One True Theory & the Quest for an American Aesthetic Martha Banta, 2007-01-01 Martha Banta reaches across several disciplines to investigate America's early quest to shape an aesthetic equal to the nation's belief in its cultural worth Marked by an unusually wide ranging sweep the book focuses on three major testing grounds where nineteenth century Americans responded to Ralph Waldo Emerson's call to embrace everything in order to uncover the theoretical principles underlying the idea of creation The interactions of those who rose to this urgent challenge artists architects writers politicians and the technocrats of scientific inquiry brought about an engrossing tangle of achievements and failures The first section of the book traces efforts to advance the status of the arts in the face of the aspersion that America lacked an Art Soul as deep as Europe's Following that is a hard look at heated political debates over how to embellish the architecture of Washington D C with the icons of cherished republican ideals The concluding section probes novels in which artists' lives are portrayed and aesthetic principles tested

Caspar David Friedrich Nina Amstutz, 2020-01-01 A revelatory look at how the mature work of Caspar David Friedrich engaged with concurrent developments in natural science and philosophy Best known for his atmospheric landscapes featuring contemplative figures silhouetted against night skies and morning mists Caspar David Friedrich 1774-1840 came of age alongside a German Romantic philosophical movement that saw nature as an organic and interconnected whole The naturalists in his circle believed that observations about the animal vegetable and mineral kingdoms could lead to conclusions about human life Many of Friedrich's often overlooked later paintings reflect his engagement with these philosophical ideas through a focus on isolated shrubs trees and rocks Others revisit earlier compositions or iconographic motifs but subtly metamorphose the previously distinct human figures into the natural landscape In this revelatory book Nina Amstutz combines fresh visual analysis with broad interdisciplinary research to investigate the intersection of landscape painting self exploration and the life sciences in Friedrich's mature work Drawing connections between the artist's anthropomorphic landscape forms and contemporary discussions of biology anatomy morphology death and decomposition Amstutz brings Friedrich's work into the larger discourse surrounding art nature and life in the 19th century
