Airliners In Australian Service Volume 1 2:

Eastern Air Lines David Lee Russell, 2013-09-28 Eastern Air Lines began in 1926 when aviation pioneer Harold Pitcairn started the first carrier air mail route from New York to Atlanta under his company Pitcairn Aviation. Clement Keys of National Air Transport bought the company in 1929, changed the name to Eastern Air Transport and began passenger service the next year on daily round trips between New York and Richmond. The growing airline was purchased by General Motors and became Eastern Air Lines in 1934. World War I flying ace Edward V Rickenbacker purchased the airline four years later and led it to become by the 1950s the most profitable airline in the United States. Former astronaut Frank Borman became president of Eastern in 1975 and tried to manage the airline through deregulation, labor union conflict and heavy debt, ending with the sale of Eastern to Frank Lorenzo and Texas Air in 1986. The airline entered bankruptcy in March 1989 and ended service in less than two years. This detailed history follows Eastern from start to finish, studying such corporate decision making as aircraft purchases and route expansions as well as the personalities that shaped the airline throughout its history.

Aircraft of The Royal Australian Air Force Air Force History Branch, 2021-06-01 Aircraft of The Royal Australian Air Force tells the story of the RAAF's first one hundred years by describing the acquisition, operation and service record of the multitude of aircraft types flown by the RAAF. The 176 aircraft types include the flimsy wood and canvas aircraft typical of World War I through the technological advances during and after World War II to modern fifth generation complex aircraft like the F 35 Lightning II. Even before its formation, Sir Richard Williams, the Father of the RAAF, had decided to employ an alpha numeric numbering system to identify and account for each aircraft in service. This system started with A1 A2 A3 etc as each type of aircraft came into service. Each individual aircraft within each series was identified as A1 1 A1 2 and so on, and the aircraft serial became known colloquially as the A number. With some exceptions over the century since the A number system started, aircraft entered RAAF service in broadly the sequence of the A numbers, and so this book is intended to assist in charting the 100 year history of the RAAF by listing aircraft operated in A number sequence rather than by listing them by role such as Fighter Bomber Maritime Trainer Transport etc or alphabetically by name or by manufacturer. The inclusion of a comprehensive Index and the Quick Reference Guide to aircraft by role is intended to facilitate the location of the entry for any specific type of aircraft for those who may not already know its A number. Aircraft of The Royal Australian Air Force is a must have for all those who have served in the RAAF, those with a passion for military aviation and aircraft in general, and the broader members of the public wishing to gain an appreciation of the Royal Australian Air Force in its centenary year.
