It is a service provided within an economy which is in recession and consequently faces continuous demands for savings. It is in recession within itself with a dramatic reduction in pupil numbers and accompanying school closures and loss of teaching jobs. Finally those working within it feel that it has lost its position of pre-eminence and respect in the fight against social problems; it faces criticism from all sides and repeated calls for better value for money. First published in 1986, Education in Recession explores the crisis brought about by this recession. The author focuses upon those who administer the cuts: the local authorities and in particular one County Shire. He traces the changing circumstances in which local government and education have found themselves since the post-war growth period and examines what now seems to be a 'cuts culture'. The effect upon local government schools, teachers and pupils of recent changes is analysed and portents for the future are studied with considerable concern. Throughout the study of Shire is linked to the wider national scene and related to the debate about the nature of education and the organizations which control it. This book should be read by those in the teaching profession and those about to enter it and those in local government who face the problem of continually finding savings in the service they have striven to build up. It will also be of interest to students and researchers of education.
