Jesus—The Portrait and Inscription of God George Paki, If we want to understand what God was telling John about the future we need to first understand what John understood Professor Jon Paulien Loma Linda University USA In Jesus The Portrait and Inscription of God the author pours his years of research into addressing the issue that Jon Paulien highlights Paki builds an intriguing case for a dual focused method of interpreting Revelation He uses this method to show i that Revelation was written primarily to John and his initial audience ii that the same prophecies also speak to us with clarity and force iii Then he wonders if God intentionally used the same material to speak to an audience then and now When this method is applied to Revelation 1 3 the text does come alive Deep theological truths and nuggets extracted are way too many

Divine Frustrations Jason L. Moore,2023-11-21 The Bible encourages believers to love God with all their hearts Interestingly enough there is no command to like God Is the admonition to like God conspicuously absent due to its inherent difficulty If we are honest we can safely affirm that there are unlikable realities about our world that critics allege reflect poorly on the perceived nature of God However there is a lack of awareness regarding alternative ways to understand such realities Divine Frustrations is an attempt to bridge that gap by providing a balanced engaging approach to revisiting the unpleasant aspects of God s dealings with humanity Drawing on decades of interactions with students atheists critics inmates and church members as well as people from all walks of life Moore offers reflections on both sides of the most common complaints leveled against God Whether you are a believer or a skeptic your approach to various topics will be challenged If you are open to considering alternatives to what you believe as well as new insights into your own views read on
