MacLean,1988      Recent Reports ,1985      Arms and Artificial Intelligence Stockholm International Peace Research Institute,1987 The impact of information technology in the field of military decision making is superficially less visible than that of a number of other weapon developments though its importance has grown steadily since the beginning of the 1980s Owing to its potential role in modern weapon systems and the prospect of its inclusion as an essential ingredient in many military projects such as the Strategic Defence Initiative it has become the focus of special interest and efforts This book is the first attempt to present a broad overview of the prospects for information technology in general and machine intelligence in particular in the context of international security The dangers and promises of weapon and arms control applications of computers and artificial intelligence to decision making processes are analysed in a technical strategic and political perspective by experts from six different countries In an introductory chapter Allan Din presents a generic overview of artificial intelligence and its prospects Thirteen contributors then discuss the conceptual and technical framework of artificial intelligence analyse implications for weapon systems and strategy and discuss possible applications to arms control verification and modelling      The Future of International Relations Iver B. Neumann,Ole Waeber,2005-06-29 This book presents the state of the art of international relations theory through an analysis of the work of twelve key contemporary thinkers John Vincent Kenneth Waltz Robert O Keohane Robert Gilpin Bertrand Badie John Ruggie Hayward Alker Nicholas G Onuf Alexander Wendt Jean Bethke Elshtain R B J Walker and James Der Derian The authors aim to break with the usual procedure in the field which juxtaposes aspects of the work of contemporary theorists with others presenting them as part of a disembodied school of thought or paradigm A more individual focus can demonstrate instead the well rounded character of some of the leading oeuvres and can thus offer a more representative view of the discipline This book is designed to cover the work of theorists whom students of international relations will read and sometimes struggle with The essays can be read either as introductions to the work of these theorists or as companions to it Each chapter attempts to place the thinker in the landscape of the discipline to identify how they go about studying International Relations and to discuss what others can learn from them      Resources in Education ,1990      Preparation for the 1990 farm bill United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry,1989      Governing Future Technologies Mario Kaiser,Monika Kurath,Sabine Maasen,Christoph Rehmann-Sutter,2009-10-29 Nanotechnology has been the subject of extensive assessment hype unlike any previous field of research and development A multiplicity of stakeholders have started to analyze the implications of nanotechnology Technology assessment institutions around the world non governmental organizations think tanks re insurance companies and academics from science and technology studies and applied ethics have turned their attention to this growing field s implications In the course of these assessment efforts a social phenomenon has emerged a phenomenon the editors define as assessment regime Despite the variety of organizations methods and actors involved in the evaluation and regulation of emerging nanotechnologies the assessment activities comply with an overarching scientific and political imperative Innovations are only welcome if they are assessed against the criteria of safety sustainability desirability and acceptability So far such deliberations and reflections have played only a subordinate role This book argues that with the rise of the nanotechnology assessment regime however things have changed dramatically Situated at the crossroads of democratizing science and technology good governance and the quest for sustainable innovations the assessment regime has become constitutive for technological development The contributions in this book explore and critically analyse nanotechnology s assessment regime To what extent is it constitutive for technology in general for nanotechnology in particular What social conditions render the regime a phenomenon sui generis And what are its implications for science and society Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1988 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies,1987 Thematic Mapping From Satellite Imagery: A Guidebook J. Denègre,2013-10-22 Thematic Mapping from Satellite Imagery A Guidebook discusses methods in producing maps using satellite images The book is comprised of five chapters each chapter covers one stage of the process Chapter 1 tackles the satellite remote sensing imaging and its cartographic significance Chapter 2 discusses the production processes for extracting information from satellite data The next chapter covers the methods for combining satellite derived information with that obtained from conventional sources Chapter 4 deals with design and semiology for cartographic representation and Chapter 5 presents examples of applications The book will be of great use to cartographers who want to utilize satellite imaging in generating a map
