Biopolitics And Gender:

The Biopolitics of Gender Jemima Repo, 2015-09-08 Michel Foucault identified sexuality as one of the defining biopolitical technologies of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries As Jemima Repo argues in this book gender has come to be the major sexual signifier of the mid twentieth and early twenty first century In fact in this historical excavation of the biopolitical significance of the term she argues that it could not have emerged at any other time Repo shows that gender is not originally a feminist term but emerged from the study of intersex and transsexual persons in the fields of sexology and psychology in the 1950s and 1960s Prior to the 1950s gender was used to refer to various types of any number of phenomena sometimes sex but not necessarily Its only regular usage was in linguistics where it was used to classify nouns as masculine feminine or neuter In the mid twentieth century gender shifted from being a nominator of types to designating the sexual order of things As with sexuality in the Victorian period over the last sixty years the notion of gender has become an entire field of knowledge Feminists famously took up the term in the 1970s to challenge biological determinism and in government women have been replaced by gender in policy making processes that aim to advance equality between women and men Gender has also become a key variable in social scientific surveys of different socio political phenomena like voting representation employment salaries and parental leave decisions The Biopolitics of Gender analyzes the strategies and tactics of power involved in the use of gender in sexology and psychology and subsequently its reversal and counter deployment by feminists in the 1970s and 1980s It critiques the emergence of gender in demographic science and the implications of this genealogy for feminist theory and politics today Drawing on a wide variety of historical and contemporary sources the book makes a major theoretical argument about gender as a historically specific apparatus of biopower and calls into question the emancipatory potential of the category in feminist theory and politics Biopolitics and Gender, 1983

Biopolitics and Gender Meredith W Watts Jr, 2012-12-06 Here is an important book for social scientists interested in the influence of gender on certain types of behavior Several perspectives are presented on the general topic of biopolitics and gender including the points of view of brain science endocrinology ethology psychophysiology and such conventional interests as political attitudes socialization participation social structure and political hierarchy The varied and provocative ideas explored in this volume will broaden discussions of gender beyond an exclusive focus on sex links to oppression and discrimination The Biopolitics of Gender Jemima Repo, 2016 This book theorizes the idea of gender itself as an apparatus of power developed to reproduce life and labor From its invention in 1950s psychiatry to its appropriation by feminism demography and public policy the book examines how gender has been deployed to optimize production and reproduction over the past sixty years The Biopolitics of Gender in Science Fiction Emily Cox-Palmer-White, 2021-01-03 Questioning essentialist forms of feminist discourse this work develops an innovative approach to gender and feminist theory by drawing together the work of key feminist and gender theorists such as Judith Butler and Donna Haraway and the biopolitical philosophy of Giorgio Agamben and Gilles Deleuze By analysing representations of the female cyborg figure the gynoid in science fiction literature television film and videogames the work acknowledges its normative and subversive properties while also calling for a new feminist politics of selfhood and autonomy implied by the posthuman qualities of the female machine

Routledge Handbook of Gender and Environment Sherilyn MacGregor, 2017-07-14 The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Environment gathers together state of the art theoretical reflections and empirical research from leading researchers and practitioners working in this transdisciplinary and transnational academic field Over the course of the book these contributors provide critical analyses of the gender dimensions of a wide range of timely and challenging topics from sustainable development and climate change politics to queer ecology and interspecies ethics in the so called Anthropocene Presenting a comprehensive overview of the development of the field from early political critiques of the male domination of women and nature in the 1980s to the sophisticated intersectional and inclusive analyses of the present the volume is divided into four parts Part I Foundations Part II Approaches Part III Politics policy and practice Part IV Futures Comprising chapters written by forty contributors with different perspectives and working in a wide range of research contexts around the world this Handbook will serve as a vital resource for scholars students and practitioners in environmental studies gender studies human geography and the environmental humanities and social sciences more broadly

The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory Lisa Disch, Mary Hawkesworth, 2018-02-01 The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory provides a rich overview of the analytical frameworks and theoretical concepts that feminist theorists have developed to analyze the known world Featuring leading feminist theorists from diverse regions of the globe this collection delves into forty nine subject areas demonstrating the complexity of feminist challenges to established knowledge while also engaging areas of contestation within feminist theory Demonstrating the interdisciplinary nature of feminist theory the chapters offer innovative analyses of topics central to social and political science cultural studies and humanities discourses associated with medicine and science and issues in contemporary critical theory that have been transformed through feminist theorization The handbook identifies limitations of key epistemic assumptions that inform traditional scholarship and shows how theorizing from women s and men s lives has profound effects on the conceptualization of central categories whether the field of analysis is aesthetics biology cultural studies development economics film studies health history literature politics religion science studies sexualities violence or war

