are not ready set frameworks for policy analysis but rather that these have to be constructed according to the issues that emerge as policies are conceptualized and implemented to fit local contexts and needs The book pays particular attention to the contexts of policy including the evolving conceptualization of global and local systems of governance knowledge regimes and policy spaces The book is designed for faculty and doctoral students in education who are interested in understanding diverse frameworks for policy analysis and for those in the general public who are interested in the policies we analyze here

Lejano, Wing Shan Kan, 2025-03-19 This Brief provides researchers with an introduction to interpretive approaches for analyzing public policies It introduces several real world policy situations where the lack of an interpretive focus limits the analysis and precludes better policy responses It takes an integrative point of view with an openness to combining the insights from interpretive and positivist approaches in policy analysis noting the ability of the interpretive approach to make sense of data while uncovering the otherwise hidden ideological and normative bases of other types of analyses While not a how to methods book this Brief provides sufficient discussion of different ways to find meaning in texts such as narrative and discourse analysis or cultural ethnographic readings of the social and material artifacts found in a place as well as uncovering meaning from direct engagement with subjects through interviews action research and other strategies The main intent of the book is to convince policy scholars of the usefulness of interpretive thinking which entails answering the questions what does it mean to interpret and what do we gain from interpreting As such this Brief will be of interest to scholars in public policy public administration and political science as well as researchers in applied fields e g environmental studies race and gender studies urban planning sociology engaged in policy analysis
