysis of modern water law in its inclusion of comparative studies of legal and institutional aspects of water management systems in other international river basins. Legal scholars, political scientists, specialists in conflict resolution, economists and policy makers will find an essential new work in Water Law in the Euphrates Tigris Region: A Comparative and Interdisciplinary Approach.

Food and agribusiness is one of the fastest changing global markets, change that is driven by technology developments in manufacturing and supply and a growing consumer engagement. The success of the agri-food industry and many of our household brand names will depend on how much you understand about these changes and the extent to which you can deliver secure and competitive products in the face of growing expectations about food safety and quality as well as changing attitudes about the environment, human diet and nutrition and animal welfare. The Crisis of Food Brands offers perspectives on many key aspects of these changes, including the role of business, policy makers and the media in communicating with and engaging stakeholders about relevant and dynamic models of risk and crisis management, the value of innovative and sometimes controversial food systems, their buying behaviour and attitudes to movements such as organic and fair trade, how and where we source and buy our food now and in the future. The quality of the original research that underpins this book and the imagination and practicality with which the authors address its applications for the industry is first rate. Anyone with responsibility for marketing food, communicating about the food industry or engaging with consumers will find this an important source of ideas and inspiration. North American Tunneling 2018 Proceedings Alan Howard, Brett Campbell, Derek Penrice, Matthew Preedy, Jim Rush, 2018-06-24.