Gender and Private Security in Global Politics Maya Eichler, 2015 The contributors consider how to reform and regulate private forces This feminist analysis of private militaries drawing on concerns regarding power justice and equality contains essays in four parts Beyond the Public Private Divide Feminist Analyses of Military Privatization and the Gendered State Rethinking the Private Military Contractor I Third Country Nationals and the Making of Empire and II Masculinities and Violence Private In Security Gendered Problems of Accountability Regulation and Ethics

collection of papers given at a conference on Biopolitics The Politics of the Body Race and Nature held in Vienna in May 1994 The conference was based on the book Biopolitics by Ferenc Feher and Agnes Heller published by the European Centre in Spring 1994 The authors of this volume from various standpoints discuss and evaluate the central thesis of the book stating that after the defeat of the grand narrative the idea of difference promised freedom tolerance and free play Instead new dangers emerged The politics of difference became used as a new brand of identity politics race thinking biofeminism and ethnic strife occupied the space that has been abandoned by the grand old ideas New kinds of intolerance new practices of violence appeared Thus the main question resulting from this latest trend is What are its implications for modern liberal democracy based on universal human rights

Embodied Entanglements: Gender, Identity, and the Corporeal in Asia Zawiszová, Halina, Strafella, Giorgio, Lavička, Martin, Ideas on the human body gender and identity lie at the core of many socio political issues and cultural trends in Asia today while also inspiring innovative research on artistic expression from Asia's past By focusing on socio political as well as cultural issues from diverse geographical and historical contexts this book highlights complex links and interactions that bind these three interpretative axes How do bodies become conduits for the expression and negotiation of gender and other identities What do the lived experiences of women and LGBTQ people in Asia reveal about biopolitics normative expectations and value systems in different societies How does art reflect the representation and fashioning of gendered bodies and ambiguous identities Cutting across the quotidian and the avant garde activism and art violence and pleasure as well as the intimate and the political this book sheds new light on Asian cultures and societies spanning India Indonesia Japan mainland China Taiwan and Thailand affirming thus the region's significance in broader debates on biopolitics gender and human dignity

Child-Friendly Perspectives on Gender and Sexual Diversity Jose Antonio Langanita, Ana Cristina Santos, Marisela Montenegro, Mojca Urek, 2023-03-29 This book discusses LGBTI childhood from a critical interdisciplinary perspective with the aim of contributing to a better understanding of the complex relationship between sexuality gender and childhood Placing adultcentrism at the centre of the analytical inquiry the international range of contributors consider experiences and subjectivities of children their families and significant contexts Topics covered include public policies professional practices and care provision as well as the tensions and contradictions stemming from the logics of otherness and exceptionality which populate dominant discourses representations and practices around sex and gender in childhood This book is intended for researchers and students in gender studies sexuality studies education health childhood studies and sociology

The Biopolitics of Feeling Kyla Schuller, 2018-01-05 In The Biopolitics of Feeling Kyla Schuller unearths the forgotten multiethnic sciences of impressibility the capacity to be transformed by one's environment and experiences to uncover how biopower developed in the United States Schuller challenges prevalent interpretations of biopower and literary cultures to reveal how biopower emerged within the discourses and practices of sentimentalism Through analyses of evolutionary theories gynecological sciences abolitionist poetry and other literary texts feminist tracts child welfare reforms and black uplift movements Schuller excavates a vast apparatus that regulated the capacity of sensory and emotional feeling in an attempt to shape the evolution of the national population Her historical and theoretical work exposes the overlooked role of sex difference in population management and the optimization of life illuminating how models of binary sex function as one of the key mechanisms of racializing power Schuller thereby overturns long accepted frameworks of the nature of race and sex difference offers key corrective insights to modern debates surrounding the equation of racism with determinism and the liberatory potential of ideas about the plasticity of the body and reframes contemporary notions of sentiment affect sexuality evolution and heredity

The Biopolitics of Gender Jemima Repo, 2015 This title provides a theoretically and methodologically new and distinct approach to gender through the frameworks of biopolitics and genealogy theorising it as a historically specific apparatus of biopower Through the use of a diverse mix of historical and contemporary documents the book explores how the problematisation of intersex infant genitalia in 1950s psychiatry propelled the emergence of the gender apparatus in order to socialise sexed individuals into the ideal productive and reproductive subjects of White middle class postwar America

Past and Present: Perspectives on Gender and Love Kelly Gardiner, Sina V. Pfister, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2015 How do humans conceive of enact embody perform control commodify proscribe and portray love and gender How are our bodies our identities our beliefs our representations of ourselves affected by love and gender or perceptions of love and gender What don't we know What don't we talk about Why Have answers to all these questions changed over time Across cultures These and many other questions lie at the heart of this volume on the changing natures and intertwining of gender and love Its contents encompass concepts of love within and of the self in families and between specific family members in sexual and intimate relationships in spiritual practice in communities and seen through many different lenses and from a range of disciplines and approaches Readers may be left with more questions than answers we certainly hope so

