

An artistic illustration of a desktop pond ecosystem. The background is a light blue water surface with a large, concentric circular ripple in the upper right. A green, feathery plant, possibly a duckweed or similar aquatic plant, floats across the top. In the lower left, a brown, cylindrical object, resembling a tree stump or a piece of driftwood, sits on a sandy bottom. A small green starfish is attached to the side of this object. Two fish, one larger and one smaller, with yellow and purple bodies, are swimming in the water. In the lower right, several red, branching structures, possibly coral or anemones, are visible on the sandy bottom.
