Cooperation and fighting of male sexual crimes Dimitris Liakopoulos,2019-04-01 Document from the year 2019 in the subject Law European and International Law Intellectual Properties Tufts University language English abstract The focus of this book is the analysis of male sexual crimes in international criminal justice The first part of the present research work is focused on the legal analysis of the relevant articles of international criminal court s Statute regarding the obligation of cooperation between states for the punishment of serious crimes against humanity and war Judicial development starting with the ad hoc tribunals

and arriving at causes at various stages of proceedings still ongoing in the International Criminal Court ICC opens doctrinal and comparative national debates especially in the case of lacking states cooperation seeking to elaborate specific topics such as the obligation of states cooperation requests for assistance during preliminary investigations during inquires and confidential information Court assistance to states parties participating in the Statute suspending the execution of a request the role of the prosecutor and the non assistance of some states impede the development and operation of international criminal justice The second part has attempted to analyze sexual crimes and especially the crime of male rape The jurisprudence of international criminal tribunals and the ICC have tried to qualify rape either as a crime of genocide in the form of serious and physical injuries even if not necessarily permanent let b Art 6 of the Rome Statute or as a crime against humanity where there are elements of context and above all material elements that emerge from the definitions given by the ad hoc tribunals and the elements of crimes or even as a war crime in case it is implemented to that of sexual violence according to a gender specific relationship to speciem Judges through the jurisprudence have included in this context any conduct of a sexual type of aggression to human dignity that does not consist in an act of penetration and that does not involve physical contact The contrasts are always open Due to the lack of dealing with a particular crime and difficult to prove it or testify before an international court The indication on the level of gravity of the crime is necessary for the relevance of sexual violence and rape as crimes against humanity that we will see in the coming years

Victims of International Crimes: An Interdisciplinary Discourse Thorsten Bonacker, Christoph Safferling, 2013-07-09 In international law victims issues have gained more and more attention over the last decades In particular in transitional justice processes the victim is being given high priority It is to be seen in this context that the Rome Statute for the International Criminal Court foresees a rather excessive victim participation concept in criminal prosecution In this volume issue is taken at first with the definition of victims and secondly with the role of the victim as a witness and as a participant Several chapters address this matter with a view to the International Criminal Court ICC the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia ECCC and the Trial against Demjanjuk in Germany In a third part the interests of the victims outside the criminal trial are being discussed In the final part the role of civil society actors are being tackled This volume thus gives an overview of the role of victims in transitional justice processes from an interdisciplinary angle combining academic research and practical experience Courts Cassia Spohn, Craig Hemmens, 2009 Courts A Text Reader provides the best of both worlds authored text Sections with carefully selected accompanying Readings that illustrate the questions and controversies legal scholars and court researchers are investigating in the 21st century The articles from leading journals in criminology and criminal justice reflect both classic studies of the criminal court system and state of the art research and often have a policy perspective that makes them more applied less theoretical and more interesting to both undergraduate and graduate students This unique Text Reader is primarily intended for undergraduate and graduate courses on the criminal court system and or judicial processes BOOK JACKET Child-friendly Justice Said Mahmoudi, Pernilla Leviner, Anna Kaldal, Katrin Lainpelto, 2015-07-14 Child friendly Justice assesses how the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child has affected the development of child law and the promotion of children s rights in the past twenty five years Its 24 studies probe a broad variety of issues relating to children s contact with civil administrative and criminal justice systems the protection of child integrity and their right to participation information and proper representation The contributors all experts on child related matters represent international organisations academia and NGOs They provide a clear picture of the origins of the current problems in realising child friendly justice and they discuss possible solutions The Canadian Judiciary William R. Lederman, Canadian Institute for the Administration of Justice, 1976
