Wooden, 2005 The exuberant recovery from obscurity of scores of British women writers has prompted professors and publishers to revisit publication of women s writings New curricular inclusion of these sometimes quirky often passionate writers profoundly disrupts traditional pedagogical assumptions about what constitutes literature This book addresses this radically changed educational landscape offering practical proven teaching strategies for newly recovered writers both in special topics courses and in traditional teaching environments Moreover it addresses the institutional issues confronting feminist scholars who teach women writers in a variety of settings and the kinds of career altering effects the decision to teach this material can have on junior and senior scholars alike Collectively these essays argue that teaching noncanonical women writers invigorates the curriculum as a whole not only by introducing the voices of women writers but by incorporating new genres by asking new questions about readers assumptions and aesthetic values and by altering the power relations between teacher and student for the better

Deep Distresses Richard E. Matlak, 2003 Deep Distresses is a study of the intersecting family and professional vicissitudes that afflicted Wordsworth during the period of his greatest poetic productivity The negative national publicity over his mariner brother s death at sea is the focus of the family tragedy hostile reception to Poems in Two Volumes 1807 is the focus of professional duress Both topics become related through the intercession of the poet s patron Sir George Beaumont who attempts to ameliorate the family tragedy with money and his painting of Peck Castle in a Storm while hoping to groom Wordsworth for a place among the cultural elite of London In its attention to nineteenth century culture and business this study offers an entirely new context for reading and re interpreting many of Wordsworth s major works from Michael through the major lyrics of Poems in Two Volumes and the latter books of The Prelude Richard E Matlak is a Professor of English and Director of the Center for Interdisciplinary and Special Studies at the College of the Holy Cross

Coleridge and Newman Philip C. Rule, 2004 By examining Samuel Taylor Coleridge's and John Henry Newman's parallel approaches to the central question of Christian apologetics the existence of God Coleridge and Newman The Centrality of Conscience documents more fully than ever before the extent of Coleridge's influence on Newman Both men sought to develop an argument for God's existence by understanding conscience as the moral self-awareness that makes us human The study provides fresh readings of three texts by Coleridge and three by Newman The result of these comparative readings is a rhetoric that both informs and invites the reader to personal reflection
