Reading Darwin in Arabic, 1860-1950 Marwa Elshakry, 2014-01-06 In Reading Darwin in Arabic Marwa Elshakry questions current ideas about Islam science and secularism by exploring the ways in which Darwin was read in Arabic from the late 1860s to the mid twentieth century Borrowing from translation and reading studies and weaving together the history of science with intellectual history she explores Darwin s global appeal from the perspective of several generations of Arabic readers and shows how Darwin s writings helped alter the social and epistemological landscape of the Arab learned classes Providing a close textual political and institutional analysis of the tremendous interest in Darwin s ideas and other works on evolution Elshakry shows how in an age of massive regional and international political upheaval these readings were suffused with the anxieties of empire and civilizational decline The politics of evolution infiltrated Arabic discussions of pedagogy progress and the very sense of history They also led to a literary and conceptual transformation of notions of science and religion themselves Darwin thus became a vehicle for discussing scriptural exegesis the conditions of belief and cosmological views more broadly The book also acquaints readers with Muslim and Christian intellectuals bureaucrats and theologians and concludes by exploring Darwin's waning influence on public and intellectual life in the Arab world after World War I Reading Darwin in Arabic is an engaging and powerfully argued reconceptualization of the intellectual and political history of the Middle East Arabic Poetics in the Golden Age Vicente Cantarino, 2023-09-29 Arabic literature is noted for its tradition conscious consistency and sophistication In the classical period poetry and prose reached a high level of refinement and attained standards which are still being applied in the modern Arab world today The literature of the modern post classical period is no less sophisticated being a vibrant and flourishing expression of the continued Arabic tradition The series Studies in Arabic Literature Supplements to the Journal of Arabic Literature founded in 1971 is concerned with all kinds of literary expression in Arabic including the oral and vernacular traditions of both the modern and the classical periods Studies in the series can be literary historical analytical or comparative in nature and can treat of individual works authors and genres as well as literary traditions in a wider context Studies dealing with the social political and philosophical backgrounds of Arabic literature are particularly welcome in the series The series comprises monographs thematic collections of articles handbooks textual editions and annotated translations Text editions are as a rule accompanied by a translation on facing pages both text editions and translations should include comprehensive critical introductions which give a full and proper appreciation of the text or texts in question

History of the Conquest of Spain by Arab-Moors, Volume II Henry Coppee, 1881 The Other Within Yirmiyahu Yovel, 2018-06-05 The Marranos were former Jews forced to convert to Christianity in Spain and Portugal and their later descendants Despite economic and some political advancement these Conversos suffered social stigma and were persecuted by the Inquisition In this unconventional history Yirmiyahu Yovel tells their fascinating story and reflects on what it means for modern forms of identity He describes the Marranos as the Other within people who both did and did not belong Rejected by most Jews as renegades and by most veteran Christians as Jews with impure blood Marranos had no definite integral identity Yovel argues The Judaizers Marranos who wished to remain secretly Jewish were not actually Jews and those Marranos who wished to assimilate were not truly integrated as Hispano Catholics Rather mixing Jewish and Christian symbols and life patterns Marranos were typically distinguished by a split identity They also discovered the subjective mind engaged in social and religious dissent and demonstrated early signs of secularity and this worldliness In these ways Yovel says the Marranos anticipated and possibly helped create many central features of modern Western and Jewish experience One of Yovel's philosophical conclusions is that split identity which the Inquisition persecuted and modern nationalism considers illicit is a genuine and inevitable shape of human existence one that deserves recognition as a basic human freedom Drawing on historical studies Inquisition records and contemporary poems novels treatises and other writings this engaging critical history of the Marrano experience is also a profound meditation on dual identities and the birth of modernity Chamber's Miscellany of Instructive & Entertaining Tracts: and 6, 1874 Arab Cartographers Nakoa Rainfall, AI, 2025-03-20 Arab Cartographers explores the groundbreaking contributions of Middle Eastern scholars to cartography navigation and global trade during the medieval period Challenging Eurocentric views the book reveals how these Arab mapmakers not only preserved ancient geographical knowledge but also revolutionized it They developed advanced techniques like improved map projections and the use of astronomical observations for precise positioning significantly impacting exploration and commerce These advancements facilitated the expansion of trade routes across continents and fostered cultural exchange demonstrating the intellectual ingenuity of the Arab world The book examines the evolution of cartographic techniques the advancement of navigational science and the facilitation of global trade through accurate maps Beginning with the Golden Age of Islam a period of translation and preservation of classical texts the book illustrates how Arab scholars built upon this foundation incorporating indigenous knowledge Key figures such as al Idrisi and Ibn Battuta are analyzed highlighting their impact on shaping our understanding of the world The book progresses across chapters by first introducing foundational concepts then delving into specific advancements and finally exploring the practical applications and implications of these advancements By combining scholarly rigor with accessible prose Arab Cartographers appeals to both academic and general audiences interested in history earth sciences and geography It utilizes original Arabic manuscripts historical accounts and analyses of surviving maps to provide a comprehensive look at the Arab world's influence on mapmaking and its lasting impact on global history Arab-Islamic Education Systems in the Experience of Migrants and Refugees in Europe Sara Mazzei, 2025-03-15 In the last decade Europe has welcomed numerous migrants and refugees from Arab countries Their scholastic inclusion has been challenging and the teaching staff had to sometimes deal with unfamiliar realities The issue has been addressed by various perspectives from sociology to psychology insights from which are gathered in intercultural education In it there are scarcity of studies that delve into pupils cultural backgrounds and countries of origin's history is seldom regarded as a decisive factor in the formation of identity Among Arabic speaking communities the Moroccan and Syrian ones are the most significant and Morocco and Syria have interesting histories and education systems Using Nussbaum's 2010 multifactorial analysis this research aims to better understand the educational universe where Arabic speaking pupils come from focusing on humanities and religious education in the experience of pupils especially from Morocco and Syria Methodology comprehends qualitative empirical research conducted in Europe Results show the differences experienced by pupils in their educational paths among diverse Arab and European countries and the more sensitive topics they encounter in their education in Europe in relation to their identity Chambers's miscellany of instructive & entertaining tracts Chambers W. and R., Ltd, 1870 Can Democracy Survive in the 21st Century? Ronald M. Glassman, 2021-07-05 This book analyzes the many threats to democracy that exist in the 21st century and tries to understand how democracy can survive economic social and political crises It focuses on issues of oligarchy tyranny totalitarianism and ochlocracy It discusses how these forms of governance manifested themselves in ancient and medieval worlds and how socio economic transitions in the 21st century have created conditions that increasingly pose similar threats to modern democracy The author discusses broad transitions in the contemporary world economic transition to advanced high technology capitalism cultural transition from traditional religious and family values to norms focusing on racial equality gender and transgender equality and liberation and multiculturalism also transition from the traditional religious worldview to rational scientific worldview and from religious morality to secular humanist ethics These taken together undergird the political transition from traditional authority involving monarchy and aristocracy to rational legal authority involving constitutional law and democratic participation The book shows through extensive country discussions that whenever these transitions become difficult undemocratic forms of governance may emerge and override democracy Authored by an expert in the field this book touches upon an especially topical theme in the contemporary world and is of interest to a wide readership across the social sciences from researchers and students to discerning laypersons Crusade and Jihad
