Contrastive Rhetoric Ibues Insights And Pedagogy:

Contrastive Rhetoric Nagwa Kassabgy, Zaynab Ibrāhīm, Sabiha T. Aydelott, 2004 The essays in this volume explore the field of contrastive rhetoric the study of how a person's first language L1 and culture influence the acquisition of another language Contrastive rhetoric encourages inquiry into various levels of discourse and text examining the conventions and rhetorical structures of L1 and their influence on the use of another language It also studies the cognitive dimensions of transfer in relation to both writing and speech The four sections of this volume focusing on writing and translation diglossia second language acquisition and pragmatics cover a broad spectrum of studies in the field of contrastive rhetoric with essays by some of its leading scholars from Cyprus Egypt Hong Kong Jordan Tunisia Turkey the United Kingdom and the United States The collection will be invaluable to language teachers students of applied linguistics and anyone interested in second language acquisition and related issues Contributors Nahwat El Arousy Reem Bassiouney Ulla Connor Mohammed Farghal Ola Hafez Martin Harfmann Julide Inozu Georgette Ioup Mona Kamel Hassan Miranda Lee Zuhail Okan Mona Osman Andreas Papapavlou Paul Stevens Hulya Yumru Izzedin al Zou bi International Handbook of Media Literacy Education Belinha S. De Abreu, Paul Mihailidis, Alice Y.L. Lee, Jad Melki, Julian McDougall, 2017-04-21 At the forefront in its field this Handbook examines the theoretical conceptual pedagogical and methodological development of media literacy education and research around the world Building on traditional media literacy frameworks in critical analysis evaluation and assessment it incorporates new literacies emerging around connective technologies mobile platforms and social networks A global perspective rather than a Western centric point of view is explicitly highlighted with contributors from all continents to show the empirical research being done at the intersection of media education and engagement in daily life Structured around five themes Educational Interventions Safeguarding Data and Online Privacy Engagement in Civic Life Media Creativity and Production Digital Media Literacy the volume as a whole emphasizes the competencies needed to engage in meaningful participation in digital culture Contrastive Rhetoric Revisited and Redefined Clayann Gilliam Panetta, 2000 The theory of contrastive rhetoric was first put forth by Robert Kaplan in the mid 1960s to explain the differences in writing and discourse between students who were native speakers of English and their international counterparts Over the past three decades contrastive rhetoric theory has been used primarily by linguists in language centers and involved in ESL teaching As the number of international students in American universities has continued to grow contrastive rhetoric has become increasingly relevant to all disciplines and to rhetoric and composition in particular This volume breaks important new ground in its examination of contrastive rhetoric in the exclusive context of composition The editor has assembled contributors with varying areas of specialty to demonstrate how the traditional definition of contrastive rhetoric theory can be applied to composition in new and innovative ways and how it can be redefined through the lens of addressing difference issues in writing Thus the volume as a whole clarifies how the basic principles of contrastive rhetoric theory can help composition instructors to understand writing and rhetorical decisions With the inclusion of current research on multicultural issues this collection is appropriate for all instructors in ESL writing including teachers in rhetoric composition and linguistics It can also be used as an advanced text for students in these areas Wherever it is employed it is certain to offer significant new insights into the application of contrastive rhetoric within the composition discipline Rhetoric and Educational Discourse Richard Edwards, Katherine Nicoll, Nicky Solomon, Robin Usher, 2013-02-01 Educational policy is often dismissed as simply rhetoric and a collection of half truths However this is to underestimate the power of rhetoric and the ways in which rhetorical strategies are integral to persuasive acts Through a series of illustrative chapters this book argues that rather than something to be dismissed rhetorical analysis offers a rich and deep arena in which to explore and examine educational issues and practices It adopts an original stance in relation to contemporary debates and will make a significant contribution to educational debates in elucidating and illustrating the pervasiveness of persuasive strategies in educational practices Rhetoric and Educational Discourse is a useful resource for postgraduate and research students in education and applied linguistics The book will also be of interest to academics and researchers in these fields of study and those interested in discursive approaches to research and scholarship Contrastive Rhetoric Ulla Connor, Ed Nagelhout, William V. Rozycki, 2008 Shows how a person's first language and culture influence writing in a second language Purpose, Practice, and Pedagogy in Rhetorical Criticism Jim A. Kuypers, 2014-02-07 This edited volume fills a void in the literature concerning the purpose practice and pedagogy associated with performing rhetorical criticism Literature regarding these issues predominantly purpose