Religions Benjamin Fleming, Richard Mann, 2014-03-26 Traditionally research on the history of Asian religions has been marked by a bias for literary evidence privileging canonical texts penned in classical languages Not only has a focus on literary evidence shaped the dominant narratives about the religious histories of Asia in both scholarship and popular culture but it has contributed to the tendency to study different religious traditions in relative isolation from one another Today moreover historical work is often based on modern textual editions and increasingly on electronic databases What may be lost in the process is the visceral sense of the text as artifact as a material object that formed part of a broader material culture in which the boundaries between religious traditions were sometimes more fluid than canonical literature might suggest This volume brings together specialists in a variety of Asian cultures to discuss the methodological challenges involved in integrating material evidence for the reconstruction of the religious histories of South Southeast Central and East Asia By means of specific test cases the volume explores the importance of considering material and literary evidence in concert What untold stories do these sources help us to recover How might they push us to reevaluate historical narratives traditionally told from literary sources By addressing these questions from the perspectives of different subfields and religious traditions contributors map out the challenges involved in interpreting different types of data assessing the problems of interpretation distinct to specific types of material evidence e g coins temple art manuscripts donative

inscriptions and considering the issues raised by the different patterns in the preservation of such evidence in different locales Special attention is paid to newly discovered and neglected sources to our evidence for trade migration and inter regional cultural exchange and to geographical locales that served as contact zones connecting cultures In addition the chapters in this volume represent the rich range of religious traditions across Asia including Hinduism Buddhism Taoism Shinto and Chinese religions as well as Islam and eastern Christianities Multidisciplinary Approach in Research Area (Volume-2) Chief Editor- Biplab Auddya, Editor- Dr Monika Sharma, Dr. Feroj Alam, Dr Manjunatha C, Dr Sudipta Sil, Dr. Sridevi J, Prof. Subrahmanya Bhat, 2023-12-28 Fingerprinting the Iron Age: Approaches to identity in the European Iron Age Cătălin Nicolae Popa, Simon Stoddart, 2014-09-30 Archaeology has long dealt with issues of identity and especially with ethnicity with modern approaches emphasising dynamic and fluid social construction The archaeology of the Iron Age in particular has engendered much debate on the topic of ethnicity fuelled by the first availability of written sources alongside the archaeological evidence which has led many researchers to associate the features they excavate with populations named by Greek or Latin writers Some archaeological traditions have had their entire structure built around notions of ethnicity around the relationships existing between large groups of people conceived together as forming unitary ethnic units On the other hand partly influenced by anthropological studies other scholars have written forcefully against Iron Age ethnic constructions such as the Celts The 24 contributions to this volume focus on the south east Europe where the Iron Age has until recently been populated with numerous ethnic groups with which specific material culture forms have been associated The first section is devoted to the core geographical area of south east Europe Bulgaria Croatia Romania Serbia and Slovenia as well as Albania and the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia The following three sections allow comparison with regions further to the west and the south west with contributions on central and western Europe the British Isles and the Italian peninsula The volume concludes with four papers which provide more synthetic statements that cut across geographical boundaries the final contributions bringing together some of the key themes of the volume The wide array of approaches to identity presented here reflects the continuing debate on how to integrate material culture protohistoric evidence largely classical authors looking in on first millennium BC societies and the impact of recent nationalistic agendas

Manual of Ethnobotany, 2nd Revised Ed. S.K. Jain, 2010-03-01 The present book comprises of two sections A and B Section A has the text of the lectures during the Training Course in Ethnobotany and the section B has some of the material and exercise handled by the trainees during the Workshop and in practical classes The sequence of the lectures has been so arranged as to gradually and step by step introduce the scope methodology and applications of the subject along with the subjects of preparation of scientific papers and research projects This book will not only popularize the important subject of Ethnobotany but will also provide basic instructions for person freshly interested or inducted into this discipline Studies in Byzantine, Islamic and Near Eastern Silk Weaving Anna Muthesius, 2006-12-31 This volume complements Anna

