Environmental education in the schools creating a program that works. , Developing School Leaders in the Pacific Narsamma Lingam,Govinda Ishwar Lingam,2023-08-31 This book provides detailed insights on the training and development for Pacific Island school leaders It draws extensively on original empirical research that explores school leaders perceptions of how leadership and management training impacted their professional practices and how these practices in turn impacted the dynamics of school operations This book addresses a critical need to understand how to support leadership development for all Pacific schools but especially in schools that are faced with the increasing challenges of learning and teaching conditions In small island developing states in the Pacific region school leaders face a myriad of challenges due to limited human and material resources and a fragile economic base Written by Pacific Islander authors this book provides insights from different countries in the Pacific Islands It shows how contextual challenges can exert enormous pressure on school leaders who are leading and managing schools without any leadership preparation Given the importance of effective leadership practices and its impact on student learning outcomes this book aims to be a source of reference for practitioners and educational authorities who have a vested interest in the provision of quality education in the Pacific region and beyond

Resources in Education ,2001-10 Directory of Organizations & Researchers in Educational Management ,1984 Schools as Community Hubs Benjamin Cleveland,Sarah Backhouse,Philippa Chandler,Ian McShane,Janet M. Clinton,Clare Newton,2023-04-19 This open access book brings together research on the planning design governance and management of schools as community hubs places that support the development of better connected more highly integrated and more resilient communities with education at the centre It explores opportunities and difficulties associated with bringing schools and communities closer together with a focus on the facilities needed to accommodate shared experiences that generate social capital and deliver reciprocal benefits This book discusses the expanded roles of schools and investigates how schools may offer more to their communities historically currently and into the future with respect to the role of the built environment in situating community activities and services Organised around four sections it showcases important areas of development in the field via an interdisciplinary approach which weaves together empirical research with theoretical insights and practical examples This book not only highlights the challenges associated with the development of schools as community hubs but offers evidence based insights into how to overcome such hurdles to develop community facing schools into the future Handbook of Classroom Management Carolyn M. Evertson,Carol S. Weinstein,2013-10-31 Classroom management is a topic of enduring concern for teachers administrators and the public It consistently ranks as the first or second most serious educational problem in the eyes of the general public and beginning teachers consistently rank it as their most pressing concern during their early teaching years Management problems continue to be a major cause of teacher burnout and job dissatisfaction Strangely despite this enduring concern on the part of educators and the public few researchers have chosen to focus on classroom management or to identify themselves with this critical field The Handbook of Classroom Management has four primary goals 1 to clarify the term classroom management 2 to demonstrate to scholars and practitioners that there is a distinct body of knowledge that directly addresses teachers managerial tasks 3 to bring together disparate lines of research and encourage conversations across different areas of inquiry and 4 to promote a vigorous agenda for future research in this area To this end 47 chapters have been organized into 10 sections each chapter written by a recognized expert in that area Cutting across the sections and chapters are the following themes First positive teacher student relationships are seen as the very core of effective classroom management Second classroom management is viewed as a social and moral curriculum Third external reward and punishment strategies are not seen as optimal for promoting academic and social emotional growth and self regulated behavior Fourth to create orderly productive environments teachers must take into account student characteristics such as age developmental level race ethnicity cultural background socioeconomic status and ableness Like other research handbooks the Handbook of Classroom Management provides an indispensable reference volume for scholars teacher educators in service practitioners and the academic libraries serving these audiences It is also appropriate for graduate courses wholly or partly devoted to the study of classroom management

Equity and Inclusion in Education Finding Strength through Diversity OECD,2023-01-31 Governments and education policy makers are increasingly concerned with equity and inclusion in education due to several major global trends such as demographic shifts migration and refugee crises rising inequalities and climate change These developments have contributed to increasing diversity within national populations and flagged some concerns around the ability of education systems to be equitable and inclusive of all students Urgent Care for Schools ,2024-12-09 What can schools do differently to reach more students What can educators do to address an urgent need to provide meaningful memorable and fulfilling learning experiences By viewing curriculum through a lens of situated responsibility it is possible to engage students in authentic and purpose based learning This book is about expanding the student identity to include that of becoming service providers injustice responders action researchers designers apprentices and teachers This book features a collection of international stories written by students and their advisors who care deeply about their education and supporting others There is much we

Deindustrialization white flight and inner city poverty have spelled trouble for Baltimore schools Marion Orr now examines why school reform has been difficult to achieve there revealing the struggles of civic leaders and the limitations placed on Baltimore's African American community as each has tried to rescue a failing school system Examining the interplay between government and society Orr presents the first systematic analysis of social capital both within the African American community black social capital and outside it where social capital crosses racial lines Orr shows that while black social capital may have created solidarity against white domination in Baltimore it hampered African American leaders capacity to enlist the cooperation from white corporate elites and suburban residents needed for school reform Orr examines social capital at the neighborhood level in elite level interactions and in intergovernmental relations to argue that black social capital doesn't necessarily translate into the kind of intergroup coalition needed to bring about school reform He also includes an extensive historical survey of the black community showing how distrust engendered by past black experiences has hampered the formation of significant intergroup social capital The book features case studies of school reform activity including the first analysis of the politics surrounding Baltimore's decision to hire a private for profit firm to operate nine of its public schools These cases illuminate the paradoxical aspects of black social capital in citywide school reform while offering critical perspectives on current debates about privatization site based management and other reform alternatives Orr's book challenges those who argue that social capital alone can solve fundamentally political problems by purely social means and questions the efficacy of either privatization or black community power to reform urban schools Black Social Capital offers a cogent conceptual synthesis of social capital theory and urban regime theory that demonstrates the importance of government politics and leadership in converting social capital into a resource that can be mobilized for effective social change

Creating Engagement between Schools and their Communities Carlos Azcoitia, Ted Purinton, 2016-10-19 Creating Engagement between Schools and their Communities Lessons from Educational Leaders addresses how educational leaders have made efforts to reconnect their schools to their communities and the varied goals they achieved The contributors of this book are educational leaders who have stayed committed to their neighborhoods and who have seen the moral imperative to provide equal opportunity to all students This book shares their experiences particularly looking at community based schools in urban impoverished or immigrant communities communities that often are disconnected from the political and economic centers of the country
