A History Of British Pewter:

A History of British Pewter John Hatcher, Theodore Cardwell Barker, 1974 Pewter at Colonial Williamsburg John D. Davis, 2003 Pewter was the metal of choice for household goods in England and America in the seventeenth and into the eighteenth centuries Immense quantities of porringers candlesticks plates and other items could be found on both sides of the Atlantic The collection of British pewter at Colonial Williamsburg which illustrates the development of basic forms and types of decoration is remarkable for its breadth and detail The collection also contains a number of American examples that often exhibit regional and individual preferences American and British Pewter John Carl Thomas, 1976 American and British Pewter John Carl Thomas, 1972 Historic Landscapes of Britain from the Air Robin Edgar Glasscock, 1992-10-29 English Medieval Industries John Blair, W. John Blair, Nigel Ramsay, 1991-01-01 English Medieval Industries is an authoritative modern survey of medieval crafts and their products It is heavily illustrated by pictures of surviving objects and contemporary representations of medieval work Each industry is approached by material amongst others stone tin lead copper iron brick glass leather bone and wood discussing its acquisition working and sale as a finished product The contributors are the leading experts in their fields They describe the specialist work that went to make the housing clothing tools vessels and ornaments of medieval people A general bibliography provides a valuable reference tool British Economic Growth, 1270-1870 Stephen Broadberry, Bruce M. S. Campbell, Alexander Klein, Mark Overton, Bas van Leeuwen, 2015-01-22 This is the first systematic quantitative account of British economic growth from the thirteenth century to the Industrial Revolution A Biographical Dictionary of Civil Engineers in Great Britain and Ireland: 1500-1830 A. W. Skempton, 2002 This biographical reference work looks specifically at the lives works and careers of those individuals involved in civil engineering whose careers began before 1830 Standards of Living in the Later Middle Ages Christopher Dyer, 1989-03-09 Between 1200 and 1520 medieval English society went through a series of upheavals this was an age of war pestilence and rebellion This book explores the realities of life of the people who lived through those stirring times It looks in turn at aristocrats peasants townsmen wage earners and paupers and examines how they obtained their incomes and how they spent them This revised edition 1998 includes a substantial new concluding chapter and an updated bibliography Cambridge and Its Economic Region, 1450-1560 John S. Lee, 2005 Lee studies the population wealth trade and markets of Cambridge and its region and the changes that took place over a century of economic and social transition are detailed Hubbub Emily Cockayne, 2008-04-01 A not for the squeamish journey back through the centuries to urban England where the streets are crowded noisy filthy and reeking of smoke and decay Modern city dwellers suffer their share of unpleasant experiences traffic jams noisy neighbors pollution food scares but urban nuisances of the past existed on a different scale entirely this book explains in vivid detail Focusing on offenses to the eyes ears noses taste buds and skin of inhabitants of England s pre Industrial Revolution cities Hubbub transports us to a world in which residents were scarred by smallpox refuse rotted in the streets pigs and dogs roamed free and food hygiene consisted of little more than spit and polish Through the stories of a large cast of characters from varied walks of life the book compares what daily life was like in different cities across England from 1600 to 1770 Using a vast array of sources from novels to records of urban administration to diaries Emily Cockayne populates her book with anecdotes from the quirky lives of the famous and the obscure all of whom confronted urban nuisances and physical ailments Each chapter addresses an unpleasant aspect of city life noise violence moldy food smelly streets poor air quality and the volume is enhanced with a rich array of illustrations Awakening both our senses and our imaginations Cockayne creates a nuanced portrait of early modern English city life unparalleled in breadth and unforgettable in detail

Medieval England Edward Miller, John Hatcher, 2014-06-17 This is the first volume of a two volume study of medieval England covering the period between the Norman Conquest and the Black Death The book opens with a summary portrait of the English economy and society in the reign of William I It goes on to examine in detail the population increase from 1086 to 1349 and to investigate the structure of society where relationships were rooted in the dependence of man upon man

The Business Community of Seventeenth-Century England Richard Grassby, 2002-11-07 A comprehensive study of the business community in a pre industrial economy

The Material Culture of English Rural Households c. 1250-1600 Ben Jervis, Chris Briggs, Alice Forward, Tomasz Gromelski, Matthew Tompkins, 2023-09-20 This book presents a synthesis and analysis of the possessions of non elite rural households in medieval England Drawing on the results of the Leverhulme Trust funded project Living Standards and Material Culture in English Rural Households 1300 1600 it represents the first national scale interdisciplinary analysis of non elite consumption in the later Middle Ages The research is situated within debates around rising living standards in the period following the Black Death the commercialisation of the English economy and the timing of a revolution in consumer behaviour Its novelty derives from its focus on non elite rural households Whilst there has been considerable work on the possessions of the great households and those living in larger towns researchers have struggled to identify appropriate sources for understanding the possessions of those living in the countryside even though they account for the majority of England's population at this time This book will address the gap in understanding The study combines 3 sources of data to address 2 questions what goods did medieval households own and what influenced their consumption habits The first is archaeological evidence comprising 14 706 objects recovered from archaeological excavations The book synthesises this data much of which is unpublished and therefore inaccessible to researchers The second dataset derives from lists of the seized goods of felons outlaws and suicides collated by the Escheator a royal official in the 14th and 15th centuries The work of the Escheator is not well understood but these lists relating to some of the poorest people in medieval society for whom traditional sources such as wills and probate inventories do not exist provide new insights into the living standards of rural households The lists typically detail and value the possessions of a household meaning that it is possible to present a quantitative analysis of non elite consumption for the first time The final dataset draws on equivalent lists generated by the Coroner for the 16th century An interdisciplinary approach is essential as many objects identified archaeologically do not occur in the written records and goods such as textiles do not survive in the ground Drawing these sources together therefore allows the presentation of a more comprehensive analysis of the possessions of medieval households The introduction lays out the research context in a manner accessible to historians and archaeologists who may not be familiar with work in each other's disciplines This is followed by a brief summary of the research methodology and the sources underpinning the research The next 5 chapters focus on addressing the question of what medieval households owned discussing the evidence for kitchen equipment tableware furniture clothing and personal items The following 3 chapters discuss household economy considering the evidence for the production of goods variation in consumption between town and country and variation in accordance with wealth firstly through the consideration of these themes at the national scale and secondly through a regional case study focussed on Wiltshire which has particularly rich archaeological and documentary sources The volume closes with a concluding chapter which places the research back into its wider context

