Contradiction And Mental Process:

Contradiction and Mental Process Leland Ferguson, 1971-01-01 Contradictions of Archaeological Theory Sandra Wallace, 2012-01-30 Is current archaeological theory stuck at an impasse Sandra Wallace argues that archaeological theory has become mired as a result of logical and ontological contradictions By showing that these contradictions are a result of common underlying philosophical assumptions and fallacies this book is able to show how a fresh approach to this discipline is necessary to resolve them even if this requires re examining some of the tenants of orthodox archaeology This fresh approach is achieved by using Critical Realism as an under labourer to philosophically evaluate archaeological theory Starting by assessing the historical impact of philosophy on the discipline and then looking at the current relationship between archaeology and the ontology of the material this book facilitates the construction of discipline specific theory by archaeologists The result is an approach to archaeology that allows both students and practitioners to free themselves from endemic contradictions and re discover their approach to archaeological theory The Mind and the Brain J.H.

Ornstein, 2012-12-06 2 no predictions or experimental findings based on the Identity Theory differ from those based on mind brain Parallelism or Epiphenomenal ism i e Dualism in general The Identity Theory therefore must stand or fall on its reputed conceptual advantages over Dualism Then the conceptual issues at stake in the mind brain problem are discussed The kernel of truth present in the Identity Theory is shown to be obscured by all the talk about reducing sensations to neural processes An attempt is made to characterize pain adequately as a pattern or complex of bodily processes This view is then reconciled with the asymmetry in the way one is aware of one s own pains and the way in which others are This asymmetry constitutes an epistemological dualism which no philosophical theory or scientific experiment could alter The sense in which experiences are both mental and physical is thus elucidated A Multi Aspect Theory of the mind is presented and defended Five aspects of pain are discussed in some detail experiential neural bodily behavioral and verbal Having a mind characteristically involves having all of these features except the bodily i e a physical irregularity Thus having a mind characteristically entails having experiences and a healthy functioning brain It also involves being able to act and speak reasonably intelligently

Contradictions of Neoliberal Planning
Tuna Taşan-Kok, Guy Baeten, 2011-09-24 This book argues that the concepts of neoliberalism and neoliberalisation while in common use across the whole range of social sciences have thus far been generally overlooked in planning theory and the analysis of planning practice Offering insights from papers presented during a conference session at a meeting of the Association of American Geographers in Boston in 2008 and a number of commissioned chapters this book fills this significant hiatus in the study of planning What the case studies from Africa Asia North America and Europe included in this volume have in common is that they all reveal the uneasy cohabitation of planning some kind of state intervention for the betterment of our built and natural environment and neoliberalism a belief in the superiority of market mechanisms to organize land use and the inferiority of its opposite state intervention Planning if anything may be seen as being in direct contrast to neoliberalism as something that should be rolled back or even annihilated through neoliberal practice To combine neoliberal and planning in one phrase then seems awkward at best and an outright oxymoron at worst To admit to the very existence or epistemological possibility of neoliberal planning may appear to be a total surrender of state planning to market superiority or in other words the simple acceptance that the management of buildings transport infrastructure parks conservation areas etc beyond the profit principle has reached its limits in the 21st century Planning in this case would be reduced to a mere facilitator of market forces in the city be it gentle or authoritarian Yet in spite of these contradictions and outright impossibilities planners operate within contribute to resist or temper an increasingly neoliberal mode of producing spaces and places or the revival of profit driven changes in land use It is this contradiction between the serving of private profit seeking interests while actually seeking the public betterment of cities that this volume has sought to describe explore analyze and make sense of through a set of case studies covering a wide range of planning issues in various countries This book lays bare just how spatial planning functions in an age of market triumphalism how planners respond to the overruling profit principle in land allocation and what is left of non profit driven developments
