Art Otherness Crisis In Cultural Ide:

Art & Otherness Thomas McEvilley, 1992 Directly following the internationally acclaimed Art Discontent Thomas McEvilley argues in Art Otherness for an advanced anthropological perspective that contravenes conventional thinking in the visual arts and leads to a concept of artistic globalization The description of Western culture as superior and in opposition to other cultures of the world preoccupied our aesthetic philosophy for at least 200 years whether or not explicitly stated That argument was undertaken in various guises especially as the historical determinism of Hegel which proposed to quantify human progress Recently however the term multiculturalism has come to signify a post Modern understanding of how visual arts transgress artificial boundaries and of how there may now exist perhaps for the first time in history a post colonial globalism in the arts freed of ethnocentric value judgements In these ten crucial essays McEvilley clarifies how the presentation of art can determine its reception how influence can be bi directional how otherness serves to define self and how art need not necessarily lose its meaningfulness when stripped of badges of universality Once again illustrating his argument by drawing upon an array of sources and cultures Thomas McEvilley demonstrates that the post Modern crisis in cultural identity demands an imaginative integrating response BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Thinking about Art Susan Hiller, 1996 Collected talks lectures and conversations spanning 1975-1995 Cross-Cultural Issues in Art Steven Leuthold, 2010-12-16 This book provides an engaging introduction to aesthetic concepts expanding the discussion beyond the usual Western theorists and Western examples

Butler, 2013-11-05 The controversy surrounding the significant Into the Heart of Africa exhibit at the Royal Ontario Museum in Canada is explored in this compelling and analytical text The exhibit has become an international controversial touchstone for issues surrounding the politics of visual representation such as the challenges to curatorial and ethnographic authority in multicultural and postcolonial contexts Asking why the museum's exhibit failed so many people the author examines such issues as institutional politics the broad political and intellectual climate surrounding museums the legacies of colonialism and traditions of representation of Africa and the politics of irony By drawing upon anthropological and cultural criticism the book offers a unique account of the ways in which an ambiguous exhibit about colonialism became the site of an expansive

Into the Heart of Africa An Ontology of Multiple Artworks David Davies,2024 David Davies examines the ontology of multiple artworks such as books and musical performances He argues against a theory of multiple works as types that are independent of creative and appreciative acts instead defending a view on which they are performances essentially embedded in artistic practices

Capacity Thomas McEvelley,2016-04-08 G Roger Denson brings singular insight to Thomas McEvelley s writings As an art writer he has explored similar territory but from the point of view of a nomadic ideologist His approach matches that of his subject He addresses the issues of pragmatism historicism and cultural relativism In so doing he effectively dismantles the need to establish a master narrative The contrast and agreement between these two writers constitutes a mapping of the terrain of contemporary culture What sets Thomas McEvelley apart from other critics in art and culture is his direct knowledge of the newest art and theory and his comprehensive understanding of classic art and ancient civilizations It is rare to find a writer equally fluent in the production of modernist aesthetics the anti aesthetics of post modernism T ang Dynasty Taoist painting the doctrines of the Tantra Platonic mysticism and Aristotelian logic This vast knowledge has enabled him to produce some of the best conceived and eccentric

The Ancestress Hypothesis Kathryn Coe, 2003 In our society it has long been believed that art serves very little social purpose Evolutionary anthropologists however are examining a potential role for art in human evolution Kathryn Coe looks to the visual arts of traditional societies for clues Because they are passed down from previous generations traditional art forms such as body decoration funeral ornaments and ancestral paintings offer ways to promote social relationships among kin and codescendants of a common ancestor Mothers used art forms to anchor themselves and their kin to the father and his kin and to promote the survival and reproductive success of kin and descendants Individuals who abided by this strategy accompanied by its strict codes of cooperation left more descendants than did individuals who did not Over time given this reproductive success large numbers of individuals would be identified as codescendants of a common ancestor and would cooperate as if they were close kin These cooperative codescendants were more likely to survive and leave descendants With each new generation these clans propagated not only their genes but also their behavioral strategy the replication or presence of art The book concludes by examining the changing characteristics of visual art including a higher value on creativity competition and cost when traditional constraints on social behavior disappear

