APAIS 1999: Australian public affairs information service , Australian Between Empires: The Life of Percy Spender David Lowe,2015-10-06 Part biography part transnational history this study details the life and career of Percy Spender one of Australia s most prominent twentieth century political figures The Many Lives of Kenneth Myer Sue Ebury,2008 When Kenneth Baillieu Myer s father fell dead on the footpath in 1934 Ken s life changed in an instant As the eldest son of the Jewish immigrant retailing genius Sidney Baeviski Myer who went from pedlar to philanthropist millionaire in fifteen years 13 year old Ken was immediately acknowledged as head of the family Despite a conventional education at Geelong Grammar and a year at Princeton University Ken was an unconventional man He had hit headlines when he was born and continued to make news throughout his life as the powerful Executive Chairman of Myer in his refusal to be Governor General of Australia with his separation and divorce from his wife Prue and remarriage to a Japanese woman half his age Yasuko Hiraoka as Chairman of the Victorian Arts Centre and the National Library of Australia and during his disastrous years as Chairman of the ABC a reward for signing the Myer It s time letter acknowledged by Whitlam as influential in bringing the Labor Party to power in 1972 Ken Myer introduced Australia to the first regional shopping centres with Chadstone changing the face of the Australian landscape Parking meters state of the art information systems at the National Library of Australia ground breaking medical research at The Howard Florey Institute and genetic engineering at CSIRO were all facilitated by him Visionary and romantic he was depressive and driven charming one moment icy the next Unpretentious and a passionate conservationist he was generous both publicly and anonymously giving away his fortune and in doing so founding modern philanthropy in Australia Happiest when finally free of the Store he died with his wife Yasuko in a light plane crash in Alaska in 1992 With unprecedented access to family documents Sue Ebury paints a vivid portrait of the many aspects of Ken Myer s life and the man himself Approaching Australia Harold Bolitho,Chris Wallace-Crabbe,1998 These papers each by a notable Australian scholar offer several approaches to the Australian experience past present and future The authors hail from different disciplines but what they have in common is their familiarity with the United States and their experience in interpreting their homeland to an American audience As they discuss poetry and politics nationalism and feminism Aboriginal society and urbanization they also explore a common theme the emergence of a distinctive Australian entity and the contribution to it of the United States The Prince's New Clothes David Burchell,Andrew Leigh,2002 Towards the end of the 20th century Australia was swept by a mood of cynicism towards politicians and government This comprehensive collection brings together politicians policy makers and scholars to answer difficult questions in the ethical dimension of Australian politics The Eternal Frontier Tim Flannery,2018-11-20 A comprehensive history of the continent full of engaging and attention catching information about North America s geology climate and paleontology The Washington Post Book World Here the rock star of modern science tells the unforgettable story of the geological and biological evolution of the North American continent from the time of the asteroid strike that wiped out the dinosaurs 65 million years ago to the present day Jared Diamond Pulitzer Prize winning author of Guns Germs and Steel Flannery describes the development of North America's deciduous forests and other flora and tracks the migrations of various animals to and from Europe Asia and South America showing how plant and animal species have either adapted or become extinct The story spans the massive changes wrought by the ice ages and the coming of the Native Americans It continues right up to the present covering the deforestation of the Northeast the decimation of the buffalo and other consequences of frontier settlement and the industrial development of the United States This is science writing at its very best both an engrossing narrative and a scholarly trove of information that will forever change your perspective on the North American continent The New York Review of Books

Fuss That Never Ended Deborah Gare, Geoffrey Bolton, Stuart Macintyre, Tom Stannage, 2013-04-18 It is time to reassess the work of Geoffrey Blainey and consider his role in Australian history politics and public life Geoffrey Blainey has steered Australian history into the nation's conversation No one would dispute that he is a courageous public intellectual a writer of rare grace and a master storyteller And he has indeed provoked a rare fuss both public and professional with some of his comments on Asian immigration and Aboriginal land rights Blainey has challenged the academic history profession not only with his ideas but also by his practice A brilliant student he looked set for Oxford but chose instead the austere west coast of Tasmania for his postgraduate research For the next decade he earned a living with his pen And instead of political history in the traditional academic mould he wrote corporate histories that dispensed with footnotes Always probing and speculative Blainey has dislodged many of the keystones in our understandings of Australia's past He was one of the first to write about the expansive social history of this land before 1788 he questioned whether Botany Bay was founded primarily as a convict colony he argued that the Eureka uprising had economic rather than political causes and he identified sport as a neglected key to the Australian character His controversial views earned such newspaper headlines as Brave Man Set Upon by Thugs for Telling Truth In The Fuss That Never Ended a lively and distinguished assembly of fellow historians of various ages interests and political stances take a fresh look at Blainey's remarkable and sometimes controversial career

