Clair T. Berube, 2010-06-01 American science education is in trouble As the United States continues to lag behind other nations in science achievement the question is asked how can we better get our students excited and inspired by science This is the science teacher's duty The irony of the education profession is that some of the most important aspects of it are the hardest to measure and replicate The things that matter most can be the hardest to quantify Some teachers can know the different learning styles intelligences and brain preferences of their students They can know best practices of how to deliver instruction They can do all these things and more but still not convey imagination and passion for science to their students But some science teachers do inspire These special teachers seem to possess something the others don't but what is it Exceptional science teachers make us feel better about ourselves through their teaching of science and bring us to a higher quality of life as a result while some science teachers can be the leading researchers in their fields yet leave us flat What is the recipe for this unique special teacher And why is it so hard to explain and describe The objective of this book is to uncover these aspects of teaching that are so hard to measure and quantify This is achieved through interviewing people who are either current or retired teachers or who were positively affected by a teacher and also through case studies of exceptional teachers in order to quantify and explain the exact traits and personality quirks of these exceptional people The contribution to the field of education this book hopes to achieve is the examination of the question why do some teachers have that X factor what exactly is it and how can we all have it Decolonizing EFL Writing Education Shizhou Yang, 2025-01-15 Arguably the first book length exploration of decolonizing English as a Foreign Language EFL writing education this novel volume uses poetic autoethnography to provide a situated dynamic and complex view of multilingual writers through their second language L2 academic writing and creative writing Responding to contemporary calls to decolonize L2 writing as a field and diversify academic writing for multilingual students this book is the first of its kind to explore the decolonization of EFL writing education from a Global Southern context Chapters critically and creatively consider issues of educational technologies translanguaging academic writing epistemology and pedagogy from two writing courses from a Global South and classroom writing ecology perspective Using poetic autoethnography alongside data from authentic writing classrooms in Thailand the book posits that emergent translanguaging literature can be cultivated for decolonization purposes critiquing and providing decolonial options in such areas as monolingual ideology freewriting student identity and mind Empowering EFL writing teachers to raise students critical awareness of issues such as writing culture and coloniality this book will be of key interest to researchers scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of applied linguistics Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL L2 writing multilingual education and language policy and planning Choice ,2002 Library Bulletins ,1897 Library Bulletins Columbia University. Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1900 The Educational Times, and Journal of the College of Preceptors ,1902 A New History of Classical Rhetoric George A. Kennedy,2009-07-01 George Kennedy s three volumes on classical rhetoric have long been regarded as authoritative treatments of the subject This new volume an extensive revision and abridgment of The Art of Persuasion in Greece The Art of Rhetoric in the Roman World and Greek Rhetoric under Christian Emperors provides a comprehensive history of classical rhetoric one that is sure to become a standard for its time Kennedy begins by identifying the rhetorical features of early Greek literature that anticipated the formulation of metarhetoric or a theory of rhetoric in the fifth and fourth centuries b c e and then traces the development of that theory through the Greco Roman period He gives an account of the teaching of literary and oral composition in schools and of Greek and Latin oratory as the primary rhetorical genre He also discusses the overlapping disciplines of ancient philosophy and religion and their interaction with rhetoric The result is a broad and engaging history of classical rhetoric that will prove especially useful for students and for others who want an overview of classical rhetoric in condensed form The Electrician ,1898 The Electrical Journal ,1898 New England Journal of Education Thomas Williams Bicknell,Albert Edward Winship,Anson Wood Belding,1877

Enjoying the Track of Term: An Emotional Symphony within A Guide To Teaching The Craft Of Agument Teacher39s Edition

In some sort of eaten by screens and the ceaseless chatter of immediate conversation, the melodic beauty and psychological symphony created by the prepared word usually fade in to the background, eclipsed by the constant noise and interruptions that permeate our lives. But, nestled within the pages of A Guide To Teaching The Craft Of Agument Teacher39s Edition a charming fictional treasure brimming with fresh emotions, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by an outstanding musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on a psychological journey, skillfully unraveling the hidden melodies and profound affect resonating within each carefully crafted phrase. Within the depths of this poignant examination, we will examine the book is main harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing style, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
