Biographical Dictionary of American Architects Henry F. Withey, Elsie Rathburn Withey, 1970 American Architects and the Mechanics of Fame Roxanne Kuter Williamson, 2014-03-07 Why does one talented individual win lasting recognition in a particular field while another equally talented person does not While there are many possible reasons one obvious answer is that something more than talent is requisite to produce fame The something more in the field of architecture asserts Roxanne Williamson is the association with a famous architect at the moment he or she first receives major publicity or designs the building for which he or she will eventually be celebrated In this study of more than six hundred American architects who have achieved a place in architectural histories Williamson finds that only a small minority do not fit the right person right time pattern She traces the apprenticeship connection in case studies of Louis Sullivan Frank Lloyd Wright Henry Hobson Richardson the firm of McKim Mead White Latrobe and his descendants the Bulfinch and Renwick Lines the European immigrant masters and Louis Kahn Although she acknowledges and discusses the importance of family connections the right schools self promotion scholarships design competition awards and promotion by important journals Williamson maintains that the apprenticeship connection is the single most important predictor of architectural fame She offers the intriguing hypothesis that what is transferred in the relationship is not a particular style or approach but rather the courage and self confidence to be true to one s own vision Perhaps she says this is the case in all the arts American Architects and the Mechanics of Fame is sure to provoke thought and comment in architecture and other creative fields Hospital with a Heart Virginia Drachman, 2019-06-30 Hospital with a Heart analyzes the dilemma that confronted nineteenth and twentieth century women doctors as they sought to preserve their all women s institutions and to succeed in the male dominated medical profession It is at once women s history medical history institutional history and a study of the impact of professionalization on women This book tells the story of one of the most important all women s hospitals in America the New England Hospital for Women and Children For more than a century it provided women doctors with valuable clinical experience and professional training and offered women patients medical care from doctors of their own sex In an engrossing chronological narrative Virginia Drachman shows how the fates of the hospital and of the women doctors who worked there were inextricably intertwined From its founding the hospital provided women doctors with professional opportunities apart from men eventually all male medical institutions admitted women The result Drachman demonstrates was a paradox Separatism originally laid the path to equality for women in medicine but integration gradually afforded a competing route to professional equality challenging the separatist traditions of women doctors By the turn of the century the New England Hospital confronted its most formidable challenge the opportunities of integration Drachman skillfully illuminates and balances two major themes in her interesting account the history of women s struggle to gain acceptance in the medical profession and the question that to this day provokes debate whether separation from men or integration into male dominated institutions is the best means of improving women s status in the professions and in society at large The Sandstone Architecture of the Lake Superior Region Kathryn Bishop Eckert,2000 Eckert stresses the importance of the building materials as she explores the architectural history of a region whose builders wanted to reflect the local landscape

Sullivan-esque Ronald E. Schmitt, 2024-04-22 Sullivan-esque offers a visual and historical tour of a unique but often overlooked facet of modern American architecture derived from Louis Sullivan Highly regarded in architecture for inspiring the Chicago School and the Prairie School Sullivan was an unwilling instigator of the method of facade composition later influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright William Gray Purcell and George G. Elmslie that came to be known as Sullivan-esque Decorative enhancements with botanical and animal themes Sullivan's distinctive ornamentation mitigated the hard geometries of the large buildings he designed coinciding with his form follows function aesthetic Sullivan's designs offered solutions to problems presented by new types and scales of buildings Widely popular they were also widely copied and the style proliferated due to a number of Chicago based interests including the Radford Architectural Company and several decorative plaster and terra cotta companies Stock replicas of Sullivan's designs manufactured by the Midland Terra Cotta Company and others gave distinction and focus to utilitarian buildings in Chicago's commercial strips and other confined areas such as the downtown districts of smaller towns Mass produced Sullivan-esque terra cotta endured as a result of its combined economic and aesthetic appeal blending the sophistication of high architectural art with the pragmatic functionality of building design Masterfully framed by the author's photographs of Sullivan-esque buildings in Chicago and throughout the Midwest Ronald E. Schmitt's in depth exploration of the Sullivan-esque tells the story of its evolution from Sullivan's intellectual and aesthetic foundations to its place as a form of commercial vernacular The book also includes an inventory of Sullivan-esque buildings Honorable Mention recipient of the 2002 PSP Awards for Excellence in Professional Scholarly Publishing

Building in China Jeffrey W Cody,2021-01-15 Building in China is about striking an architectural balance between the pull of monumental tradition and the push of technological novelty Centering on the dynamic period of post imperial and pre Communist China the book focuses on the building and city planning initiatives of Henry Murphy a little known American architect who initially ventured to China in 1914 to design a campus for the Yale in China programme but who then found himself captivated by a professional and cultural challenge that lasted two decades how to preserve China s rich architectural traditions while also designing new buildings using up to date Western technologies Murphy s buildings were compromises wine in old bottles as he once called them and the book uses those tles as lenses through which to understand not only Murphy s quest to find a middle ground for his architecture in China but also to gaze at a tumultuous society facing an uncertain future Murphy s buildings were more than vessels for either aesthetic visions or technical expertise inadvertently they became political emblems as Chinese rulers such as Chiang Kai shek and Sun Yat sen s son called on Murphy for city planning advice to complement their hopes for urban reconstruction There are few serious studies of Western architects in the twentieth century who practiced in non Western contexts and those scant studies that have been published concentrate largely on British French or Dutch examples in colonial settings Hence the book makes significant contributions to the fields of both American and Chinese architectural history American Drawings and Watercolors in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Kevin J. Avery,Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.),2002 The Metropolitan Museum began acquiring American drawings and watercolors in 1880 just ten years after its founding Since then it has amassed more than 1 500 works executed by American artists during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in watercolor pastel chalk ink graphite gouache and charcoal This volume documents the draftsmanship of more than 150 known artists before 1835 and that of about 60 unidentified artists of the period It includes drawings and watercolors by such American masters as John Singleton Copley John Trumbull John Vanderlyn Thomas Cole Asher Brown Durand George Inness and James Abbott McNeill Whistler Because the 504 works illustrate such a wide range of media techniques and styles this publication is a veritable history of American drawing from the eighteenth through most of the nineteenth century Metropolitan Museum of Art website City and Campus John W. Stamper,2024-04-01 City and Campus tells the rich history of a Midwest industrial town and its two academic institutions through the buildings that helped bring these places to life John W Stamper paints a narrative portrait of South Bend and the campuses of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary s College from their founding and earliest settlement in the 1830s through the boom of the Roaring Twenties Industrialist giants such as the Studebaker Brothers Manufacturing Company and Oliver Chilled Plow Works invested their wealth into creating some of the city s most important and historically significant buildings Famous architects including Frank Lloyd Wright brought the latest trends in architecture to the heart of South Bend Stamper also illuminates how Notre Dame's founder and long time president Father Edward Sorin C S C recruited other successful architects to craft in stone the foundations of the university and the college at the same time as he built the scholarship City and Campus provides an engaging and definitive history of how this urban and academic environment emerged on the shores of the St Joseph River
