A Concise History of the Middle East Ibrahim Al-Marashi, Arthur Goldschmidt Jr., 2024-10-07

A Concise History of the Middle East provides a comprehensive introduction to the history of this region. Spanning from the pre-Islamic era to the present, it explores the evolution of Middle Eastern institutions and culture, the influence of European colonialism and Western imperialism, regional modernization efforts, the struggle of various peoples for political independence, the Arab-Israeli conflict, the reassertion of Islamist values and power, the issues surrounding the Palestinian Question, and the Middle East following 9/11, the 2011 Arab uprisings, and the regional crisis that erupted after 7 October 2023. The thirteenth edition has been fully revised to reflect the most recent events in and concerns of the region, including its future in the face of climate change and challenges in Iraq, and developments in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. In addition, the important role of Middle Eastern women in the history of the region is woven into the narrative. New parts and part timelines will help students grasp and contextualize the long and complicated history of the region. With updated biographical sketches and a new concluding chapter, this book remains the quintessential text for students of Middle East history.

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg G Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13

So far, histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West. This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective. Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries, the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization, which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non-Western historical studies. At the same time, it critically examines the reactions in post-modern and post-colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography. A main theme of the book is how historians in the non-Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures.

A Global History of Modern

Historiography Georg Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2016-09-01 The first book on historiography to adopt a global and comparative perspective on the topic A Global History of Modern Historiography looks not just at developments in the West but also at the other great historiographical traditions in Asia the Middle East and elsewhere around the world over the course of the past two and a half centuries This second edition contains fully updated sections on Latin American and African historiography discussion of the development of global history environmental history and feminist and gender history in recent years and new coverage of Russian historical practices Beginning in the mid eighteenth century the authors analyse historical currents in a changing political social and cultural context examining both the adaptation and modification of the Western influence on historiography and how societies outside Europe and America found their own ways in the face of modernization and globalization Supported by online resources including a selection of excerpts from key historiographical texts this book offers an up to date account of the status of historical writing in the global era and is essential reading for all students of modern historiography

Middle East Historiographies Israel Gershoni, Amy Singer, Y. Hakan Erdem, 2011-06-01 This collection of ten essays focuses on the way major schools and individuals have narrated histories of the Middle East The distinguished contributors explore the historiography of economic and intellectual history nationalism fundamentalism colonialism the media slavery and gender In doing so they engage with some of the most controversial issues of the twentieth century Middle Eastern studies today cover a rich and varied terrain yet the study of the profession itself has been relatively neglected There is however an ever present need to examine what the research has chosen to include and exclude and to become more consciously aware of shifts in research approaches and methods This collection illuminates the evolving state of the art and suggests new directions for further research

Historical Archives and the Historians' Commission to Investigate the Armenian Events of 1915 Yücel Güçlü, 2015-08-07 Historical Archives and the Historians Commission to Investigate the Armenian Events of 1915 demonstrates the vital importance of Ottoman and other relevant archives in Turkey for the study of the Armenian question. Historians assisted by newly discovered or recently published materials must continually reassess events of the past in order to achieve a rounder view. The Armenian events of 1915 are certainly no exception. This study encourages further engagement between the policy making and the scholarly communities by indicating the continued importance of past records and documents for today's pressing debates. In order to give a fuller picture, this survey also looks at some major relevant archival sources outside Turkey including the state of archives of the First Republic of Armenia and those of the Dashnak Party. Ycel G l's inquiry sheds light on some of the British records relating to the First World War and its immediate aftermath located at the National Archives in Kew, London, and he examines the special relevance of repositories in Moscow and St Petersburg in understanding the Turkish-Armenian conflict. G l assesses Turkey's proposal to establish an international historians' commission to investigate the Armenian events of 1915 and reviews in depth the meanings and implications of the protocols of cooperation signed between Turkey and Armenia on 10 October 2009. By turning a modern eye on historical events, this study gives great and necessary attention to discovering the precise chronology, meaning and development of the continuing negotiations between Turkey and Armenia.

Imagining the Middle East Matthew F. Jacobs, 2011.
