This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics. Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin Elizabeth Ammons, 2007. General for the Series The Casebooks in Criticism introduce readers to the essential criticism on landmark works of literature and film. For each volume a distinguished scholar who is an authority on the text has collected the most elucidating and distinctive scholarly essays on that work and added key supporting materials. Each volume includes a substantial introduction which considers the key features of the work, describes its publication history and contextualizes its cultural import and contemporary reputation while also surveying the major approaches which have informed the work's critical history. A condensed bibliography offers suggestions for further reading. The compact volumes provide a critical survey and suggest provocative ways to engage with their texts. They are ideally suited to those interested in developing a deeper understanding of a work's history and significance. Specific for this book: Most of the best criticism on Stowe's landmark novel is fairly recent. Until the combined impact of the civil rights and women's movements changed the focus of the academic curriculum, Uncle Tom's Cabin seldom appeared in classrooms or as the subject of published scholarship. However, from the mid 1970 forward the book has been widely written about and taught. Today Uncle Tom's Cabin is a stable important part of the nineteenth-century American literature canon and has generated a rich body of new critical work. This casebook collects the best of the new scholarship as well as the most influential older essays. Included in this volume are letters by Harriet Beecher Stowe and articles by James Baldwin, Leslie Fiedler, Jane Tompkins, Gillian Brown, Robert Stepto and Elizabeth Ammons. World Literature Today, 2002. Uncle Tom's Cabin as Visual Culture Jo-Ann Morgan, 2007. Examines the artwork of Hammatt Billings, George Cruikshank, Winslow Homer, Eastman Johnson, Henry Ossawa Tanner and Thomas Satterwhite Noble to show how as Uncle Tom's Cabin gained popularity, visual strategies were used to coax the subversive potential of Stowe's work back within accepted boundaries that reinforced social hierarchies. Provided by publisher. Negotiating Copyright Martin T. Buinicki, 2014-02-04. This book examines how debates over copyright law in the United States during the nineteenth century, particularly over the lack of an international copyright law intersected with the business practices and political and artistic beliefs of American authors. These debates shaped a discourse of literary property rights that forced authors to negotiate their copyrights not only with their publishers but with their readers as well. The author argues that the act of taking out a copyright was more than a mere legal mechanism marking a transition from amateur to professional or artist to businessperson. Taking out a copyright had a profound impact on how audiences viewed authors, how authors perceived their profession and how they represented individual rights and property ownership within their texts. The book is unique in the scope of its research, tracking developments from the 1820s through the 1890s and in the way it approaches the work and careers of well-known authors. The author employs research from the American Antiquarian Society, the Harriet Beecher Stowe Center and the Government and Special Collections at the University of Iowa.
