Cinema, Censorship and Sexuality 1909-1925 (Routledge Revivals) Annette Kuhn, 2016-04-06 First published in 1988 This book shows how censorship as a set of institutions practices and discourses was involved in the struggle over the nature of cinema in the early twentieth century It also reveals the part played in this struggle by other institutions practices and discourses for example new knowledge about sexuality and organisations devoted to the promotion of public morality Instead of censorship simply being an act of prohibition by a special institution this work reveals the issues at work were far more complex and contradictory opening up critical scrutiny and challenging assumptions This title will be of interest to students of media and film studies

Hideout In the Apocalypse John Stapleton, 2016-11-10 Hideout in the Apocalypse is about surveillance and the crushing of Australia's larrikin culture In the last three years the Australian government has prosecuted the greatest assault on freedom of speech in the nation's history The government knew from international research that when it introduced the panopticon universal surveillance into Australia it would have a devastating impact on the culture When people know they are being watched they behave differently Dissent is stifled conformity becomes the norm This is the so-called chilling effect Hideout in the Apocalypse in the great tradition of The Lucky Country takes Australia's temperature half a century on from Donald Horne's classic cautionary tale Now the future has arrived Forced by a plethora of new laws targeting journalists to use novelistic techniques in his latest book veteran news reporter John Stapleton confirms the old adage truth is stranger than fiction Hideout in the Apocalypse takes up the adventures of retired news reporter Old Alex first encountered in the book's predecessor Terror in Australia Workers Paradise Lost But as befits the times this book is more fantastical intimate and politically acerbic in its portrait of his beloved country Alex believes he has been under abusive levels of government surveillance since writing a book called Terror in Australia and as a natural empath can hear the thoughts of the surveillance teams on his track the so-called Watchers on the Watch Alex also believes he is a cluster soul sent with others of his kind to help save the Earth from an impending apocalypse and has the capacity to channel some of history's greatest writers Australia might have the worst anti freedom of speech laws in the Western world but how can you sue a character like that Stapleton's essential theme a place which should have been safe from an impending apocalypse the quagmire of religious wars enveloping the Middle East is not safe at all Ideas are contagious and the Australian government is afraid of them Australia is a democracy in name only The war on terror has become a war on the people's right to know justifying a massive expansion of state power Alex's swirling head lifelong fascination with sociology literature and journalism and his deep distress over the fate of the Great Southern Land makes him the perfect character to tell a story which urgently needs to be told Encyclopedia of make Athena any less important Over the course of our lives like Athena s we experience the normal struggles and joys not necessarily big moments that shape the story of us Most of us consider the major events as defining but A Life of Days is about the thoughts and doubts and hopes within Athena which reflect who she is and who we all are About the Author Sara Dixon was born in Michigan and has lived in seven states and five countries She is now retired and loves traveling art music sports and volunteering
