Contributions To Aegean Archaeology Studies In Honor Of William A Mcdonald:

Contributions to Aegean Archaeology Nancy C. Wilkie, William D. E. Coulson, 1985 Maritime Archaeology Lawrence E. Babits, Hans Van Tilburg, 2013-11-11 This volume initiates a new series of books on maritime or underwater archaeology and as the editor of the series I welcome its appearance with great excitement It is appropriate that the first book of the series is a collection of articles intended for graduate or undergraduate courses in underwater archaeology since the growth in academic opportunities for students is an important sign of the vitality of this subdiscipline The layman will enjoy the book as well Academic and public interest in shipwrecks and other submerged archaeological sites is indicated by a number of factors Every year there are 80 to 90 research papers presented at the Society for Historical Archaeology's Conference on Historical and Underwater Archaeology and the Proceedings are published Public interest is shown by extensive press coverage of shipwreck investigations One of the most important advances in recent years has been the passage of the Abandoned Shipwreck Act of 1987 for the first time providing national level law concerning underwater archaeological sites The legislation has withstood a number of legal challenges by commercial treasure salvors a very hopeful sign for the long term preservation of this nonrenewable type of cultural resource The underwater archaeological discoveries of 1995 were particularly noteworthy The Texas Historical Commission discovered the Belle one of La Salle's ships and the CSS Hunley was found by a joint project of South Carolina and a private nonprofit organization called NUMA Towards a Social Bioarchaeology of the Mycenaean Period Ioanna Moutafi, 2021-06-09 This book investigates the complex relationship between funerary treatment and wider social dynamics through a contextual analysis of human skeletal remains and associated mortuary data from Voudeni an important Mycenaean 1450-1050 BC chamber tomb cemetery in Achaea Greece Voudeni is one of the most significant sites of Achaea thoroughly investigated under the direction of the Honorary General Director of Antiquities Dr Lazaros Kolonas Over 60 chamber tombs spanning the entire Late Helladic III period have been excavated yielding an unprecedented wealth of biocultural information This study explores the post mortem treatment of the body in the Voudeni cemetery through a novel interpretive approach that transcends unproductive cross disciplinary divisions This biosocial approach integrates traditional archaeology current reflections in mortuary archaeological theory and cutting edge bioarchaeological methods primarily focused on funerary taphonomy and archaeoethnology of commingled skeletal assemblages The author proposes that the most effective route to explore the social dimensions of mortuary data is through an emic understanding of historically situated actions and experiences both of the living actors the mourners and of the dead themselves Human skeletal remains are used as the primary strand of evidence both as the object of the acts of the living and the subject of their own lived experiences Most importantly this study aspires to show how reconciliation between abstract theoretical advances and empirical biocultural data may be possible providing the most insightful path to a better understanding of the archaeological mortuary record The book provides a thorough background on Mycenaean mortuary research and explores the topic in successive stages a theoretical and methodological framework b detailed taphonomic analysis and osteological results of 20 tombs c multivariate analysis of bio cultural data across socio temporal parameters with special emphasis on the distinction between the palatial LHIIIA B and the transitional post palatial LHIIIC period and d final synthesis addressing questions pertaining to changing social conditions in Achaea and key issues of current Mycenaean mortuary research These include tomb re use form diversity sequence and frequency of mortuary activities mortality profiles differential inclusion visibility and funerary treatment of different groups identities changes in treatment of the dead body reflecting shifts in notions of the self and social relationships The results shed new light on social developments in Mycenaean Achaea showing that the complex interaction between changing social conditions and mortuary practice is often reflected in subtle yet meaningful shifts of emphasis in the post mortem treatment of bodies and bones rather than in blatant radical changes

Principles of Geoarchaeology Michael R. Waters, 1992 Geoarchaeological studies can significantly enhance interpretations of human prehistory by allowing archaeologists to decipher from sediments and soils the effects of earth processes on the evidence of human activity While a number of previous books have provided broad geographic and temporal treatments of geoarchaeology this new volume presents a single author's view intended for North American archaeologists Waters deals with those aspects of geoarchaeology stratigraphy site formation processes and landscape reconstruction most fundamental to archaeology and he focuses on the late Quaternary of North America permitting in depth discussions of the concepts directly applicable to that research Assuming no prior geologic knowledge on the part of the reader Waters provides a background in fundamental geological processes and the basic tools of geoarchaeology He then proceeds to relate specific physical processes microenvironments deposits and landforms associated with riverine desert lake glacial cave coastal and other environments to archaeological site formation location and context This practical volume illustrates the contributions of geoarchaeological investigations and demonstrates the need to make such studies an integral part of archaeological research The text is enhanced by more than a hundred line drawings and photographs

From Minoan Farmers to Roman Traders Άγγελος Χανιώτης, 1999 A collection of sixteen papers focusing on the economic activities of prehistoric Classical Hellenistic and Roman Crete The wide ranging papers discuss the economy of prehistoric Crete social development production and symbolism in the pre Palatial and Palatial periods economic activities and social development in the Classical and Hellenistic periods coinage and minting and relationships with other polities of the Aegean and east Mediterranean

