Exploiting Linkages for Building Technological Capabilities Mai Fujita,2014-01-10 One of the key ingredients of success in building internationally competitive industries lies in amassing a sizeable pool of competent suppliers of parts components and accessories This monograph examines how in developing countries suppliers of mechanical components at the low end of the technological trajectory build up key capabilities over time The focus is on Vietnam's motorcycle industry which was rapidly transformed from a small highly protected market to the world's fourth largest motorcycle producer This rare success resulted from intense competition between leading Japanese motorcycle manufacturers and local Vietnamese assemblers of imported Chinese components both attempting to gain supremacy in the emerging market In particular the book analyzes how local Vietnamese suppliers of motorcycle components exploited participation in contrasting types of value chains developed by the two groups of leading manufacturing firms referred to here as Japanese and or Vietnamese Chinese chains for accumulating strategic know how On the basis of historical evidence and recent empirical data collected through repeated rounds of in depth fieldwork the analysis finds first those suppliers learning trajectories evolved over time resulting in a divergence in learning performance extending across suppliers in later phases of industrial development In the later stage high performing suppliers amassed basic innovative expertise constituting the bedrock of this fast growing industry Second the analysis finds that the diverging performance can be explained by the combination of roles played by lead firms in inducing and facilitating supplier learning and those of suppliers in mobilizing their own sources of knowledge These conclusions not only provide dynamic insightful accounts of supplier learning in developing country contexts but also make key theoretical and methodological contributions to the research on value chain participation and supplier learning

The Process of Economic Development James M. Cypher, James L. Dietz, 2002-01-31 First published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Draining Development? Peter Reuter, 2012-02-10 A growing concern among those interested in economic development is the realization that hundreds of billions of dollars are illicitly flowing out of developing countries to tax havens and other financial centers in the developed world This volume assesses the dynamics of these flows much of which is from corruption and tax evasion What causes them what are their consequences and how might they be controlled The chapters by authors from a variety of backgrounds including criminologists and practicing lawyers as well as economists examine many dimensions of the phenomenon For example one chapter examines the political economy of the issue to what extent is this the consequence of a more general failure of governance so that it is more a manifestation of government weakness or can it be identified with a few specific features Two other chapters examine major illegal markets drug trafficking and human smuggling to assess how they contribute to these flows Other chapters are concerned with the corporate role in the phenomenon particularly the possibility that transfer pricing in which firms set prices for international trade among wholly owned affiliates might play a major role in moving money illicitly Technology, Market Structure and Internationalization Nagesh Kumar,N. S. Siddharthan,2013-05-13 Technology Market Structure and Internationalization discusses the domestic and external factors that impinge upon the process of technological capability building in developing countries and draws policy implications Specifically it examines the interaction between technological effort in developing countries Providing fresh insights this volume will be of interest to researchers in development economics as well as to those involved with the creation of policy in developing countries Technology and Enterprise Development Sanjaya Lall,Giorgio Barba Navaretti,Simon Teitel,Ganeshan Wignaraja,2016-07-27 The process of capability development is central to industrialization but the current literature focuses on the advanced developing countries This book based on a World Bank sponsored study of enterprise development in Ghana is the first to examine in detail how firms in least developed countries in Africa acquire technological capabilities It analyses why Ghanaian firms are generally relatively uncompetitive why some firms are better than others and how the structural adjustment is affecting manufacturing development Development and Humanitarian Assistance FY 1973 Program Presentation to the Congress United States. Agency for International Development,1973 Capacity for Development Sakiko Fukuda-Parr,Carlos Lopes,Khalid Malik,2002 If capacity development initiatives are to have a pivotal role in helping developing countries meet the challenges of the 21st century it is necessary to take a closer look at the underlying assumptions about the nature of development as a process of societal transformation of capacity and capacity development of knowledge and of aid donor recipient relationship This book contains a range of views from practitioners academics and policy makers about what has gone right with technical cooperation what has gone wrong and how to do it better Development of National Technological Capacity for Production of Indigenous Building Materials ,1991