Travelling to Tomorrow Yves Rees, 2024-09-01 A celebrity decorator with blue hair A single mother who advised JFK in the Oval Office A Christian nudist with a passion for almond milk A century ago ten Australian women did something remarkable Throwing convention to the wind they headed across the Pacific to make their fortune In doing so they reoriented Australia towards the United States years before politicians began to lumber down the same path For the artist Mary Cecil Allen this meant spreading the word about American abstract expressionism For the naturopath Alice Caporn it meant evangelising fruit juices and salads For the swimmer Isabel Letham it was teaching synchronised swimming Others imported the latest thinking in dentistry fashion design economics law music medicine and more They were rebels they were trailblazers they were disruptors Individually they have extraordinary stories together they change the narrative of Australian history Thoughtful and curious critical and kind Yves Rees's study of these globetrotting Australian women richly renders their lives and times as well as contemplating how we reach across time to read them today Anna Clark Australian Research Council Future Fellow University of Technology Sydney Fresh captivating and full of fantastic women Yves has somehow managed to assemble the greatest fantasy dinner party you never knew you needed whilst also uncovering a fascinating and untold side of our history A real treat Zo Coombs Marr comedian performer and actor Yves Rees has the remarkable ability to bring history into the present reminding us all that the only thing that really separates the generations is a linear notion of time Travelling to Tomorrow gives voice to the women at the forefront of Australia's own American Revolution What I love most about Yves is how they bring an unwavering commitment to human rights in their exploration of history the language of equality ever present in their handling of the past In Rees we have found a historian of rare skill they possess the ability to tell us something we didn't know about something we thought we did Clementine Ford feminist writer columnist and broadcaster This book is a knockout Yves Rees is that rare historian who thinks like a scholar and writes like a dream the literary equivalent to floating like a butterfly and stinging like a bee You will want to meet these fearless and feisty women women not only before their time in forging new geocultural paths to independence but also making their times by putting flesh to the bones of modernity Rees gives us their stories in full bodied hot blooded fashion A sheer delight Professor Clare Wright OAM Professor of History La Trobe University

Maps of Time David Christian, 2011-10-03 An introduction to a new way of looking at history from a perspective that stretches from the beginning of time to the present day Maps of Time is world history on an unprecedented scale Beginning with the Big Bang David Christian views the interaction of the natural world with the more recent arrivals in flora and fauna including human beings Cosmology geology archeology and population and environmental studies all figure in David Christian's account which is an ambitious overview of the emerging field of Big History Maps of Time opens with the origins of the universe the stars and the galaxies the sun and the solar system including the earth and conducts readers through the evolution of the planet before human habitation It surveys the development of human society from the Paleolithic era through the transition to agriculture the emergence of cities and states and the birth of the modern industrial period right up to intimations of possible futures Sweeping in scope finely focused in its minute detail this riveting account of the known world from the inception of space time to the prospects of global warming lays the groundwork for world history and Big History true as never before to its name

