A Gesture Life:

A Gesture Life Chang-rae Lee, 2001 Franklin Hata Korean by birth but raised in Japan is an outsider in American society but he embodies the values of the town he calls his own he is polite and keeps himself to himself The Enigma of Good and Evil: The Moral Sentiment in Literature Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2006-08-27 Striking toward peace and harmony the human being is ceaselessly torn apart in personal social national life by wars feuds inequities and intimate personal conflicts for which there seems to be no respite Does the human condition in interaction with others imply a constant adversity Or is this conflict owing to an interior or external factor of evil governing our attitudes and conduct toward the other person To what criteria should I refer for appreciation judgment direction concerning my attitudes and my actions as they bear on the well being of others At the roots of these questions lies human experience which ought to be appropriately clarified before entering into speculative abstractions of the ethical theories and precepts Literature which in its very gist dwells upon disentangling in multiple perspective the peripeteia of our life experience offers us a unique field of source material for moral and ethical investigations Literature brings preeminently to light the Moral Sentiment which pervades our life with others our existence tout court Being modulated through the course of our experiences the Moral Sentiment sustains the very sense of literature and of personal human life Tymieniecka Encyclopedia of Asian-American Literature Seiwoong Oh, 2015-04-22 Presents a reference on Asian American literature providing profiles of Asian American writers and their works The Comfort Women C. Sarah Soh, 2008 In an era marked by atrocities perpetrated on a grand scale the tragedy of the so called comfort women mostly Korean women forced into prostitution by the Japanese army endures as one of the darkest events of World War II These women have usually been labeled victims of a war crime a simplistic view that makes it easy to pin blame on the policies of imperial Japan and therefore easier to consign the episode to a war torn past In this revelatory study C Sarah Soh provocatively disputes this master narrative Soh reveals that the forces of Japanese colonialism and Korean patriarchy together shaped the fate of Korean comfort women a double bind made strikingly apparent in the cases of women cast into sexual slavery after fleeing abuse at home Other victims were press ganged into prostitution sometimes with the help of Korean procurers Drawing on historical research and interviews with survivors Soh tells the stories of these women from girlhood through their subjugation and beyond to their efforts to overcome the traumas of their past Finally Soh examines the array of factors from South Korean nationalist politics to the aims of the international women's human rights movement that have contributed to the incomplete view of the tragedy that still dominates today Reading Adoption Marianne Novy, 2005 A literary scholar who is an adult adoptee delves into one of the enduring themes of literature the child raised by other parents Minor Transpacific David S. Roh, 2021-07-27 There is a tendency to think of Korean American literature and Asian American literature writ large as a field of study involving only two spaces the United States and Korea with the same being true in Asian studies of Korean Japanese Zainichi literature involving only Japan and Korea This book posits that both fields have to account for three spaces Korean American literature has to grapple with the legacy of Japanese imperialism in the United States and Zainichi literature must account for American interventions in Japan Comparing Korean American authors such as Younghee Kang Chang-rae Lee Ronyoung Kim and Min Jin Lee with Zainichi authors such as Kaneshiro Kazuki Yi Yangji and Kim Masumi Minor Transpacific uncovers their hidden dialogue and imperial concordances revealing the trajectory and impact of both bodies of work Minor Transpacific bridges the fields of Asian studies and Asian American studies to unveil new connections between Zainichi and Korean American literatures Working in Japanese and English David S Roh builds a theoretical framework for articulating those moments of contact between minority literatures in a third national space and proposes a new way of conceptualizing Asian American literature Asian-American Writers Allison Amend, 2010 Discusses the lives of some Asian Americans primarily known for their writing including Amy Tan and Jhumpa Lahiri The Semblance of Identity Christopher Lee, 2012-04-18 The history of Asian American literature reveals the ongoing attempt to work through the fraught relationship between identity politics and literary representation This relationship is especially evident in literary works which claim that their content represents the socio-historical world The Semblance of Identity argues that the reframing of the field as a critical rather than identity-based project nonetheless continues to rely on the logics of identity Drawing on the writings of philosopher and literary critic Georg Lukács Christopher Lee identifies a persistent composite figure that he calls the idealized critical subject which provides coherence to oppositional knowledge projects and political practices He reframes identity as an aesthetic figure that tries to articulate the subjective conditions for knowledge Harnessing Theodor Adorno's notion of aesthetic semblance Lee offers an alternative account of identity as a figure akin to modern artwork Like art Lee argues identity provides access to imagined worlds that in turn wage a critique of ongoing histories and realities of racialization This book assembles a transnational archive of literary texts by Eileen Chang Frank Chin Maxine Hong Kingston Chang-rae Lee Michael Ondaatje and Jose Garcia Villa revealing the intersections of subjectivity and representation and drawing our attention to their limits Soul & Form György Lukács, 2010 György Lukács was a Hungarian Marxist philosopher writer and literary critic who shaped mainstream European Communist thought Soul and Form was his first book published in 1910 and it established his reputation treating questions of linguistic expressivity and literary style in the works of Plato Kierkegaard Novalis Sterne and others By isolating the formal techniques these thinkers developed Lukács laid the groundwork for his later work in Marxist aesthetics a field that introduced the historical and political implications of text For this centennial edition John T Sanders and Katie Terezakis add a dialogue entitled On Poverty of Spirit which Lukács wrote at the time of Soul and Form and an introduction by Judith Butler which compares Lukács's key claims to his later work and subsequent movements in literary theory and criticism In an afterword Terezakis continues to trace the Lukácsian system within his writing and other fields These essays explore problems of alienation and isolation and the curative quality of aesthetic form which communicates both individuality and a shared human condition They investigate the elements that give rise to form the history that form implies and the historicity that form embodies Taken together they showcase the breakdown in modern times of an objective aesthetics and the rise of a new art born from lived experience The Columbia Guide to Asian American Literature Since 1945 Guiyou

