Apportionment Cases:

Supreme Court Cases on Political Representation, 1787-2001 Christopher A. Anzalone, 2016-07-08 This book includes every Supreme Court case relevant to elections and political representation from the Court's beginnings to 2001 including the 2001 decision in Cook v Gralike that limited citizens' rights to instruct Federal representatives. It is a primary document reference book organized topically in sixteen chapters. Every case is included either as a full edited opinion, extensive excerpts of the opinion, or a detailed description of the case. As with the companion volume on gender and sexual equality, using this single volume, a researcher can see how American legal history on the topic played out in its entirety. A Table of Cases, relevant Federal statutes, and an extensive bibliography further enhance the volume's usefulness. Reports of All the Cases Decided by All the Superior Courts Relating to Magistrates, Municipal, and Parochial Law ... Great Britain. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 1981 Journal of the Senate, Legislature of the State of California California. Legislature. Senate, 1942 The Myth of Southern Exceptionalism Matthew D. Lassiter, Joseph Crespino, 2009-11-19 More than one third of the population of the United States now lives in the South a region where politics race relations and the economy have changed dramatically since World War II Yet historians and journalists continue to disagree over whether the modern South is dominating deviating from or converging with the rest of the nation Has the time come to declare the end of southern history And how do the stories of American history change if the South is no longer seen as a region apart as the conservative counterpoint to a liberal national ideal The Myth of Southern Exceptionalism challenges the idea of southern distinctiveness in order to offer a new way of thinking about modern American history For too long the belief in an exceptional South has encouraged distortions and generalizations about the nation's otherwise liberal traditions especially by compartmentalizing themes of racism segregation and political conservatism in one section of the country This volume dismantles popular binaries of de facto versus de jure segregation red state conservatism versus blue state liberalism the South versus the North to rewrite the history of region and nation alike Matthew Lassiter and Joseph Crespino present thirteen essays framed by their provocative introduction that reinterpret major topics such as the civil rights movement in the South and the North the relationship between conservative backlash and liberal reform throughout the country the rise of the Religious Right as a national phenomenon the emergence of the metropolitan Sunbelt and increasing suburban diversity in a multiracial New South By writing American history across regional borders this volume spends as much time outside as inside the traditional boundaries of the South moving from Mississippi to New York City from Southern California to South Carolina from Mexico to Atlanta from Hollywood to the Newport Folk Festival and from the Pentagon to the Attica prison rebellion