Inward Purity and Outward Splendour Judith Middleton-Stewart, 2001 A record of material and spiritual gifts to churches compiled from 3000 wills made over 180 years Reads like a medieval detective story A splendid book should be treated as a companion volume to The Stripping of the Altars JULIAN LITTEN CHURCH TIMES In the late medieval churches of the former deanery of Dunwich there are many features which were provided by testamentary gifts this study of three thousand wills from fifty two Suffolk parishes written between 1370 and 1547 records such material and spiritual bequests Many purchased prayer the prayers of the poor being particularly sought vital for the swift passage of the soul through Purgatory other testators left instructions for the acquisition of liturgical books church plate and embroidered vestments Gifts and outright donations also provided stained glass seven sacrament fonts and rood screens which have survived The wills give no hint of the destruction that was to come a medieval chancel with vacant niches and whitewashed walls says more than the wills are prepared to tell but the pennies and shillings which had helped towards building expenses in this coastal district of East Anglia produced at least two of the finest parish churches in the country within a few decades of the Reformation The late JUDITH MIDDLETON STEWART was a tutor for the Board of Continuing Education for the universities of Cambridge and East Anglia

The Economy of Obligation C. Muldrew, 2016-07-27 This book is an excellent work of scholarship It seeks to redefine the early modern English economy by rejecting the concept of capitalism and instead explores the cultural meaning of credit resulting from the way in which it was economically structured It is a major argument of the book that money was used only in a limited number of exchanges and that credit in terms of household reputation was a cultural currency of trust used to transact most business As the market expanded in the late sixteenth century such trust became harder to maintain leading to an explosion of debt litigation which in turn resulted in social relations being partially redefined in terms of contractual equality Pewter Charles Hull, 2008-03-04 Introduced to Britain by the Romans the pewter trade became widespread in the middle ages and English pewter became renowned for its high quality This book traces the history of pewter manufacture in Britain describing the alloys used the methods of working and the objects produced Medieval Statistics Mark Casson, John S. Lee, 2024-12-26 This book is the first to systematically examine the sources of medieval statistics It will be useful as a handbook for researchers in financial and cultural history as a history of financial record keeping and as a review of recent research into medieval finance and accounting based on statistical sources Medieval statistics provide a unique window on the past Medieval documents produced by royal governments monastic and ecclesiastical institutions urban boroughs and legal cases for debt recovery provide a mine of useful information on economic life and financial affairs They show that medieval administration was far more numerate and far more sophisticated than is usually recognized This book provides a comprehensive review of the key sources written by leading experts in the field The strengths and weaknesses of each source are reviewed using original documents for illustration and discussing examples from the recent literature The book is mainly concerned with English statistics as they have survived particularly well in both state and private records but which showcase the potential of digital technology in enabling systematic study of medieval primary sources where large databases can now be compiled from original manuscripts This edited volume will be a valuable tool for those working in financial cultural and political history as it seeks to analyse the various ways in which medieval life was documented numerically and the ways in which this information was used within existing power structures Consumer Behaviour and Material Culture in Britain, 1660-1760 Lorna Weatherill, 2002-09-11 This is a detailed study of the material lives of the middle classes in the pre industrial era a period which saw considerable growth in consumption Lorna Weatherill has brought her highly important survey up to date in the light of new research She provides a new introduction and bibliography taking account of the latest academic writing and methodological advances including computing and offers further conclusions about her work and its place in current literature Three main types of documentation are used to construct the overall picture diaries household accounts and probate inventories In investigating these sources she interprets the social meaning of material goods and then goes on to relate this evidence to the social structures of Britain by wealth status and locality Breaking new ground in focusing on households and the use of probate inventories Weatherill has provided a book which gives both a general account of the domestic environment of the period and a scholarly analysis of the data on consumption patterns Made in Lancashire Geoffrey Timmins, 1998-12-15 Presents a new perspective on the Industrial Revolution providing far more than just an account of industrial change Looks at the development of the economic structures and includes chapters on financing the revolution technological change markets and demand transport and food The final section looks at economic change and its impact and includes chapters on demography the household families authority and regulation and the built environment Providing a complete summary of the various debates in the literature on this period making a strong case for re introducing a regional approach to the history of the age