The Lukacs Reader Arpad Kadarkay,1995-11-06 One of the greatest Marxist theorists of his generation Georg Lukacs was a prolific writer of remarkably catholic if moralistic tastes In The Lukacs Reader his biographer Arpad Kadarkay represents the great range and variety of Lukacs s output The reader includes in original translations and with introductory essays Lukacs on Kierkegaard Shakespeare Ford Strindberg Ibsen Wilde Shaw Gaughin Dostoevsky Nietzsche and Heidegger Also collected are the autobiographical essay On the Poverty of Spirit material from Lukacs s diary and such key articles as Aesthetic Culture The Ideology of Modernism Bolshevism as an Ethical Problem and Class Consciousness What emerges is a figure very much at the centre of European thought whose value to modern culture and philosophy differs markedly from that which received opinion generally admits Inhabited by Stories Nancy A. Barta-Smith,Danette DiMarco,2012-11-30 Intertextuality has signaled change appropriation adaptation and derivation It has focused readers on irresolvable questions of influence and origination progressive or regressive movement across continents periods and media Inhabited by Stories Critical Essays on Tales Retold takes a different approach What would a model of literary study look like that steps out of time s river and embraces not only the presence and proximity of the world to the senses but also of the past and the future to the present here and now When stories inhabit us imagination and memory extend our ability to see and feel Phenomenological experience is lived not just thought Such a perspective suggests that the past and future inhabit the present increase the depth of sensory perception itself and enrich the range of our affective and ethical responses Grounded in the lived experience of reading this perspective offers an alternative to an idea of intertextuality as simply following lines of influence and appropriation It focuses on the expansion of experience created by telling and retelling stories Ironically for literary theorists and critics perhaps the highest form of both praise and critique is a tale retold since such retellings attest to literature s instructive power and its perennial regeneration The Routledge Companion to Asian American and Pacific Islander Literature Rachel Lee,2014-06-05 The Routledge Companion to Asian American and Pacific Islander Literature offers a general introduction as well as a range of critical approaches to this important and expanding field Divided into three sections the volume Introduces keywords connecting the theories themes and methodologies distinctive to Asian American Literature Addresses historical periods geographies and literary identities Looks at different genre form and interdisciplinarity With 41 essays from scholars in the field this collection is a comprehensive guide to a significant area of

Stranger at the Door Kristjana Gunnars, 2011-04-07 At the beginning of a new writing project whether it s the first page of a new novel or a less ambitious project writers often experience exhilaration fear or dread For Kristjana Gunnars the call of a new project is like someone you don t know knocking on your door you either choose to let the person in or not It s both exciting and dangerous to start a new manuscript This book is an engagement with that stranger called writing Creative or imaginative writing is a complex process that involves more than intellect alone Writers make use of everything their sensibilities history culture knowledge experience education and even their biology These essays seek out and gather into a discussion what writers have said about their own experiences in writing Although the writers are from around the world and of very different backgrounds the commonality of their remarks brings home the realization that writers everywhere are grappling with similar problems with the seemingly simple problems of when where why and what to write but also larger questions such as the relationship between writer and society or issues of privacy appropriation or homelessness While none of these questions can be definitively answered they can be fruitfully discussed Originating as questions posed in creative writing seminars these essays have grown into companion texts for both writers and readers who want to participate in a conversation about what writers do

The State of Race Sze Wei Ang, 2019-06-14 Contemporary ideas about race are often assumed to be products of specific locales and histories yet we find versions of the same ideas about race across countries and cultures How can we account for this paradox In The State of Race Sze Wei Ang argues that globalization has led to new ways of using racial stereotypes as shorthand for complex social relations in disparate national contexts Literature then provides a key to understanding these labels and the role that race has played in shoring up state power since World War II Ang contends that in an era marked by global economic dependence the nation state has only become more rather than less central to organizing social life via tropes of race that cast human and cultural differences in morally charged terms Focusing on a series of Asian American and Malaysian texts Ang tracks the significance of two figures in particular the model minority and the communist spy Appearing in novels politics and popular culture these stereotypes anchor powerful narratives about race global capital and state sovereignty In exploring the United States and Malaysia two countries that seem to not have much in common Ang reveals how they share very similar ways of conceptualizing race and sheds light on an emerging global story of value