exists primarily as scattered journal articles and as sections within chapters of textbooks on rhetorical criticism This book brings together 15 established rhetorical critics each of whom offers well thought out and argued opinion pieces that stress the more personal nature of criticism The purpose of this book is to serve as a disciplinary resource and as a teaching and learning aid Accessibility across areas of expertise and experience is stressed in this book Critics range from junior faculty to emeritus and represent a broad spectrum of views on criticism In this sense the book offers a snapshot of the views of a wide swath of successfully practicing contemporary rhetorical critics Rhetoric in an Antifoundational World Professor Michael F Bernard-Donals, Michael F. Bernard-Donals, Richard R. Glejzer, 1998-01-01 In this brilliant collection literary scholars philosophers and teachers inquire into the connections between antifoundational philosophy and the rhetorical tradition What happens to literary studies and theory when traditional philosophical foundations are disavowed What happens to the study of teaching and writing when antifoundationalism is accepted What strategies for human understanding are possible when the weaknesses of antifoundationalism are identified This volume offers answers in classic essays by such thinkers as Richard Rorty Terry Eagleton and Stanley Fish and in many new essays never published before The contributors to this book explore the nexus of antifoundationalism and rhetoric critique that nexus and suggest a number of pedagogical and theoretical alternatives The editors place these statements into a context that is both critical and evaluative and they provide for voices that dissent from the antifoundational perspective and that connect specific practical pedagogies to the broader philosophical statements For those with an interest in rhetoric philosophy comparative literature or the teaching of composition this book sets forth a wealth of thought provoking ideas I have nothing but praise for this work a masterful treatment of the question What positive intellectual projects are possible within a world that radically questions the existence of philosophical foundations Steven Mailloux University of California Irvine Contrastive Rhetoric and Teaching English Composition Skills Łukasz Salski, Jan Majer, Uniwersytet Łódzki. Wydział Filologiczny, 2007 Mutuality in the Rhetoric and Composition Classroom David Wallace, Helen Rothschild Ewald, 2000-09-15 In Mutuality in the Rhetoric and Composition Classroom David L Wallace and Helen Rothschild Ewald point out the centrality of rhetoric in the academy asserting the intimate connection between language and knowledge making They also stress the need for a change in the roles of teachers and students in today s classroom Their goal is mutuality a sharing of authority among teachers and students in the classroom that would allow everyone an equal voice in the communication of ideas Arguing that the impetus to empower students by engaging them in liberatory and emancipatory pedagogies is simply not enough Wallace and Ewald seek to help readers identify theorize and work through problems faced by teachers who already value alternative approaches but who are struggling to implement them in the classroom It is not the teacher s job merely to convey a received body of knowledge nor is knowledge a prepackaged commodity to be delivered by the teacher It is constituted in the classroom through the dialogic interaction between teachers and students alike Wallace and Ewald see mutuality as potentially transformative but they do not believe that the nature or that transformation can be designated in advance Rather it is located in the interaction between teachers and students Wallace and Ewald look at how the transformative notion of mutuality can be effected in classrooms in three important ways reconstituting classroom speech genres redesigning the architecture of rhetoric and writing courses and valuing students interpretive agency in classroom discourse Mutuality in alternative pedagogy they assert is neither a single approach nor a specific set of valued practices it is a continuous collaboration between teachers and students Contrastive Rhetoric Robert D. Kaplan, 1978 Contrastive Rhetoric and the Analysis of Written Discourse Across Cultures Roger J. Davies, 2017-01-09 In applied linguistic circles there has been a major reappraisal of the theory of linguistic relativity in the last few decades a renaissance in contrastive analysis research especially at the level of discourse and a gradual merging of the fields of text linguistics and discourse analysis In the light of these developments a new conceptual framework for defining contrastive rhetoric needs to be established Recent shifts in discourse linguistics from an early emphasis on grammatical and other forms used to mark cohesive relationships between sentences to the inclusion of larger units of social context related to the functional uses of language to the study of whole systems of communication within cultures and societies have been roughly paralleled by developments in contrastive rhetoric which has also moved beyond the level of text to include both the situational and cultural contexts of writing

Contrastive rhetoric can thus be best defined today not as the alienated hybrid offspring of text linguistics but more accurately as the emerging field of contrastive written discourse analysis
