The Birds at My Table Darryl Jones, 2018-03-21 Darryl Jones is fascinated by bird feeders Not the containers supplying food to our winged friends but the people who fill the containers scatter the crumbs or seeds or leave the picnic scraps behind for the birds Here Jones takes us on a wild flight through the history of bird feeding as he ponders this odd but seriously popular form of interaction between humans and wild animals Jones digs at the deeper issues and questions of the practice of bird feeding as he raises our awareness of the things we don't yet know and why we really should This beautifully written and engaging book reveals that what at first seems to be a niche topic humans feeding wild birds is in fact something a disproportionate number of us do Half the citizens of Australia the UK and the US feed birds whether its by planting trees that attract them putting food out on apartment balconies setting up birds baths and feeders or by unwittingly leaving scraps behind in parks The international bird seed industry is huge and most of the seed is grown in India or Africa Another way of describing all this activity is as an unplanned ecological experiment on an unbelievably large scale In The Birds at My Table Jones draws on an impressive knowledge of the latest scientific findings as well as his own personal knowledge to reflect and explain the modern practice of bird feeding The Ultimate Birdfeeder Handbook John A. Burton, 2005 These days feeding birds isn't simply a matter of scattering breadcrumbs and a couple of bacon rinds on the lawn patio or window sill The range of bird feeders on offer is ever increasing and gardening in order to attract birds is becoming more and more popular The Ultimate Bird Feeder Handbook provides all the information you will need to successfully attract and feed birds in your outdoor space whatever the size This book is packed with advice on the different types of bird tables and feeders available how to make your own the best places to locate them and the birds you can expect to see The final section is dedicated to the foodstuffs that attract birds whether they are shop bought or grow naturally in your garden providing information on which species favour which foods
