A Grammar Of Mina Mouton Grammar Library 36:

A Grammar of Mina Zygmunt Frajzyngier, Eric Johnston, 2011-06-03 A Grammar of Mina is a reference grammar of a hitherto undescribed and endangered Central Chadic language. The book contains a description of the phonology, morphology, syntax, and all the functional domains encoded by this language. For each hypothesis regarding a form of linguistic expression and its function, ample evidence is given. The description of formal means and of the functions coded by these means is couched in terms accessible to all linguists regardless of their theoretical orientations. The outstanding characteristics of Mina include vowel harmony, use of phonological means including vowel deletion and vowel retention to code phrasal boundaries, two tense and aspectual systems, each system carrying a different pragmatic function, a lexical category, locative predicator, hitherto not observed in other languages, some tense, aspect, and mood markers that occur before the verb and others that occur after the verb, the markers of interrogative and negative modality that occur in clause final position, the conjunction used for a conjoined noun phrase in the subject function that differs from the conjunction used for a conjoined noun phrase in all other functions. In addition to the coding of argument structure, adjuncts, tense, aspect, and mood categories, Mina also codes the category point of view. The language has a clausal category, comment clause, used in both simple and complex sentences, which overtly marks the speaker's comment on the proposition. The discourse structure has the principle of unity of place. If one of the participants in a described event changes scene, that is coded by a special syntactic construction, in addition to any verb of movement that may be used. Because of these unusual linguistic characteristics, the Grammar of Mina will be of interest to a wide range of linguists. Modality-aspect Interfaces Werner Abraham, Elisabeth Leiss, 2008. The main topics pursued in this volume are based on empirical insights derived from Germanic, logical, and typological dispositions about aspect-modality links. These are probed in a variety of non-related languages. The logically establishable links are the following: Modal verbs are aspect-sensitive in the selection of their infinitival complements; embedded infinitival perfectivity implies root modal reading, whereas embedded infinitival imperfectivity triggers epistemic readings. However, in marked contexts such as negated ones, the aspectual affinities of modal verbs are neutralized or even subject to markedness inversion. All of this suggests that languages that do not or only partially bestow upon full modal verb paradigms seek to express modal variations in terms of their aspect oppositions. This typological tenet is investigated in a variety of languages from Indo-European, German, Slavic, Armenian, African, Asian, Amerindian, and Creoles. Seeming deviations and idiosyncrasies in the interaction between aspect and modality turn out to be highly rule-based. Journal of African Languages and Linguistics, 2007. A Grammar of Sunwar Dörte Borchers, 2008. This description of Sunwar, an endangered Tibeto-Burman language spoken in eastern Nepal, is based on extensive field work by the author and contains a chapter with background information on the Sunwar language, its speakers, and their culture, followed by sections on the phonology, the indigenous writing system, and the morphology of Sunwar Verb paradigms, glossed texts, a Sunwar-English glossary, and bibliographical references are also presented Contact between the Sunwar and Nepali languages resulted in language change most visible in the verbal system where the older biactantial agreement system typical for Kiranti languages disappeared and suffix conjugations emerged This book will interest those interested in descriptive linguistics language change and languages of South Asia Linguistics ,2006 Similative and Equative Constructions Yvonne Treis,Martine Vanhove,2017-05-31 While comparative constructions have been extensively studied in the past decades the expression of equality and similarity has so far attracted little attention in the typological literature The fifteen contributions assembled in this volume study similative and equative constructions in typologically and genetically distant languages albeit with a focus on Africa and from a range of perspectives Purely synchronically oriented case studies are supplemented by contributions that also shed light on the diachronic development of similative and equative constructions in language contact situations Sources of similative morphemes and lexically expressed concepts of likeness are examined and little known multifunctionality patterns and grammaticalisation targets of similative morphemes such as purpose clause markers modality morphemes and markers of glottonyms are discussed Based on a sample of 119 languages worldwide a new typology of equative constructions is proposed The book should be of interest to typologists semanticists specialists of grammaticalization historical linguistics and syntax Languages of the Greater Himalayan Region, Volume 7 A Grammar of Sunwar Dörte Borchers,2008-05-31 This description of Sunwar an endangered Tibeto Burman language spoken in eastern Nepal is based on extensive field work by the author and contains a chapter with background information on the Sunwar language its speakers and their culture followed by sections on the phonology the indigenous writing system and the morphology of Sunwar Verb paradigms glossed texts a Sunwar English glossary and bibliographical references are also presented Contact between the Sunwar and Nepali languages resulted in language change most visible in the verbal system where the older biactantial agreement system typical for Kiranti languages disappeared and suffix conjugations emerged This book will interest those interested in descriptive linguistics language change and languages of South Asia web stoichiometric calculations involving masses of pure solid or liquid phase substances mass to mass or mass to mole conversions objective given the mass one species be able to predict the mass another species consumed or produced from mass relationships in chemical equations lardbucket org - Jun 30 2023

web learning objective to calculate the quantities of compounds produced or consumed in a chemical reaction a balanced chemical equation gives the identity of the reactants and the products as well as the accurate number of molecules or

6 4 mass relationships and chemical equations chemistry - Aug 21 2022

web jul 6 2022 the balanced chemical reaction can be spent to determine molar relationships between chemicals 6 4 mass relationships and chemical equations chemistry libretexts chemistry computing formula mass worksheet stoichiometry article chemical reactions khan academy - Sep 21 2022 web in this article we ll look at how we can use the stoichiometric relationships contained in balanced chemical equations to determine amounts of substances consumed and produced in chemical reactions balanced equations and mole ratios

example problem of mass relations in balanced equations - Mar 28 2023

web jul 4 2019 solution from the balanced equation it is known that 1 mol n₂ 2 mol nh₃ use the periodic table to look at the atomic weights of the elements and calculate the weights of the reactants and products 1 mol of n₂ 28 0 g 1 mol of nh₃ is 17 0 g chapter 3 mass relationships in chemical reactions - Dec 25 2022 web solution average atomic mass of li 6 941 amu x 6 0151 amu 1 x 7 0160 amu 6 941 1 0009x 7 0160 1 0009x 0 075 x 0 075 x 0 075 corresponds to a natural abundance of 6li of 7 5 percent the natural abundance of 7li is x 0 925 or 92 5 percent 3 7 the unit factor required is 6 022

web mass relationships in equations answer key 1 mass relationships in equations answer key representing a relationship with an equation video chemteam stoichiometry mass mass examples chapter 3 mass relationships in chemical reactions 5 02 stoichiometry of chemical reactions mass mass relationships

6 4 mass relationships and chemical equations - Oct 03 2023

web it is a small step from mole mass calculations to mass mass calculations if we start with a known mass of one substance in a chemical reaction instead of a known number of moles we can calculate the corresponding masses of other substances in the reaction answer key week 6 lesson 6 2 mass relationships in - Jun 18 2022 web topic mass relationships in chemical reactions materials textbook iupac periodic table scientific calculator pen and paper exercise a instruction after watching the two video files videos 24 and 25 solve the problems by yourself without looking into the video anymore items 1 2

3 4 mass relationships in chemical equations - Sep 02 2023

web jul 4 2022 to calculate the mass of titanium metal that you can obtain multiply the number of moles of titanium by the molar mass of titanium 47.867 g/mol moles ti mass ti times molar mass ti $4.12 \text{ mol ti} \times 47.867 \text{ g/mol ti} = 197 \text{ g ti}$ notag