Explorer Travellers and Adventure Tourism Jennifer Laing, Warwick Frost, 2014-08-04 This book examines the nexus between exploring and tourism and argues that exploration travel based heavily on explorer narratives and the promises of personal challenges and change is a major trend in future tourism In particular it analyses how romanticised myths of explorers form a foundation for how modern day tourists view travel and themselves Its scope ranges from the Golden Age of imperial explorers in the 19th and early 20th centuries through the growth of adventure and extreme tourism to possible future trends including space travel The volume should appeal to researchers and students across a variety of disciplines including tourism studies sociology geography and history Historical Dictionary of Australia Norman Abjorensen, James C. Docherty, 2014-12-05 Australia's development from the most unpromising of beginnings as a British prison in 1788 to the prosperous liberal democracy of the present is as remarkable as is its success as a country of large scale immigration Since 1942 it has been a loyal ally of the United States and has demonstrated this loyalty by contributing troops to the war in Vietnam and by being part of the coalition of the willing in the U S invasion of Iraq in 2003 and in operations in Afghanistan In recent years it has also been more willing to promote peace and democracy in its Pacific and Asian neighbors This fourth edition of Historical Dictionary of Australia covers its history through a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Australia Evangelicals and the End of Christendom Hugh Chilton, 2019-12-09 Exploring the response of evangelicals to the collapse of Greater Christian Britain in Australia in the long 1960s this book provides a new religious perspective to the end of empire and a fresh national perspective to the end of Christendom In the turbulent 1960s two foundations of the Western world rapidly and unexpectedly collapsed Christendom marked by the dominance of discursive Christianity in public culture and Greater Britain the powerful sentimental and strategic union of Britain and its settler societies disappeared from the collective mental map with startling speed To illuminate these contemporaneous global shifts this book takes as a case study the response of Australian evangelical Christian leaders to the cultural and religious crises encountered between 1959 and 1979 Far from being a narrow national study this book places its case studies in the context of the latest North American and European scholarship on secularisation imperialism and evangelicalism Drawing on a wide range of archival sources it examines critical figures such as Billy Graham Fred Nile and Hans Mol as well as issues of empire counter cultural movements and racial and national identity This study will be of particular interest to any scholar of Evangelicalism in the twentieth century It will also be a useful resource for academics looking into the wider impacts of the decline of Christianity and the British Empire in Western civilisation City Dreamers Graeme Davison, 2016-08-01 I became an urban historian because I believed that our cities deserved more of our curiosity and idealism In City Dreamers Graeme Davison restores Australian cities and those who created them to their rightful place in the national imagination Building on a lifetime's work Davison views Australian history from 1788 to the present day through the eyes of city dreamers such as Henry Lawson Charles Bean and Hugh Stretton and others who have helped make the cities we inhabit Davison looks at significant individuals or groups that he calls snobs slummers pessimists exodists suburbans and anti suburbans and argues that there's a particular twist to the ways in which Australians think about cities And the ways we live in them This extraordinary book excavates the cultural history of the Australian city by focusing on dreamers those who battle to make and re make our cities It reminds us that for most of us the city is home and it is there that we find belonging

Archaeology Barry W. Cunliffe, Wendy Davies, Colin Renfrew, 2002 Twenty six leading scholars from around the world have come together to celebrate the strengths the energies and the sheer intellectual excitement of their discipline They unashamedly proclaim that over the last hundred years archaeology has transformed itself from a genteel antiquarian pursuit deeply rooted in the classical tradition to a rigorous and demanding discipline spanning the humanities and the sciences yet at the same time one widely accessible to the public at large The contributors show how our understanding of the past has changed reveal the exciting ideas under current debate and offer their visions of the future The result is a remarkable overview of world archaeology focusing on new and unexpected themes at the cutting edge of the discipline

EBOOK: Higher Education Pedagogies Melanie Walker, 2005-11-16 What does higher education learning and teaching enable students to do and to become Which human capabilities are valued in higher education and how do we identify them How might the human capability approach lead to improved student learning as well as to accomplished and ethical university teaching This book sets out to generate new ways of reflecting ethically about the purposes and values of contemporary higher education in relation to agency learning public values and democratic life and the pedagogies which support these It offers an alternative to human capital theory and emphasises the intrinsic as well as the economic value of higher learning Based upon the human capability approach developed by economist Amartya Sen and philosopher Martha Nussbaum the book shows the importance of justice as a value in higher education It places freedom human flourishing and students educational development at its centre Furthermore it takes up the value Sen attributes to education in the capability approach and demonstrates its relevance for higher education Higher Education Pedagogies offers illustrative narratives of capability learning and pedagogy drawing on student and lecturer voices to demonstrate how this multi dimensional approach can be developed and applied in higher education It suggests an ethical approach to higher education practice and to teaching and learning policy development and evaluation As such the book is essential reading for students and scholars of higher education as well as university lecturers managers and policy makers concerned with teaching and learning

British Writers Ian Scott-Kilvert, Jay Parini, 1987 Covers writers who have made significant contributions to British Irish and Commonwealth literature from the fourteenth century to the present day Includes in depth critical and biographical analysis

Digging Up the Past Derek John Mulvaney, 2011 Known as an historian archaeologist conservationist leading public intellectual and most famously the Father of Australian archaeology John Mulvaney is renowned for uncovering the depth of Australian human prehistory dating the antiquity of Aboriginal occupation to previously unthought of tens of thousands of years This insightful and illuminating memoir traces Mulvaney s life from childhood in rural Victoria and his academic training to his revelatory excavations in central and northern Queensland and his securing of Australia s first World Heritage listings all the while providing personal details of his struggles to have his work recognised and stories of the inspirational people he met
