History of the Faculty of Arts at the University of Adelaide 1876-2012 Nick Harvey,Jean Fornasiero,Greg McCarthy,Clem Macintyre,Carl Crossin,2012 The Bachelor of Arts BA was the first recognised degree at the University of Adelaide Although informal classes for some subjects were held at the University between 1873 and 1875 the first official University lecture was a Latin lecture at 10 am on Monday 28 March 1876 This was followed by lectures in Greek English and Mental Philosophy By 1878 the first BA student Thomas Ainslie Caterer completed his studies for the BA degree and in 1879 became the first graduate of the University of Adelaide Even though the BA was the first degree it was not until eight years later in 1887 that the Faculty of Arts was inaugurated after the Faculty of Law in 1884 a Board of Studies in Music in 1885 and the Faculty of Medicine in 1885 Following the creation of a separate science degree in 1882 many scientific subjects were removed from the BA For the next five years the subjects were Latin Greek Mathematics Natural Philosophy Logic English History and Comparative Philology Later other subjects such as French German and Political Economy were added toward the end of the nineteenth century In 1897 the Elder Conservatorium of Music was created as the first music school of its type in Australia although at that time it was not part of the Faculty of Arts In the first 50 years of the Universitys existence less than ten BA students graduated each year At the start of the 21st century this figure had climbed to over 300 BA graduates per year but what is interesting is that by 2010 the number of BA graduates was equalled by the number of graduates from separate named degrees within the Faculty plus 70 Music graduates In addition during the first decade of the twenty first century there were over 60 coursework postgraduates plus more than 40 research postgraduates graduating each year      Historical Research on Social Mobility Hartmut Kaelble, 2025-08-01 First published in English in 1981 Historical Research on Social Mobility treats a central area of social history the history of social mobility It provides a unique guide to the wide range of research in this area that is carried out by many specialists of varying disciplines within social science Concentrating on Western Europe and the USA during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the book considers four topics changes in the occupational and social opportunities of the working class the inequality of educational opportunity shifts in the recruitment of business elites and changes in the social origins of the political elites Illustrating concrete results of research into the history of social mobility the volume also points to both the advances and shortcomings in this relatively new area Incorporating an extensive bibliography the book provides an invaluable stimulus for further reading and investigation

Historical Studies in Information Science Trudi Bellardo Hahn, Michael Keeble Buckland, 1998 The 25 contributions to this volume largely reprinted from recent special issues of three information science journals devoted to historical topics address an array of topics including Paul Otlet and his successors techniques tools and systems organizations and individuals theoretical issues and literature Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      IRS Service ,1990      History and Precedent in Environmental Design Anatol Rapoport, 2013-06-29 This book is about a new and different way of approaching and studying the history of the built environment and the use of historical precedents in design However although what I am proposing is new for what is currently called architectural history both my approach and even my conclusions are not that new in other fields as I discovered when I attempted to find supporting evidence In fact of all the disciplines dealing with various aspects of the study of the past architectural history seems to have changed least in the ways I am advocating There is currently a revival of interest in the history of architecture and urban form a similar interest applies to theory vernacular design and culture environment relations After years of neglect the study of history and the use of historical precedent are again becoming important However that interest has not led to new approaches to the subject nor have its bases been examined This I try to do In so doing I discuss a more rigorous and I would argue a more valid way of looking at historical data and hence of using such data in a theory of the built environment and as precedent in environmental design Underlying this is my view of Environment Behavior Studies CEBS as an emerging theory rather than as data to help design based on current theory Although this will be the subject of another book a summary statement of this position may be useful

