Basile, 2012-02-01 A Good Little School pays homage to Jefferson County Open School a public school of choice with a thirty year history of providing an alternative education for students in K 12 Chronicled in this book are the personal experiences and anecdotes of teachers parents and students within the school and how their contributions make it unique In so doing these reflections demonstrate to others that there is more to education than conventional subject areas such as math and reading Also examined are the ways in which the school preserves the core elements that support the students best personal social and intellectual interests These self reflective accounts create a learning environment with humanity at the center giving students the skills necessary to lead compassionate lives What Makes a Good School? Chris Bonner, Jane Caro, 2012 How much of what you hear about schools can you trust Can you believe the marketing hype about unsurpassed facilities genius teachers and stellar academic achievement Do you listen to neighbourhood gossip about your local school Are government statistics the answer School choice has become one of the most agonising issues of parenthood Chris Bonner and Jane Caro have no magic formula and agree that complex factors come together to make a good school But drawing on their own experiences and knowledge as school principal parents and advocates they give parents the tools to do homework about schools themselves They compare talk about schools public Catholic private selective comprehensive against the reality They examine how good schools respond to the recurring crises in the lives of kids They help navigate NAPLAN tests and the My School website And they place their analysis squarely in the middle of the national discussion about education Schools have to be good for students for parents and for the nation What Makes a Good School will help you to cover all bases A Good School Richard Yates, 1978
