Secondary Metabolism in Microorganisms, Plants and Animals M.

Luckner, 2013-12-11 Many of the reactions and compounds involved in metabolism are almost identical in the different groups of living organisms They are known as primary metabolic reactions and primary metabolic products In addition however a wide variety of biochemical pathways are characteristic of only a few species of organisms of single chemical races or even of a certain stage of differentiation of specialized cells Such pathways are collectively referred to as secondary metabolism and the compounds formed are called secondary products Secondary products are frequently revealed by their color smell or taste They are responsible for the flavor of most foodstuffs and beverages and for the color and fragrance of flowers and fruits Many of them are part of the materia medica e g alkaloids cardiac glycosides antibiotics or compounds acting as hormones Others are used by industry e g rubber tannins and cellulose This book treats the organization and significance of biosynthesis storage transformation and degradation of the most important groups of secondary products in microorganisms plants and animals It shows that the formation of secondary products is a common characteristic of specialized cells brought about by the action of special enzymes encoded by specific genetic material It demonstrates that the biosynthesis of secondary products is typically without significance for the individual producer cell but may play a decisive role in the development and function of the producer organism as a whole

Biosynthesis and biodegradation of wood components Takayoshi Higuchi, 2012-12-02 Biosynthesis and Biodegradation of Wood Components is a comprehensive account of the biosynthesis and biodegradation of wood and wood components Topics covered range from the localization of polysaccharides and lignins in wood cell walls to the metabolism and synthetic function of cambial tissue along with the function of cell organelles in the biosynthesis of cell wall components The biosynthesis of plant cell wall polysaccharides is also discussed This book is comprised of 22 chapters and begins with an overview of the structure of wood with emphasis on three aspects of sections of wood the cross or transverse section the tangential section and the radial section or face The following chapters deal with the structure and chemistry of the major components of wood cell walls the metabolism and synthetic function of cambial tissue the function of organelles involved in biosynthesis and the biosynthesis both of the major cell wall components of wood cellulose hemicelluloses and lignins and of wood extractives The microbial degradation of cell wall components and aromatic extractives of wood is also considered together with the microorganisms involved in lignin biodegradation as well as the physiology and biochemistry of degradation by white rot fungi This monograph will be of interest to biochemists as well as students and researchers in biochemistry
