Art, Modernity and Faith George Pattison, 1991 Art, Modernity and Faith George Pattison, 1998 This book first published in hardback by Macmillan in 1991 appeared in paperback in 1998 with a new concluding chapter and extra illustrations After an opening chapter which tells the story of modern art George Pattison leads the reader through a more or less historical narrative of the relationship between Christianity and the visual arts He begins with the deep rooted fear of images in the Judaeo Christian tradition through Thomism and the writings of Maritain Rukin and Forsyth into the uncertainties of the twentieth century There are concluding discussions on how respect for the integrity of the visual image becomes a way of grace and how the Zen experience indicates a method which can be used by both theologians and artists It is rare to encounter an author so deeply informed in matters of religion and theology while being so obviously at home in the history and theory of the arts Combining these spheres of learning George Pattison makes a distinctive contribution to understanding religiously significant aspects of art providing in the process a fresh perspective on why the religious or theological import of art cannot fully be captured in other media of human creation and reflection Theology George Pattison is Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity in the University of Oxford and a Canon of Christ Church Cathedral Oxford Art, Modernity and Faith George Pattison, Chong Hyun Christie Byun, 2014-01-14 The Oxford Handbook of Religion and the Arts Frank Burch Brown, 2018 This volume offers 37 original essays from leading scholars on the crucial topics issues methods and resources for studying and teaching religion and the arts Apocalypse in British Art and Visual Culture in the Early Twentieth Century Thomas Bromwell, 2024-11-29 This book is the first substantial study of the presence and relationship with the concepts of apocalypse eschatology and millennium in modern British art from 1914 to 1945 addressing how and why practitioners in both religious and secular spheres turned to the subjects The volume examines British art and visual culture's relationship with the then contemporary anxieties and hopes regarding the orientation of society and culture arguing that there is an acute relationship to the particular forms of cultural discourse of eschatology apocalypse and millennium Chapters identify the continued relevance of religion and religious themes in British art during the period and demonstrate that eschatology apocalypse and millennium were thriving and surprisingly mainstream concepts in the period that remained vital in early to mid twentieth century society and culture This book is a research monograph aimed at an audience of scholars and graduate students already familiar with the core focus of modern British art and cultural histories especially those working on the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries or the concepts of apocalypse eschatology and millennium in Theology Sociology or other disciplinary settings It will also be of interest to scholars and students working on war and visual culture or histories of imperialism It will benefit scholars of early twentieth century British art demonstrating the intersection of art and religion in the modern era and critically qualifies the standard secular canon and narrative of modern British art and the general neglect of religion in existing art historical literature Key Writers on Art: From

Crucifixions and Resurrections of the Image George Pattison, 2013-02-11 George Pattison offers theological reflections on a range of works of art and films which have attracted wide discussion such as Anthony Gormley's Angel of the North Pattison takes seriously the modernist movement in art and constitutes an argument for its continuing relevance The book centres on artists active in the mid to late twentieth century whose work reflects both the cultural and social crises of that era Beuys Rothko Kiefer Natkin and film directors such as Bergman and Tarkovsky The studies are contextualized in broader reflections on modern art that suggest the death of God as a motif that links theology and modern art itself This enables a Christian theological engagement with works that often appear alien or even hostile to Christian faith George Pattison takes the secular seriously in its own right arguing that both secular art and theological reflection are often different but related responses to a common

God, Sexuality, and the Self Sarah Coakley, 2013-08-29 God Sexuality and the Self is a new venture in systematic theology Sarah Coakley invites the reader to re conceive the relation of sexual desire and the desire for God and through the lens of prayer practice to chart the intrinsic connection of this relation to a theology of the Trinity The goal is to integrate the demanding ascetical undertaking of prayer with the recovery of lost and neglected materials from the tradition and thus to reanimate doctrinal reflection both imaginatively and spiritually What emerges is a vision of human longing for the triune God which is both edgy and compelling Coakley's theology totale questions standard shibboleths on sexuality and gender and thereby suggests a way beyond current destructive impasses in the churches The book is clearly and accessibly written and will be of great interest to all scholars and students of theology

A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation Vicente Chong, 2019-02-07 Since its emergence in the sixties of the last century liberation theology in Latin America has paid little attention to the areas of aesthetics and art At the same time theological aesthetics seldom has been directly and explicitly concerned about the reality of the poor and the struggle for justice This mutual disinterest between liberation theology and theological aesthetics is regrettable because discerning a correlation between them would benefit both theological disciplines in their attempt to understand the saving action of God in the world It is the intention of this book to fill that gap A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation correlates liberation theology and theological aesthetics exploring different themes such as the liberating power of art and how the Spirit of God is involved in the process of liberation in and through art This study is a critical reflection upon the question of the beauty of Jesus Christ especially in relationship with the event of the participation in the arts and interest in spiritual growth Wuthnow argues that contemporary spirituality is increasingly encouraged by the arts because of its emphasis on transcendent experience and personal reflection This kind of spirituality contrary to what many observers have imagined is compatible with active involvement in churches and serious devotion to Christian practices The absorbing narrative relates the story of a woman who overcame a severe personal crisis and went on to head a spiritual direction center where participants use the arts to gain clarity about their own spiritual journeys Readers visit contemporary worship services in Chicago Philadelphia and Boston and listen to leaders and participants explain how music and art have contributed to the success of these services All in Sync also illustrates how music and art are integral parts of some Episcopal African American and Orthodox worship services and how people of faith are using their artistic talents to serve others Besides examining the role of the arts in personal spirituality and in congregational life Wuthnow discusses how clergy and lay leaders are rethinking the role of the imagination especially in connection with traditional theological virtues He also shows how churches and arts organizations sometimes find themselves at odds over controversial moral questions and competing claims about spirituality Accessible relevant and innovative this book is essential for anyone searching for a better understanding of the dynamic relationships among religion spirituality and American culture