Muthesius two earlier ground breaking volumes in the field of silk as material culture Studies in Byzantine and Islamic Silk Weaving and Studies in Silk in Byzantium The publication highlights the fact that similar patterns of selection were at work in the acquisition of silks by secular and ecclesiastical bodies These patterns of selection were governed not only by fashions of the time but by access to international trade routes leading to the Great Silk Road linking the Near East to the Mediterranean The surviving silks prove that Mediterranean Near Eastern silk trade flourished continuously and for centuries prior to the thirteenth century contrary to what has previously widely been assumed It also highlights the crucial role of the Caucasian silk routes in accessing the Great Silk Road in the early period and the contribution of Georgian and Armenian silk weaving after the thirteenth century Above all the book demonstrates how important it is to assess the impact of Near Eastern silk manufacture and distribution in relation to Byzantine and Islamic Mediterranean silk production and trade

The Oxford Handbook of Material Culture Studies Dan Hicks, Mary C. Beaudry, 2010-09-02 Written by an international team of experts the Handbook makes accessible a full range of theoretical and applied approaches to the study of material culture and the place of materiality in social theory presenting current thinking about material culture from the fields of archaeology anthropology geography and science and technology studies

Ways of Residing in Transformation Sten Gromark, Mervi Ilmonen, Katrin Paadam, Eli Støa, 2017-05-15 Profound transformations in residential practices are emerging in Europe as well as throughout the urban world They can be observed in the unfolding diversity of residential architecture and spatially restructured cities The complexity of urban and societal processes behind these changes requires new research approaches in order to fully grasp the significant changes in citizens lifestyles their residential preferences capacities and future opportunities for implementing resilient residential practices The international case studies in this book examine why ways of residing have changed as well as the meaning and the significance of the social economic political cultural and symbolic contexts The volume brings together an interdisciplinary range of perspectives to reflect specifically upon the dynamic exchange between evolving ways of residing and professional practices in the fields of architecture and design planning policy making facilities management property and market In doing so it provides a resourceful basis for further inquiries seeking an understanding of ways of residing in transformation as a reflection of diversifying residential cultures This book will offer insights of interest to academics policy makers and professionals as well as students of urban studies sociology architecture housing planning business and economics engineering and facilities management

Studying Peoples in the People's Democracies II Vintila Mihailescu, Ilia Iliev, Slobodan Naumovic, 2008 Bulgaria and Serbia during socialism are outlined from many different points of view in this volume Beyond local and personal trajectories the authors illuminate more general and comparative questions Was there anything like a socialist anthropology common to all three countries Did Soviet and or Marxist influences in the discipline and in society in general penetrate so deeply as to form an unavoidable common denominator of anthropological practice The answers turn out to be complex and subtle While unifying ideological forces were very strong in the 1950s diversity increased thereafter Anthropology was entangled with national ideology in all three countries but the evidence nonetheless calls for polyphonic interpretations The Routledge

Handbook of Bioarchaeology in Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands Marc Oxenham, Hallie Buckley, 2015-11-19 In recent years the bioarchaeology of Southeast Asia and the Pacific islands has seen enormous progress This new and exciting research is synthesised contextualised and expanded upon in The Routledge Handbook of Bioarchaeology in Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands The volume is divided into two broad sections one dealing with mainland and island Southeast Asia and a second section dealing with the Pacific islands A multi scalar approach is employed to the bio social dimensions of Southeast Asia and the Pacific islands with contributions alternating between region and or site specific scales of operation to the individual or personal scale The more personal level of osteobiographies enriches the understanding of the lived experience in past communities Including a number of contributions from sub disciplinary approaches tangential to bioarchaeology the book provides a broad theoretical and methodological approach Providing new information on the globally relevant topics of farming population mobility subsistence and health no other volume provides such a range of coverage on these important themes The Oxford Handbook of Ancient Anatolia Sharon R. Steadman, Gregory McMahon, 2011-09-15 This title provides comprehensive overviews on archaeological philological linguistic and historical issues at the forefront of Anatolian scholarship in the 21st century Current Approaches to Tells in the Prehistoric Old World Antonio Blanco-González, Tobias L. Kienlin, 2020-11-30 Deeply stratified settlements are a distinctive site type featuring prominently in diverse later prehistoric landscapes of the Old World Their massive materiality has attracted the curiosity of lay people and archaeologists alike Nowadays a wide variety of archaeological projects are tracking the lifestyles and social practices that led to the building up of such superimposed artificial hills However prehistoric tell dwelling communities are too often approached from narrow local perspectives or discussed within strict time and culture specific debates There is a great potential to learn from such ubiquitous archaeological manifestations as the physical outcome of cross cutting dynamics and comparable underlying forces irrespective of time and space This volume tackles tells and tell like sites as a transversal phenomenon whose commonalities and divergences are poorly understood yet may benefit from cross cultural comparison Thus the book intends to assemble a representative range of ongoing theory and science based fieldwork projects targeting this kind of sites With the aim of encompassing a variety of social and material dynamics the volume s scope is diachronic from the Earliest Neolithic up to the Iron Age and covers a very large region from Iberia in Western Europe to Syria in the Middle East The core of the volume comprises a selection of the most remarkable contributions to the session with a similar title celebrated in the European Association of Archaeologists Annual Meeting held at Barcelona in 2018 In addition the book includes invited chapters to round out underrepresented areas and periods in the EAA session with relevant research programmes in the Old World To accomplish such a cross cultural course the book takes a case based approach with contributions disparate both in their theoretical foundations from household archaeology social agency and formation theory and their research strategies including geophysical survey microarchaeology and high resolution excavation and dating British and Irish Archaeology, 1994 Key Notions for Pragmatics Jef Verschueren, Jan-Ola

