Commentary on Psalms John Calvin, 2013-12-26 For hundreds of years John Calvin's Commentaries have been admired and relied upon for their deep insights into Scripture Charles Spurgeon told his students It would not be possible for me too earnestly to press upon you the importance of reading the expositions of that prince among men John Calvin Of all commentators I believe John Calvin to be the most candid He was no trimmer and pruner of texts He gave their meaning as far as he knew it His honest intention was to translate the Hebrew and the Greek originals as accurately as he possibly could and then to give the meaning which would naturally be conveyed by such Greek and Hebrew words he laboured in fact to declare not his own mind upon the Spirit's words but the mind of the Spirit as couched in those words And even Arminius himself admitted Next to the perusal of the Scriptures which I earnestly inculcate I exhort my pupils to peruse Calvin's commentaries for I affirm that he excels beyond comparison in the interpretation of Scripture and that his commentaries ought to be more highly valued than all that is handed down to us by the Library of the Fathers so that I acknowledge him to have possessed above most others or rather above all other men what may be called an eminent gift of prophecy

Studies in the Book of Psalms William Swan Plumer, 1866 The Psalms are wonderful They have been read repeated chanted sung studied wept over rejoiced in expounded loved and praised by God's people for thousands of years The most ancient of these productions is now 1866 three thousand three hundred and twenty six years old The least ancient of them is two thousand four hundred and fifty three years old The difference in date between the most ancient and the most modern of them is eight hundred and seventy three years They were all written in Asia so that we in this Western world can have no national pride respecting them Yet pious people here and all over the earth have found and can find no compositions more suitable for delineating their devout emotions and for expressing their pious sensibilities than those of inspired Psalmists If to any man these songs are unsavory the reason is found in the blindness and depravity of the human heart Hengstenberg The Psalms are expressions of holy feeling which can be understood by those only who have become alive to such feeling Other things being equal he who has the most heavenly mind will be the most successful student of the Psalms Introduction