The Archaeomusicology of the Ancient Near East Richard J. Dumbrill, 2005 This volume is a massive leap forward over any previous synthesis of the subject and includes at the very minimum so much information that its academic and scientific value is self evident The freshness and profundity of Dumbrill s approach to the subject exceeds anything attempted before The mythology of ancient Mesopotamia proves readable as tonal allegory when its numerology is decoded as tuning theory By the third millennium BC both pentatonic and heptatonic tunings were quantified throughout the entire 12 tone gamut Richard Dumbrill has documented the massive empirical experience with strings and pipes that makes this early musicalization of the universe believable The volume consists in 4 parts with foreword by Prof Ernest McClain The first is about the decipherment translation and interpretation of the few theoretical cuneiform texts dating from the Old Babylonian period about 2000 BC to Neo Assyrian up to the mid first millennium BC Dumbrill undertakes comparative analyses and criticism of various interpretations having preceded his own and introduces new material The second part is about the Hurrian hymns the earliest music ever written circa 1400 BC and are produced in their integrality Attempts to the interpretation of Hymn H 6 are compared and followed by Dumbrill s methodology and interpretation Each fragment of the collection is analyzed separately The part concludes with statistical analyses attempting at the reconstruction of some Hurrian rules of composition The third part consists in the organology with relevant philology and is the largest collection of the Mesopotamian instrumentarium The last part is a unique lexicon of all known Mesopotamian terminology with quotation of texts in which the philology appears The book had been previously published under the title of The Musicology and Organology of the Ancient Near East and now appears under its new title

The Archaeology of Mediterranean Prehistory Emma Blake, A. Bernard Knapp, 2008-04-15 This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the archaeology of Mediterranean prehistory and an essential reference to the most recent research and fieldwork Only book available to offer general coverage of Mediterranean prehistory Written by 14 of the leading archaeologists in the field Spans the Neolithic through the Iron Age and draws from all the major regions of the Mediterranean s coast and islands Presents the central debates in Mediterranean prehistory trade and interaction rural economies ritual social structure gender monumentality insularity archaeometallurgy and the metals trade stone technologies settlement and maritime traffic as well as contemporary legacies of the region's prehistoric past Structure of text is pedagogically driven Engages diverse theoretical approaches so students will see the benefits of multivocality Cultural Identity in Minoan Crete Ellen Adams, 2017-09-07 A comprehensive account of the Palaces control networks and spatial dynamics of Neopalatial Crete the floruit of the Minoan civilization Archaeodiet in the Greek World Sherry C. Fox, Anastasia Papathanasiou, Michael P. Richards, 2015-12-31 The analysis of stable isotope ratios of carbon and nitrogen in bone collagen provides a powerful tool for reconstructing past diets since it provides the only direct evidence of the foods that were actually consumed The chapters that comprise this volume describe the application of this methodology to the archaeology of Greece a country whose archaeobotanical remains have been isotopically studied more extensively than any other place in the world The archaeological issues that can be addressed using stable isotope methods include the importance of fishing the possible early introduction of millet the nature of childrearing including weaning age and weaning foods temporal shifts in protein consumption differential access to certain foods associated with social status as well as gender and age and cultural differences in dietary patterns Additionally diet is strongly correlated with health or stress markers in the teeth and bones Knowing what people ate has vital implications for our understanding of past environments and economies subsistence strategies and nutrition Oxford Symposium on Food & Cookery, 1989 Harlan Walker, 1990 A study of staples such as potato rice root vegetables in early modern England wheat and other cereals The Origins And Spread Of Agriculture And Pastoralism In Eurasia David R. Harris, 2024-11-01 As the first book to examine the origins and spread of agriculture and pastoralism in Europe and Asia as a whole this major contribution should be essential reading for archaeologists anthropologists biologists and geographers Adopting a novel approach to the subject the authors examine it first in terms of seven different disciplinary perspectives social ecological genetic linguistic biomolecular epidemiological and geographical Then 20 case studies are presented which are based primarily on archaeological and biological evidence and which relate to three major regions Southwest Asia Europe and Central Asia to the Pacific The book concludes with an overview of Eurasia as a whole The transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture had revolutionary consequences for human society It led to the emergence of urban civilizations and ultimately to humanity's almost complete dependence on relatively few domesticated animals and plants The subject has been much studied but the results have tended to be interpreted largely in terms of local cultural sequences with insufficient comparison made with evidence from other areas In contrast this book provides a continental scale framework with its scope extended to pastoralism because in Eurasia both the raising of livestock and the cultivation of crops were integral components of the agricultural revolution from its inception some 10 000 years ago Comprehensive and authoritative The Origins and Spread of Agriculture and Pastoralism in Eurasia should appeal strongly to the wide readership of students and specialists concerned with the prehistoric antecedents of modern civilization The lake-dwelling phenomenon Katia F.