The Country of Memory Hue-Tam Ho Tai, 2001-10 Hue Tam Ho Tai's masterful collection of essays that explore how the past is being remade in contemporary Vietnam constitutes a welcome addition to the study of the larger problem of engineering memory especially in political cultures where the identity of the nation state is in a considerable state of flux This book also suggests that the commemorative fever that is sweeping Vietnam is about more than Vietnam's history It also has a great deal to do with the problems premodern cultures presented to those who promoted the creation of contemporary states In this regard both Vietnam and this book offer all scholars of nationalism and remembering in the West a fascinating perspective on their own nations John Bodnar Chancellors Professor of History at Indiana University from the Foreword

When Clothes Become Fashion Ingrid Loschek, 2009-08-01 When how and why do clothes become fashion Fashion is more than mere clothing It is a moment of invention a distillation of desire a reflection of a zeitgeist It is also a business relying on an intricate network of manufacture marketing and retail Fashion is both medium and message but it does not explain itself It requires language and images for its global mediation It develops from the prescience of the designer and is dependent on acceptance by observers and wearers alike When Clothes Become Fashion explores the structures and strategies which underlie fashion innovation how fashion is perceived and the point at which clothing is accepted or rejected as fashion The book provides a clear theoretical framework for understanding the world of fashion its aesthetic premises plurality of styles performative impulses social qualities and economic conditions Hassan Fathy and Continuity in Islamic Architecture Ahmad Hamid, 2010 A thought provoking and richly illustrated look at tradition and innovation in the work of the world renowned architect

Misrepresentations of Zimbabwean Stone Sculpture Olga Sicilia, 2010-08 This work focuses on contemporary Zimbabwean Stone Sculpture widely known until the early 1990s as Shona Sculpture from the perspective of a critical anthropological analysis of cultural identity and representation The analysis frames the inception of this art movement within the colonial socio historical circumstances of its genesis where discourse about the producers of this art form Shona discourse was created Drawing from the social context of inequality and racial spatial segregation and from the concepts of the primitive in art and anthropology the author aims to show how Shona discourse entails a primitivist construction of the Other i e the sculptors cultural identity that is directly linked to modernist primitivism Shona discourse as a temporalising discourse situates the producers of so called Shona sculpture in an extra ordinary time the time of primitive myth magic and cosmology constituting in this sense a good example of allochronic discourse Originating within the colonial politics and ideology of the 1960s and contested by younger generations of sculptors from the 1990s onwards this discourse was paradoxically appropriated by the cultural politics of indigenisation during the early period of the post independence Zimbabwean State as part of its national identity and heritage

A Theory of Craft Howard Risatti, 2009-12 What is craft How is it different from fine art or design In A Theory of Craft Howard Risatti examines these issues by comparing handmade ceramics glass

metalwork weaving and furniture to painting sculpture photography and machine made design from Bauhaus to the Memphis Group He describes craft s unique qualities as functionality combined with an ability to express human values that transcend temporal spatial and social boundaries Modern design today has taken over from craft the making of functional objects of daily use by employing machines to do work once done by hand Understanding the aesthetic and social implications of this transformation forces us to see craft as well as design and fine art in a new perspective Risatti argues Without a way of understanding and valuing craft on its own terms the field languishes aesthetically being judged by fine art criteria that automatically deny art status to craft objects Craft must articulate a role for itself in contemporary society says Risatti otherwise it will be absorbed by fine art or design and its singular approach to understanding the world will be lost A Theory of Craft is a signal contribution to establishing a craft theory that recognizes defines and celebrates the unique blend of function and human aesthetic values embodied in the craft object