Östman, 2009-06-25 The ten volumes of Handbook of Pragmatics Highlights focus on the most salient topics in the field of pragmatics thus dividing its wide interdisciplinary spectrum in a transparent and manageable way While the other volumes select specific philosophical cognitive grammatical social cultural variational interactional or discursive angles this first volume reviews basic notions that pervade the pragmatic literature such as deixis implicitness speech acts context and the like It situates the field of pragmatics broadly defined as the cognitive social and cultural science of language use in relation to a general concept of communication and the discipline of semiotics It also touches upon the non verbal aspects of language use and even ventures a comparison with non human forms of communication The introductory chapter moreover explains why a highly diversified field of scholarship such as pragmatics can be regarded as a potentially coherent enterprise

Tales Things Tell Finbarr Barry Flood, Beate Fricke, 2023-12-12 New perspectives on early globalisms from objects and images Tales Things Tell offers new perspectives on histories of connectivity between Africa Asia and Europe in the period before the Mongol conquests of the thirteenth century Reflected in objects and materials whose circulation and reception defined aesthetic economic and technological networks that existed outside established political and sectarian boundaries many of these histories are not documented in the written sources on which historians usually rely Tales Things Tell charts bold new directions in art history making a compelling case for the archival value of mobile artifacts and images in reconstructing the past In this beautifully illustrated book Finbarr Barry Flood and Beate Fricke present six illuminating case studies from the sixth to the thirteenth centuries to show how portable objects mediated the mobility of concepts iconographies and techniques The case studies range from metalwork to stone reliefs manuscript paintings and objects using natural materials such as coconut and rock crystal Whether as booty commodities gifts or souvenirs many of the objects discussed in Tales Things Tell functioned as sources of aesthetic iconographic or technical knowledge in the lands in which they came to rest Remapping the histories of exchange between medieval Islam and Christendom from Europe to the Indian Ocean Tales Things Tell ventures beyond standard narratives drawn from written archival records to demonstrate the value of objects and images as documents of early globalisms

Educational Research: Material Culture and Its Representation Paul Smeyers, Marc Depaepe, 2014-02-10 This collection discusses and illustrates how educational research is affected by the economic institutional and physical contingencies of its time and in our time even increasingly is driven by them It is argued that the antidote to this is however not to aspire to thought itself but instead to do justice to its own rootedness in the material including textuality From an historical point of view such an innovative approach can itself revamp the material scholarly culture and the way it is represented The chapters address a variety of topics such as the cultural heritage of the school desk the significance of images for research into long term educational processes the way iconic signs function and how modes of enquiry relate to the materiality of education Attention is also given to standards for reporting on educational research studies and how these limit the scope and communication and moreover shape researchers to the forms of citation practices as substantially influencing methods and content and to the centrality of conversation not just as the means to an end but as what matters further to representational and to non representational theories for educational research Some examples are drawn from the area of arts based educational research from mathematics education and from the discourse on universities