The Oxford Handbook of Gender and Conflict Fionnuala Ní Aoláin, Naomi R. Cahn, Dina Francesca Haynes, Nahla Valji, 2018 The authors focus on the multidimensionality of gender in conflict yet they also prioritise the experience of women given both the changing nature of war and the historical de-emphasis on women's experiences

Gender Integration in NATO Military Forces Lana Obradovic, 2016-04-15 Numerous states have passed gender integration legislation permanently admitting women into their military forces As a result states have dramatically increased women's numbers and improved gender equality by removing a number of restrictions Yet despite changes and initiatives on both domestic and international levels to integrate gender perspectives into the military not all states have improved to the same extent Some have successfully promoted gender integration in the ranks by erasing all forms of discrimination but others continue to impede it by setting limitations on equal access to careers combat and ranks Why do states abandon their policies of exclusion and promote gender integration in a way that women's military participation becomes an integral part of military force By examining twenty four NATO member states this book argues that civilian policymakers and military leadership no longer surrender to parochial gendered division of the roles but rather support integration to meet the recruitment numbers due to military modernization professionalization and technological advancements Moreover it proposes that increased pressure by the United Nations to integrate gender into security and NATO seeking standardization and consistency on the international level and women s movements on the domestic level are contributing to greater gender integration in the military Winner of the 2015 ERGOMAS Best Book in Civil Military Relations Award Sexing War/Policing Gender Linda Åhäll,2015-02-11 Historically there has been reluctance from mainstream IR scholars as well as feminists to seriously engage with women s agency in warfare Instead scholarship has tended to focus on women s activism for peace or to ignore women s agency altogether This book rectifies this omission by exploring the cultural understanding of actors agents and structures of war and how can we make sense of attitudes towards women agency and war today By using a poststructuralist feminist perspective and by analysing empirical cases from a Western war on terror cultural context Ahall argues that all types of stories are informed by ideas about motherhood and maternal reproduction as the foundation of sexual difference This does not only mean that women are judged read valued based on the shape of their maternalised bodies rather than what they actually do but it means that ideas about motherhood not motherhood itself function to police contemporary gender norms and contemporary understandings of agency in war Overall this book argues that maternalist war stories function to reiterate traditional heteronormative gender roles This is how a body politics of war is not only policing gender norms but actually writing sex itself The body politics of war told through maternalist war stories is a process in which the sexing of war means the policing of gender borders with motherhood acting as the border agent This work will be of interest to students and scholars in areas such as gender political violence and international relations Biopolitical Governance Hannah Richter,2018-05-17 For years critical theorists and Foucauldian biopolitical theorists have argued against the Aristotelian idea that life and politics inhabit two separate domains In the context of receding social security systems and increasing economic inequality within contemporary liberal democracies life is necessarily political This collection brings together contributions from both established scholars and researchers working at the forefront of biopolitical theory gendered and sexualised governance and the politics of race and migration to better understand the central lines along which the body of the governed is produced controlled or excluded Handbook on Gender and War Simona Sharoni,Julia Welland,Linda Steiner,Jennifer Pedersen,2016-07-27 This interdisciplinary Handbook offers a comprehensive and detailed overview of the relationship between gender and war exploring the conduct of war its impact aftermath and opposition to it Offering sophisticated theoretical insights and empirical research from the First World War to contemporary conflicts around the world this Handbook underscores the centrality of gender to critical examinations of war The Somatechnics of Life and Death Elizabeth Stephens,Karin Sellberg,2021-03-16 What is life and how do we define its boundaries Is life immeasurable or are there levels of liveliness How should we relate to entities that are not technically alive at all As the world becomes increasingly technologized questions about what counts as life and living have become a key field of inquiry in contemporary philosophical and arts discourse As Mel Chen acknowledges in Animacies 2012 the continued rethinking of life and death's proper boundaries has increasingly been recognized as a priority in twenty first century North American European and Australasian critical theory Indeed the contributors of this volume go as far as to argue that the question of life has become the central problematic of recent feminist biopolitics alongside discussions of scientific ethics and technological organic power relationships This volume explores points of intersection and divergence between critical conceptions of time and technology drawing on a range of perspectives and approaches to examine our mediated and material embodied entanglements with key questions about life and death It is a significant new contribution to the study of corporeality in gender studies and feminism and will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced students of philosophy gender studies literary theory and politics It was originally published as a special issue of Australian Feminist Studies
