Non-tariff Barriers, Regionalism And Poverty: Essays In Applied International Trade Analysis L Alan Winters, 2015-03-26 Non Tariff Barriers Regionalism and Poverty is a collection of key articles in three important areas of applied international trade research measuring non tariff barriers and their effects the consequences of regional trading arrangements especially on the countries excluded from them and the connection between international trade and poverty Drawing from 30 years of research and experience L Alan Winters illustrates the development of techniques of this field and his continued commitment to answering real policy questions at the times at which they are debated The collection shows the ways in which economic and econometric analysis can be used to answer real world problems rigorously in the area of international trade and trade policy Readers will find that some of the research included is of current methodological relevance and some of more historical significance This volume is invaluable to anyone who is keen on developing their knowledge on trade policy regionalism or poverty three pressing issues in today s globalized world Constituent Interests and U.S. Trade Policies Alan Verne Deardorff, Robert Mitchell Stern, 1998-12-23 Explores the groups that are influencing U S international trade policies International Trade Luis Rivera-Batiz, Maria-Angels Oliva, 2003 This title offers an integrated account of strategic trade analysis combined with empirical evidence and new results It addresses the need to synthesize and integrate the new advances in a field that has become a key element of policy discussions The Impact of Trade and Domestic Policy Reforms in India Rajesh Chadha, 1998-12-15 A specially designed computable general equilibrium model is used to analyze the effects of recent policy reforms in the Indian economy Evolution of global agrifood trade and trade policy and implications for nutrition Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2025-02-11 While international agrifood trade is critically relevant for the availability and supply of food across many countries import tariffs are a policy instrument with relatively modest potential to steer consumers towards purchasing more nutritious food Employing a number of newly developed datasets this research project examines patterns and developments in the links between agrifood trade and nutrition and assesses how trade policy shapes food prices The analysis is undertaken at a global level with a focus on the Near East and North Africa NENA region a set of countries which is particularly dependent on agrifood imports The results show that agrifood imports are a critical source of calories macro nutrients as well as vitamins and minerals for most countries in the world On the supply side a small number of countries account for the bulk of globally traded calories and nutrients These findings show that calorie and nutrient availabilities are shaped significantly by global trade With regard to how import tariffs affect the relative prices of foods with different nutritional characteristics econometric estimations suggest that on average import tariffs have only a relatively modest effect on the relative prices of different foods The concentration patterns of caloric and nutrient supply in a small number of supplying countries reinforce calls to diversify global food markets and trade As for trade policy options the modest effects of tariffs suggest that exploring other domestic and trade policy options would be necessary to significantly improve nutritional outcomes
