A Guardsmans Lot:

A GUARDSMAN'S LOT STEVE RUDGE, 2005-01-10 Steve Rudge writes in graphic and humorous detail his life in the Grenadier Guards from 1966 to 1990 it shows how he matured from a 15 year old boy soldier to becoming a senior Warrant Officer He served in many places around the world and with numerous Armies the reader will enjoy the truthful way that the book is written Harsh and blunt language is used to describe his life for 25 years This book also gives the authors views on the severe amount of stupidity and bullying that he was subjected too by those in authority who had used their Rank and position to fulfill their own aims instead of looking after their subordinates or comrades Congressional Record United States. throughout the entire campaign After the Allied landing at Kalamita Bay Scarlett rallied his regiment at a critical moment during the battle of the Alma supported by his company sergeant who was awarded the VC William Scarlett's life may well have been saved after the battle of Balaklava by becoming an aide de camp to his uncle General James Scarlett the commander of the Heavy Brigade This meant that he did not fight at Inkerman which took a heavy toll on the officers of the Guards Brigade Returning to the trenches early in 1855 William Scarlett was involved in all the phases of the siege of Sebastopol until its fall in September 1855 The survival of 139 previously unpublished letters record Scarlett's deeds and thoughts Written to nineteen different correspondents and deliberately intended by him to form a personal account of his role in the war his letters provide a forceful commentary on the successes and failures of the British army in the East His life before and after the war is well recorded Becoming the third Lord Abinger in 1861 Scarlett was the second English peer to marry an American He built a castle in Scotland where Queen Victoria stayed in 1873 and two of his daughters became notable suffragettes

Jack Hinton, the guardsman Charles James Lever, 1891 Indiana Guardsman, 1991 The National Guardsman, 1976 Armoured Guardsman Robert Boscowan, 2008-12-23 A rare treat a well written account of what it was like to serve as a junior rank in the Brigade of Guards during the Second World War The Guards Magazine The outbreak of World War II brought many changes to Britain's Brigade of Guards The dress parade units had always maintained a full combat capacity and made a relatively easy transition into a new unit the Guards Armoured Division The Guards landed in Normandy on 26 June 1944 and steadily fought their way across northern Europe Robert Boscowan was a tank commander in the 1st Coldstream Guards and had four tanks shot from under him On the fourth occasion he was badly wounded and burned making a difficult postwar recovery The years after the war however also brought both business and political success culminating in a twenty three year career in Parliament Boscowan's account of Britain's elite at war is based on his wartime diaries Tells the author's story in a most readable yet matter of fact way It is one of the finest accounts of armoured warfare that I have ever read and I have no hesitation in recommending it to anyone who has not Tank Regiment Magazine nightmare National Guard bullets killed four students and wounded nine By nightfall the campus was evacuated and the school was closed A generation of college students said they had lost all hope for the System and the future Yet Kent State was not a radical university like Berkeley Columbia or Harvard Although a new mood had been growing among the students in recent years the school was not known for political activity or demonstrations In fact exactly one week before students had held their traditional spring is here mudfight What most alarmed Americans was the knowledge that if this tragedy could occur at Kent State on a campus made up of the children of the Silent Majority and in the heart of Middle America it could happen anywhere But why how did it happen that young Americans in battle helmets gas masks and combat boots confronted other young Americans wearing bell bottom trousers flowered shirts and shoulder length hair What were the issues and why did the confrontation escalate so terribly Would there be future confrontations like the one of May 4 To answer these questions prize winning reporters Eszterhas and Roberts who were on campus on May 4 spent weeks interviewing all the participants in the tragedy They traveled to victims homes and talked to relatives and friends they spoke to National Guardsmen on the firing line and to students who were fired on By putting together hundreds of first person accounts they were able to establish for the first time what actually took place on the day of the shooting
