A Fragile Marriage Presents:

The Wedding Present Louise Purbrick, 2016-02-17 In this fascinating work Louise Purbrick offers an alternative analysis of contemporary domestic consumption She investigates the ritualized presentation of objects upon marriage and their subsequent cycles of exchange within the domestic sphere Focusing on gift giving in Britain from 1945 to the present comparative context is provided by material from North America and Europe Presenting new material on the enactment of exchange relationships within everyday domesticity the book makes significant historical theoretical and methodological contributions to the analysis of contemporary consumption It also re evaluates consumption theory as well as examining the methodology of recent studies in consumption and domesticity pressing for a more rigorous approach to the use of case studies By considering how the specific contexts in which consumption occurs such as married domesticity can limit possible versions of selfhood The Wedding Present tests the assumption that consuming creates individual identities Thus the book argues consumption cannot be isolated as an explanation of individual or social formation *Dr. Harcourt's Assistant. Black,B.S. Yamey,2017-07-12 Contemporary problems of economic and social change have obliged social scientists from different fields to learn much about each others work as well as about the specific problems they are together seeking to solve The bearing of economic conditions on the character of a social system has become more apparent to anthropologists and similarly economists have become more aware of the relevance of social factors to economic decisions This pioneering book is at the point of contact between these two disciplines presenting detailed studies from many societies of the interaction between social and economic relationships The studies in this volume all by social anthropologists focus on the formation and management of capital since this process is central to the economic functioning and growth of all societies With this central theme the essays cover a very wide geographic range and an equally wide range of social and economic structures The book begins with an essay by Firth who provides an extended outline discussion of the main problems and issues to be covered and ends with an essay by Yamey who provides summarizing comments and queries The volume will be especially useful to those concerned with the problems and prospects of economic and social change in underdeveloped areas in addition to economists and anthropologists concerned with what each can learn from the other

1 John, Revised and Extended L. Daniel Cantey Jr., 2021-07-28 In 1 John On Docetism and Resurrection 2016 the author elucidated the fundamental principles driving the modern order The latter works according to a novel form of salvation an ontology unto dissolution that the author recognizes as a new manifestation of the ancient heresy of docetism The modern heresy turns on faith in the Christ Idol an idolatry hidden for centuries beneath the cover of Western Christianity Its theological solution requires renewed engagement with the Trinitarian love understanding that love as a function of mutual life giving between the divine persons The revised and extended version of 1 John assumes the undoing of Western society under the docetic ethos seeking theological foundations for the society that might follow It details the meaning of various aspects of docetic modern society through a Johannine lens explaining these aspects as forms of oppression The author counters these through the Eastern Orthodox focus on the inner life over the external one the spiritual world over the

Jenkins, 2014-03-18 More than twenty years ago a disillusioned college graduate named Peter Jenkins set out with his dog Cooper to look for himself and his nation His memoir of what he found A Walk Across America captured the hearts of millions of Americans Now Peter is a bit older married with a family and his journeys are different than they were Perhaps he is looking for adventure perhaps inspiration perhaps new communities perhaps unspoiled land Certainly he found all of this and more in Alaska America's last wilderness Looking for Alaska is Peter's account of eighteen months spent traveling over twenty thousand miles in tiny bush planes on snow machines and snowshoes in fishing boats and kayaks on the Alaska Marine Highway and the Haul Road searching for what defines Alaska Hearing the amazing stories of many real Alaskans from Barrow to Craig Seward to Deering and everywhere in between Peter gets to know this place in the way that only he can His resulting portrait is a rare and unforgettable depiction of a dangerous and beautiful land and all the people that call it home He also took his wife and eight year old daughter with him settling into a home base in Seward on the Kenai Peninsula coming and going from there and hosting the rest of their family for extended visits The way his family lived how they made Alaska their home and even participated in Peter's explorations is as much a part of this story as Peter's own travels All in all Jenkins delivers a warm funny awe inspiring and memorable diary of discovery both of this place that captures all of our imaginations and of himself all over again The Ballad of the Sad Cafe - Carson McCullers Harold Bloom, 2009 A collection of critical essays on McCullers' fictional work The ballad of the sad cafe Ruined Eden of the Present Gary Richard Thompson, Virgil Llewellyn Lokke, 1981 A recurrent idea in Darrel Abel's criticism of the works of Hawthorne gives this volume its title The idea of a fallen world and its potential for partial redemption through art and the art of criticism is a theme that weaves in and out of the sixteen essays The volume as a whole displays an explicit and implicit concern with critical approaches and reflects an awareness of the fictiveness of critical resolutions in a world in which boundaries are constantly under challenge for example those which divide textuality from contextuality This collection of essays explores the problems the practical critic and teacher has had to face in the shifts in taste assumptions and methodology in the moves from moral and historical criticism to the New Criticism and to the newer linguistic and semiotic criticism Bow Bells, 1866