Public History Thomas Cauvin, 2016-05-20 Public History A Textbook of Practice is a guide to the many challenges historians face while teaching learning and practicing public history Historians can play a dynamic and essential role in contributing to public understanding of the past and those who work in historic preservation in museums and archives in government agencies as consultants as oral historians or who manage crowdsourcing projects need very specific skills This book links theory and practice and provides students and practitioners with the tools to do public history in a wide range of settings The text engages throughout with key issues such as public participation digital tools and media and the internationalization of public history Part One focuses on public history sources and offers an overview of the creation collection management and preservation of public history materials archives material culture oral materials or digital sources Chapters cover sites and institutions such as archival repositories and museums historic buildings and structures and different practices such as collection management preservation archives objects sounds moving images buildings sites and landscape oral history and genealogy Part Two deals with the different ways in which public historians can produce historical narratives through different media including exhibitions film writing and digital tools The last part explores the challenges and ethical issues that public historians will encounter when working with different communities and institutions Either in public history methods courses or as a resource for practicing public historians this book lays the groundwork for making meaningful connections between historical sources and popular audiences

Teaching Public History Julia Brock, Evan Faulkenbury, 2023-03-15 The field of public history is growing as college and university history departments seek to recruit and retain students by emphasizing how studying the past can sharpen their skills and broaden their career options But faculty have often sought to increase course offerings without knowing exactly what the teaching and practice of public history entails Public historians have debated the meanings of public history since the 1970s but as more students take public history courses and more scholars are tasked with teaching these classes the lack of pedagogical literature specific to the field has been challenging This book addresses the need for a practical guide to teaching public history now In eleven essays by esteemed public historians teaching at colleges and universities across the United States this volume details class meetings student interactions field trips group projects grading and the larger aims of a course Each essay contains wisdom and experience for how to teach a public history course and why such classes are vital for our students and communities Contributors include Thomas Cauvin Kristen Baldwin Deathridge Jennifer Dickey Torren Gatson Abigail Gautreau Romeo Guzm n Jim McGrath Patricia Mooney Melvin Lindsey Passenger Wieck and Rebecca S Wingo Historical Information Science Lawrence J. McCrank, 2001 Here is an extensive review and bibliographic essay backed by 5 000 citations about developments in information technology since the advent of personal computing and the convergence of the disciplines Its focus is on the access preservation and analysis of historical information primarily in electronic form and the relationships between new methodology and instructional media technique and research trends in library special collections digital libraries electronic and data archives and museums APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service ,

Handbook of Administrative History Jos Raadschelders, 2017-07-05 Public administration is commonly assumed to be a young discipline rooted in law and political science with little history of its own Likewise teaching and scholarship in this field is often career oriented and geared either toward the search for immediately usable knowledge or guidelines and prescriptions for the future Although most administrative scientists would acknowledge that their field has a history their time horizon is limited to the recent past Raadschelders demonstrates that public administration has in fact a long standing tradition both in practice and in writing administration has been an issue ever since human beings recognized the need to organize themselves in order to organize the environment in which they lived This history in turn underlines the need for administrators to be aware of the importance and contemporary impact of past decisions and old traditions In seeking to go beyond the usual problem solving and future oriented studies of public administration this volume adds greatly to the cognitive richness of this field of research Indeed the search for theoretical generalizations will profit from an approach that unravels long term trends in the development of administration and government Raadschelders approaches public administration history from a dual perspective as trained historian and professor of public administration The volume is appropriately called a a handbook in view of its methodical listing of the literature on administrative history together with summaries of numerous authors principal theories The second chapter is an essay on sources in the field including an extended bibliography These parts of the book alone make it useful to scholars in the field Raadschelders is helpful in other ways as well The third and fourth chapters offer a highly sophisticated discussion of methodological problems encountered in writing administrative history including the issue of perceiving stage Learning from Other Countries: The

Cross-National Dimension in Urban Policy Making I. Masser, Mrs Bernadette Williams, R. Williams, 2005-08-11 Looking at the lessons we can learn from international research in urban and regional planning this book explores the challenges in using cross country studies The contributors address how to approach researching planning in other countries and how to then diffuse the planning information Key topics include comparable urban data and how to use it working with international agencies methodological issues in cross country research translating theory into practice Case studies include researching new towns in France and Poland and problems doing empirical work in Eastern Europe Carolina's Historical Landscapes Linda France Stine, 1997 Featuring contributions by leading scholars this book goes beyond conventional archaeological studies by placing the description and interpretation of specific sites in the wider context of the landscape that connects them to one another
