Gerdts, Patricia Trenton, 2003-11-10 Presenting interpreting and celebrating the world renowned and the lesser known California artists who have uniquely defined and redefined the still life this volume offers an exploration of the sensual pleasures the aesthetic challenges and the intellectual and perceptual associations of a century of art through the prism of a single genre BOOK JACKET Information Arts Stephen Wilson, 2003-02-28 An introduction to the work and ideas of artists who use and even influence science and technology A new breed of contemporary artist engages science and technology not just to adopt the vocabulary and gizmos but to explore and comment on the content agendas and possibilities Indeed proposes Stephen Wilson the role of the artist is not only to interpret and to spread scientific knowledge but to be an active partner in determining the direction of research Years ago C P Snow wrote about the two cultures of science and the humanities these developments may finally help to change the outlook of those who view science and technology as separate from the general culture In this rich compendium Wilson offers the first comprehensive survey of international artists who incorporate concepts and research from mathematics the physical sciences biology kinetics telecommunications and experimental digital systems such as artificial intelligence and ubiquitous computing In addition to visual documentation and statements by the artists Wilson examines relevant art theoretical writings and explores emerging scientific and technological research likely to be culturally significant in the future He also provides lists of resources including organizations publications conferences museums research centers and Web sites Technoculture Constance Penley, Andrew Ross, 1991 Case studies of groups including high tech office workers Star trek fans Japanese technoporn producers teenage hackers AIDS activists rap groups and rock stars yield insights about the production and management of repressive technocultures as well as new possibilities for the encouragement of technoliteracy a requirement for the democratization of social communication Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Time & Bits Margaret MacLean, Ben H. Davis, 1998 This series acquaints professionals and students with issues and technologies in the production management and dissemination of cultural heritage information resources Explores the long term implications of relying on current digital technology to preserve our cultural memory Averting the Digital Dark Age Ian Milligan, 2024-12-10 How the internet s memory infrastructure developed averting a digital dark age and introduced a golden age of historical memory In early 1996 the web was ephemeral But by 2001 the internet was forever How did websites transform from having a brief life to becoming long lasting Drawing on archival material from the Internet Archive and exclusive interviews Ian Milligan's Averting the Digital Dark Age explores how Western society evolved from fearing a digital dark age to building the robust digital memory we rely on today By the mid 1990s the specter of a digital dark age haunted libraries portending a bleak future with no historical record that threatened cyber obsolescence deletion and apathy People around the world worked to solve this impending problem In San Francisco technology entrepreneur Brewster Kahle launched his scrappy nonprofit Internet Archive filling tape drives with internet content Elsewhere in Washington Canberra Ottawa and Stockholm librarians developed innovative new programs to safeguard digital heritage Cataloging worries among librarians technologists futurists and writers from WWII onward through early practitioners to an extended case study of how September 11 prompted institutions to preserve thousands of digital artifacts related to the attacks Averting the Digital Dark Age explores how the web gained a long lasting memory By understanding this history we can equip our society to better grapple with future internet shifts

Adrift in the Technological Matrix David L. Erben, 2003 Technology continues to transform the world with a process that seems to be constantly accelerating The struggle to understand the way the new computer and communications technologies are transforming the world is many sided What the essays collected in this issue of the Bucknell Review attempt is a general cultural approach to the notion of there being a technological matrix in which we all now find ourselves adrift and of which our experience is often dread Adrift and dread are not single metaphors in the collection In order to attempt this interrogation of the technological matrix the essayists have drawn from a variety of disciplines literature philosophy religion art media studies while retaining the substantial contributions of previous theorists of technology The main thrust of this collection is to underscore the vast enrichment given to a study of the new technologies when approached from a broad cultural standpoint

Transmedia Frictions Marsha Kinder, Tara McPherson, 2021-03-16 Editors Marsha Kinder and Tara McPherson present an authoritative collection of essays on the continuing debates over medium specificity and the politics of the digital arts Comparing the term transmedia with transnational they show that the movement beyond specific media or nations does not invalidate those entities but makes us look more closely at the cultural specificity of each combination In two parts the book stages debates across essays creating dialogues that give different narrative accounts of what is historically and ideologically at stake in medium specificity and digital politics Each part includes a substantive introduction by one of the editors Part 1 examines precursors contemporary theorists and artists who are protagonists in this discursive drama focusing on how the transmedia frictions and continuities between old and new forms can be read most productively N Katherine Hayles and Lev Manovich redefine medium specificity Edward Branigan and Yuri Tsivian explore nondigital precursors Steve Anderson and Stephen Mamber assess contemporary archival histories and Grahame Weinbren and Caroline Bassett defend the open ended mobility of newly emergent media In part 2 trios of essays address various ideologies of the digital John Hess and Patricia R Zimmerman Herman Gray and David Wade Crane

Hertzian Tales Anthony Dunne, 2008-09-26 How design can improve the quality of our everyday lives by engaging the invisible electromagnetic environment in which we live As our everyday social and cultural experiences are increasingly mediated by electronic products from intelligent toasters to iPods it is the design of these products that shapes our experience of the electrosphere in which we live Designers of electronic products writes Anthony Dunne in Hertzian Tales must begin to think more broadly about the aesthetic role of electronic products in everyday life Industrial design has the potential to enrich our daily lives to improve the quality of our relationship to the artificial environment of technology and even argues Dunne to be subverted for socially beneficial ends The cultural speculations and conceptual design proposals in Hertzian Tales are not utopian visions or blueprints instead they embody a critique of present day practices mixing criticism with optimism Six essays explore design approaches for developing the aesthetic potential of electronic products outside a commercial context considering such topics as the post optimal object and the aesthetics of user unfriendliness and five proposals offer commentary in the form of objects videos and images These include Electroclimates animations on an LCD screen that register changes in radio frequency When Objects Dream consumer products that dream in electromagnetic waves Thief of Affection which steals radio signals from cardiac pacemakers Tuneable Cities which uses the car as it drives through overlapping radio environments as an interface of hertzian and physical space and the Faraday Chair Negative Radio enclosed in a transparent but radio opaque shield Very little has changed in the world of design since Hertzian Tales was first published by the Royal College of Art in 1999 writes Dunne in his preface to this MIT Press edition Design is not engaging with the social cultural and ethical implications of the technologies it makes so sexy and consumable His project and proposals challenge it to do so

Sweet Dreams Johanna Drucker, 2006-09-25 Surveying a wide range of exciting and innovative artists Drucker demonstrates their clear departure from the past petitioning viewers and critics to shift their terms and sensibilities as well
