Creative Arts with Older Adults Naida Weisberg, Rosilyn Wilder, 1985 Jacqueline T Sunderland A first in their gerontological field this volume presents specific experiences and theories by 27 outstandingly creative arts leaders and therapists working with older adults in nursing homes community centers and psychiatric institutions All illustrate how the techniques of drama music art dance poetry and prose can contribute to the vitality and social interactive abilities of alert and confused ambulatory and non ambulatory older people This book is comprehensive and program oriented and will be of immeasurable help to professionals in the fields of ageing It is a lucid guide of successful and creative artistic programs which points the way to new dimensions for the field Oxford Textbook of Creative Arts, Health, and Wellbeing

Stephen Clift, Paul M. Camic, 2018-02-15 There is growing interest internationally in the contributions which the creative arts can make to wellbeing and health in both healthcare and community settings. A timely addition to the field, the Oxford Textbook of Creative Arts Health and Wellbeing is the first work of its kind to discuss the role the creative arts have in addressing some of the most pressing public health challenges faced today. Providing an evidence base and recommendations for a wide audience, this is an essential resource for anyone involved with this increasingly important component of public health practice. The textbook offers key insights for developing new creative arts based approaches to health and wellbeing and shows how these can augment established practices within a variety of social settings. Theoretically grounded and with a strong evidence base, this book brings together contributions from both practitioners and researchers to provide a comprehensive account of the field. Using international examples, the textbook elucidates the various approaches that have successfully led to improvements in public health, whilst case studies in healthcare practices evaluate the impact of arts based initiatives in a multitude of international settings, life course stages and social milieus. The Oxford Textbook of Creative Arts Health and Wellbeing is a comprehensive resource that will be essential to anyone with an interest in this increasingly important component of public health practice.

Select Committee on Aging. Subcommittee on Human Services, 1980 Aging, Creativity and Art Martin S.

Lindauer, 2012-12-06 Aging Creativity and Art: A Positive Perspective on Late Life Development explores the strengths and opportunities of old age as these are manifested by the accomplishments of aging artists, late artistic works and elderly arts audiences. The book draws on scholarship in the humanities, primarily in art history, examines mainly paintings and painters, both historical and contemporary, reviews empirical research on creativity and cognition predominantly from psychology and gerontology, and presents the author's original studies including surveys of art historians, questionnaires completed by aging artists and arts audiences, and experiments involving judgments of art by laypersons. The research presented in Aging Creativity and Art: A Positive Perspective on Late Life Development suggests that creativity continues into the later years, higher order mental abilities related to creativity like imagination and problem solving persist until late in life, and the elderly's physical, sensory, mental, and interpersonal competencies may be enhanced by engagement with the arts. This work interrelates the disciplines of science, the humanities, and the arts to form a synthesis that builds on the strengths of the methods of quantification of science, the emphasis on the individual in the humanities, and the expressive and intuitive modes of communication in the arts. Aging Creativity and Art: A Positive Perspective on Late Life Development critically examines the psychology of creativity, cognitive development, and gerontology and will be of interest to a wide range of professionals and students in these fields.
