Personalist Economics Edward J. O'Boyle, 2013-03-14 Personalist Economics Moral Convictions Economic Realities and Social Action examines the nature of the worker and consumer from a personalist perspective comparing that body of knowledge to what is received from conventional economics A running theme throughout this book is that personalist economics is attentive to both aspects of human material need physical need and the need for work as such in a way that does not disregard human wants Accordingly this book is more concerned about the philosophical base and description of the economy's significant characteristics than social economic policy Personalist Economics explores four dimensions of particularly acute human physical need unemployment poverty homelessness and death In addressing these four aspects of need the book delves into the second and third domains of social economics description of the significant characteristics of the economy and social economic policy In the same way Personalist Economics explores two types of economic cooperation supra firm alliances and inter firm partnerships as means for addressing certain aspects of human material need This book concludes with a lengthy discussion of the challenges facing personalist economics in the years ahead

Assessing Water

Rights in China Yahua Wang, 2017-09-14 This book presents a model for describing the hierarchical concept of China's water rights structure one which takes into account pioneering theories on natural resources and environmental institutional economics. It highlights the basic theory of water rights with a view to helping Chinese policymakers acquire a deeper understanding of water rights and the need for a reform program in the long term development of water poor China. To do so it draws on three main sources: Cheung's SNS's Economic Explanation, Douglas C. North's New Economic History and Ray Huang's Macro History. The book makes two essential contributions: it elaborates the hierarchical water governance structure in China which originated in the Qin Dynasty that unified the country 2000 years ago and has been employed without interruption ever since; further it constructs a choice model for water governance structures and advances the logic of making structural choices with minimum transaction costs under constraint conditions while also explaining the inherent nature of China's choice for the hierarchical structure from the perspectives of management cost and cooperation cost. As such the book enriches and builds on the theories of the water governance school represented by Karl Marx, Karl Wittfogel and Ray Huang, laying the foundation for the further study of water rights theory in contemporary China. Economics,

Engineering Economics Tahir Hussain, 2010 MONEY AND BANKING E. NARAYANAN NADAR, 2013-06-21 Intended for undergraduate students of Economics, Commerce and Management, this book discusses the concepts and functions of the monetary and banking system. It also incorporates the recent trends and developments in the fields of money and banking. It is written in an easy-to-understand language. Divided into twenty-seven chapters under two parts: Part I on Money discusses evolution, nature, value, role and significance of money, monetary standards, monetary theories and analysis of interest rates, inflation and deflation. It also describes trade cycles, money, capital and stock markets and monetary policy. Part II on Banking discusses evolution, structure and systems of banking, functions, credit creation process, balance sheet, investment policy and nationalization of commercial banks. It describes structure, management functions and role of SBI and RBI in economic development. Besides, it dwells on India's lead bank scheme, credit control methods and central banking systems in India, the UK and the USA. The book concludes with a discussion on international financial institutions such as IMF and IBRD. The text is supported with examples, tables and figures. Chapter-end multiple choice questions and review questions are also provided. Besides the undergraduate students, this book will also be useful to the postgraduate students of Economics, Commerce and Management.

Political Economy of Transition Jozef M. van Brabant, 2012-11-12 This book addresses the policy questions surrounding the challenge of transforming eastern European economies from their planned administrative past to vibrant market-based entities. Jozef van Brabant considers in turn the wider set of challenges facing these economies: stabilization, privatization, liberalization, institution building and developing and maintaining the sociopolitical consensus before examining the evolving role of the state. Using concrete examples from the eastern European countries throughout, including the Czech Republic and Bulgaria, this work systematically examines in a society-wide context the initial conditions