The Cambridge Economic History of the Greco-Roman World Walter Scheidel, Ian Morris, Richard P. Saller, 2007-11-29 In this the first comprehensive survey of the economies of classical antiquity twenty eight chapters summarise the current state of scholarship in their specialised fields and sketch new directions for research They reflect a new interest in economic growth in antiquity and develop new methods for measuring economic development often combining textual and archaeological data that have previously been treated separately

The Mycenaean Settlement on Tsoungiza Hill Mary K. Dabney, James C. Wright, 2020-12-04 A hill dominating the Nemea Valley Tsoungiza is located only 10 kilometers northwest of the citadel of Mycenae Excavations there have uncovered the remains of a Late Helladic settlement that stood at its southern end This volume presents the results of these investigations with an unprecedented study of a small settlement s economy and society in the Mycenaean period Through an interdisciplinary approach that incorporates a wide variety of general and specialist studies the authors demonstrate how agricultural production craft activities and ceremonial practices integrated the inhabitants of Tsoungiza into a regional exchange system within the Bronze Age world The volume includes contributions by P Acheson S E Allen K M Forste P Halstead S M A Hoffmann A Karabatsoli K Kaza Papageorgiou B Lis R Mersereau H Mommsen J B Rutter T Theodoropoulou and J E Tomlinson

Interactions between Animals and Humans in Graeco-Roman Antiquity Thorsten Fögen, Edmund V. Thomas, 2017-08-21 The seventeen contributions to this volume written by leading experts show that animals and humans in Graeco Roman antiquity are interconnected on a variety of different levels and that their encounters and interactions often result from their belonging to the same structures networks and communities or at least from finding themselves together in a certain setting context or environment wittingly or unwittingly Papers explore the concrete categories of interaction between animals and humans that can be identified in what contexts they occur and what types of evidence can be productively used to examine the concept of interactions Articles in this volume take into account literary visual and other types of evidence A comprehensive research bibliography is also provided

The Oxford Handbook of Engineering and Technology in the Classical World John Peter Oleson, 2008 Nearly every aspect of daily life in the Mediterranean world and Europe during the florescence of the Greek and Roman cultures is relevant to engineering and technology This text highlights the accomplishments of the ancient societies the research problems and stimulates further progress in the history of ancient technology

Contesting Ethnoarchaeologies Arkadiusz Marciniak, Nurcan Yalman, 2013-11-30 Contesting Ethnoarchaeologies provides a systematic overview of major non American traditions of ethnoarchaeology with a particular focus on Europe and Asia It explores all stages of their research agenda These ethnoarchaeologies were embedded in theoretical traditions of local archaeologies Moreover ethnoarchaeological studies carried out in these different settings targeted a wide range of different issues and addressed numerous questions of covering all sorts of different issues Consequently achieved results and data have been largely idiosyncratic and hardly compatible Hence this volume aims not only to conceptualize characteristics of these diverse ethnoarchaeologies but more importantly put them in a broader context of the development of archaeology in different parts of Europe and Asia The contributors to the volume express their own diverse views on the cognitive and interpretative value of ethnoarchaeology for studying prehistoric past based on particular cases of experience and research As such the volume is not only a valuable overview of numerous ethnoarchaeological practices in different parts of the region but also a significant contribution to the history of archaeological thought This perspective shall make the book of wider applicability and make possible to put up ethnoarchaeology as an immanent and important element of archaeological theory

An Early Destruction in the Mycenaean Palace at Knossos Jan Driessen,1990 Autopsy in Athens Margaret M. Miles,2015-07-24 This is an exciting time to study in Athens The rescue excavations of recent years conducted during construction of the Metro system and in preparation for the 2004 Olympics Games combined with major restoration projects and a new enthusiasm for fresh examination of old material using new techniques and applications brings new perspectives and answers on many aspects of the ancient city of Athens and life politics and religion in Attica The 15 papers presented here contribute new findings that result from intensive firsthand examinations of the archaeological and epigraphical evidence They illustrate how much may be gained by reexamining material from older excavations and from the methodological shift from documenting information to closer analysis and larger historical reflection They offer a variety of perspectives on a range of issues the ambiance of the ancient city for passersby filled with roadside shrines techniques of architectural construction and sculpting religious expression in Athens including cults of Asklepios and Serapis the precise procedures for Greek sacrifice how the borders of Attica were defined over time and details of its road system In presenting this volume the contributors are continuing in a long tradition of autopsy in the sense of personal observation in Athens that began even in the Hellenistic period and has continued through the writings of centuries of travelers and academics to the present day

Soil Science and Archaeology INSTAP Academic Press,2002-12-31 In this book Michael Morris presents a detailed study of the prehistoric landscape in three regions of Crete He examines the development stability and physio chemical composition of selected soils near three archaeological sites Karphi a Late Minoan IIIC refuge site Chrysokamino a Final Neolithic to Late Minoan IIIB farmhouse Vronda and Kastro near Kavousi two Late Minoan IIIC to Geometric sites Morris offers conclusions on the history of the Cretan landscape and its formation processes and how those processes contribute to our understanding of the human use of the landscape The book will interest anyone involved with the archaeology of Minoan Crete as well as those who study the pedological history of
