Drum ,2006 Jewish Traditions Ronald L. Eisenberg,2010-01-01 In an encyclopedic reference for anyone who wants information about all things Jewish Eisenberg distills an immense amount of material from classic and contemporary sources into a single volume All the Ways We Lied Aida Zilelian,2024-01-09 Meet the Manoukians a dysfunctional Armenian family and the fraying rope that binds them Set in Queens New York while a father deteriorates from terminal illness three sisters contend with one another their self destructive pasts and their indomitable mother as they face the loss of the one person holding their unstable family together Kohar the oldest sister is happily married yet grapples with fertility issues and in turn her own self worth Lucine the middle child is trapped in a loveless marriage and haunted by memories of her estranged father Azad the beloved youngest child is burdened by an inescapable cycle of failed relationships By turns heartfelt and heart wrenching All the Ways We Lied introduces a cast of tragically flawed but lovable characters on the brink of unraveling With humor and compassion this spellbinding tale explores the fraught and contradictory landscape of sisterhood introducing four unforgettable women who have nothing in common and are bound by blood and history From Illiteracy to Literature Anne-Marie Picard,2016-08-05 From Illiteracy to Literature presents innovative material based on research with non reading children and re examines the complex relationship between psychoanalysis and literature through the lens of the psychical significance of reading the forgotten adventure of our coming to reading Anne Marie Picard draws on two specific fields of interest firstly the wish to understand the nature of literariness or the literary effect i e the pleasures and frustrations we derive from reading secondly research on reading pathologies carried out at St Anne s Hospital Paris The author uses clinical observations of non reading children to answer literary questions about the reading experience using psychoanalytic theory as a conceptual framework The notion that reading difficulties or phobias should be seen as a symptom in the psychoanalytic sense allows Picard to shed light on both clinical vignettes taken from children s case histories and reading scenes from literary texts Children experiencing difficulties in learning to read highlight the imaginary stakes of the confrontation with the arbitrary nature of the letter and the price to pay for one s entrance into the Symbolic Picard applies the lesson taught by these children to a series of key literary texts featuring at their very core this confrontation with the signifier with the written code itself This book argues that there is something in literature that drives us back again and again to the loss we have suffered as human beings to what we had to undergo to become human our subjection to the common place of language Picard shows complex Lacanian concepts at work in the field of reading pathologies emphasizing close reading and a clinical attention to the letter of the texts far from the psychobiographical attempts at psychologizing literary authors From Illiteracy to Literature presents a novel psychodynamic approach that will be of great interest to psychotherapists and language pathologists appealing to literary scholars and those interested in the process of reading and literariness Cassell's Illustrated Family Paper ,1865
