Approaching Literature in the 21st Century, 2008 A Biocultural Approach to Literary Theory and Interpretation Nancy Easterlin, 2012-05-31 Combining cognitive and evolutionary research with traditional humanist methods Nancy Easterlin demonstrates how a biocultural perspective in theory and criticism opens up new possibilities for literary interpretation Easterlin maintains that the practice of literary interpretation is still of central intellectual and social value Taking an open yet judicious approach she argues however that literary interpretation stands to gain dramatically from a fair minded and creative application of cognitive and evolutionary research This work does just that expounding a biocultural method that charts a middle course between overly reductive approaches to literature and traditionalists who see the sciences as a threat to the humanities Easterlin develops her biocultural method by comparing it to four major subfields within literary studies new historicism ecocriticism cognitive approaches and evolutionary approaches After a thorough review of each subfield she reconsiders them in light of relevant research in cognitive and evolutionary psychology and provides a textual analysis of literary works from the romantic era to the present including William Wordsworth s Simon Lee and the Lucy poems Mary Robinson s Old Barnard Samuel Taylor Coleridge s Dejection An Ode D H Lawrence s The Fox Jean Rhys s Wide Sargasso Sea and Raymond Carver s I Could See the Smallest Things A Biocultural Approach to Literary Theory and Interpretation offers a fresh and reasoned approach to literary studies that at once preserves the central importance that interpretation plays in the humanities and embraces the exciting developments of the cognitive sciences English Language and Literature for the IB Diploma Brad Philpot, 2011-07-14 For students studying the new Language A Language and Literature syllabus for the IB Diploma Written by an experienced practising IB English teacher this new title is an in depth and accessible guide for Standard and Higher Level students of the new Language A Language and Literature syllabus for the IB Diploma This lively well structured coursebook is available in both print and e book formats and includes key concepts in studying language and literature text extracts from World literature in English and in translation international media and language sources a wide variety of activities to build skills materials for exam preparation guidance on assessment Theory of Knowledge links and Extended essay opportunities Teaching Literature in the Online Classroom John Miller, Julie Wilhelm, 2022-10-26 Provides guidance for college instructors teaching literature online Topics include interactivity student engagement and inclusivity along with considerations of hypertext video lectures and other asynchronous and synchronous tools Literary subjects include Shakespeare Chinese novels early American literature Octavia Butler and contemporary American poetry

Directions in Empirical Literary Studies Sonia Zyngier, 2008-01-01 Directions in Empirical Literary Studies is on the cutting edge of empirical studies and is a much needed volume. It both widens the scope of empirical studies and looks at them from an intercultural perspective by bringing together renowned scholars from the fields of philosophy, sociology, psychology, linguistics, and literature, all focusing on how empirical studies have impacted these different areas. Theoretical issues are discussed and solid methods are presented. Some chapters also show the relation between empirical studies and new technology, examining developments in computer science and corpus linguistics. This book takes a global perspective with contributors from many different countries, both senior and junior researchers. Broad in scope and interdisciplinary in nature, it contributes with the state-of-the-art developments in the field. Contemporary Literary Critics NA

NA, 2015-12-25 A reference guide to the work of 115 modern British and American critics. Literary Activities and Attitudes in the Stanisławian Age in Poland (1764-1795) Jan IJ. van der Meer, 2002 This book for the first time links the thoughts of modern Western sociologists of literature with an overall description of the literary activities, views, and attitudes in late 18th century Poland. The author tries to establish whether Poland witnessed the rise of a more complex and autonomous literary field or, as Schmidt calls it, a functionally differentiated literary system in the age of the reign of King Stanisław August Poniatowski, 1764-1795. Children's Literature Barbara Stoodt, 1996 Bringing Systems Thinking to Life Ona Cohn Bregman, Charles M. White, 2011-01-07 In a single volume, Bringing Systems Thinking to Life: Expanding the Horizons for Bowen Family Systems Theory presents the extraordinary diversity and breadth of Bowen theory applications that address human functioning in various relationship systems across a broad spectrum of professions, disciplines, cultures, and nations. Providing three chapters of never before published material by Dr. Bowen, the book also demonstrates the transcendent nature and versatility of Bowen theory-based social assessment and its extension into fields of study and practice far beyond the original psychiatric context in which it was first formulated, including social work, psychology, nursing, education, literary studies, pastoral care, and counseling, sociology, business, and management, leadership studies, distance learning, ecological science, and evolutionary biology. Providing ample evidence that Bowen theory has joined that elite class of theories that have enjoyed broad application to social phenomena while lending credibility to the claim that Bowen theory is one of the previous and current centuries' most significant social behavioral theories. More than a resource manual for Bowen theory enthusiasts, this book helps put a new great theory on the intellectual landscape. Mentalization and Literary Form Elisa Galgut, 2025-09-03 This book examines the ways in which literary form facilitates mentalization and our ability to be aware of our own and others' mental states, showing how we can use this awareness to make sense of our experiences and interactions. Looking at narrative, the sonnet, free indirect speech, and autobiographical memory, Elisa Galgut focuses on the ways in which literary form not only contains difficult emotions but how it shapes and develops these emotional states. She considers how the creative mind gives form to inchoate emotions and structures and processes them in ways that allow us to experience and give name to what was previously unclear and amorphous Looking at the work of canonical figures of English literature such as Shakespeare Milton and Austen Galgut s focus on form rather than content offers the reader a novel way of understanding the ways in which literature engages our emotional lives Assuming no prior knowledge of complex psychoanalytic concepts Mentalization and Literary Form is aimed at academic and graduate students focusing on literary studies and philosophy as well as psychoanalysts interested in Literature
