Costumers at Work: The Collaborative Creativity, Emotional Labour, and Technical Skill of Costume Creation Madeline Taylor, 2025-06-23 Costumers at Work The Collaborative Creativity Emotional Labour and Technical Skill of Costume Creation explores the various forms of work carried out in the costume workshop by the myriads of skilled professionals who transform ideas and sketches into the wearable costumes seen on stage Costume work as collective collaborative and material labour produced by a predominantly female workforce has been long overlooked by the performance industry and those who study it This book exposes the inherent tensions between theatre's strict hierarchies and collaborative ideology and how these inform the structures negotiated day to day by costumers as they carry out their work Through close attention to their work the book establishes costumers work as collaborative and complex a creative and emotional labour that contributes to enhanced storytelling actor performance and audience experience Using extensive ethnographic observation conducted over 14 months at three professional theatre costume workshops around Australia combined with extant interviews and research from across the globe Costumers at Work provides explicit theories and guidance about the behaviours skills and communication modes that make costume collaboration more effective and enjoyable This book is written for costume researchers practitioners and students of theatrical costume design and construction along with theatre scholars broadly Concept Generation for Design Creativity Toshiharu Taura, Yukari Nagai, 2012-07-26 The concept generation process seems like an intuitional thought difficult to capture and perform although everyone is capable of it It is not an analytical process but a synthetic process which has yet to be clarified Furthermore new research methods for investigating the concept generation process a very difficult task since the concept generation process is driven by inner feelings deeply etched in the mind are necessary to establish its theory and methodology Concept Generation for Design Creativity A Systematized Theory and Methodology presents the concept generation process both

theoretically and methodologically Theoretically the concept generation process is discussed by comparing metaphor abduction and General Design Theory from the notions of similarities and dissimilarities Analogy blending and integration by thematic relation have been explained methodologically So far these theories and methods have been discussed independently and the relations among them have not been clarified Two newly developed research methods to investigate the concept generation process are clearly explained the explanation based protocol analysis and constructive simulation By reading Concept Generation for Design Creativity A Systematized Theory and Methodology students researchers and lecturers in design disciplines including engineering design industrial design software design CHI design education and cognitive science can obtain a clear picture of the advanced research findings and the outline of the theories and methods for concept generation Furthermore readers are expected to achieve the competence to generate new concepts

Shaping Sustainable Fashion Alison Gwilt,Timo Rissanen,2012-06-25 The production use and eventual disposal of most clothing is environmentally damaging and many fashion and textile designers are becoming keen to employ more sustainable strategies in their work This book provides a practical guide to the ways in which designers are creating fashion with less waste and greater durability Based on the results of extensive research into lifecycle approaches to sustainable fashion the book is divided into four sections source explores the motivations for the selection of materials for fashion garments and suggests that garments can be made from materials that also assist in the management of textile waste make discusses the differing approaches to the design and manufacture of sustainable fashion garments that can also provide the opportunity for waste control and minimization use explores schemes that encourage the consumer to engage in slow fashion consumption last examines alternative solutions to the predictable fate of most garments landfill Illustrated throughout with case studies of best practice from international designers and fashion labels and written in a practical accessible style this is a must have guide for fashion and textile designers and students in their areas

Exploring Perspectives on Creativity Theory and Research in Education Daniel A. Tillman,2024-04-16 Collectively the sixteen chapters in this book investigate the power of creativity in the classroom many through the specific lens of limited resources as an opportunity The chapters are divided into two sections eight chapters comprising Section I Theory and Research and then the eight chapters comprising Section II Additional Perspectives and Future Directions Within these two sections the more than two dozen authors that contributed to this book tackle a wide range of the possibilities for designing creative classroom based instruction wherein limited resources are highlighted and valued rather than avoided or lamented The two main sections of this book are each preceded by a brief introductory summary highlighting those sections attributes and objectives with the intention of providing helpful structure to the reader but the book has also been designed such that each chapter stands independently and can be jumped to directly like a handbook In its totality this book exploring perspectives on creativity theory and research in education is designed to serve as a valuable resource for teachers teacher educators school administrators parents and education researchers along with anyone else that is interested in optimizing our opportunities for nurturing creativity within classrooms

Kinetic Garment Construction Rickard Lindqvist, 2015-03-27 Fashion designers are presented with a range of methods and concepts for pattern cutting are presented the main body of these methods both traditional and contemporary is predominately based on a theoretical approximation of the body that is derived from horizontal and vertical measurements of the body in an upright position the tailoring matrix As a consequence there is a lack of interactive and dynamic qualities in methods connected to this paradigm of garment construction from both expressional and functional perspectives This work proposes and explores an alternative paradigm for pattern cutting that includes a new theoretical approximation of the body as well as a more kinetic method for garment construction that unlike the prevalent theory and its related methods takes as its point of origin the interaction between the anisotropic fabric and the biomechanical structure of the body As such the research conducted here is basic research aiming to identify fundamental principles for garment construction Based on some key principles found in the works of Genevi ve Sevin Doering and in pre tailoring methods for constructing garments the proposed theory for and method of garment construction was developed through concrete experiments by cutting and draping fabrics on live models Instead of a static matrix of a non moving body the result is a kinetic construction theory of the body that is comprised of balance directions and key biomechanical points along with an alternative draping method for dressmaking This methodology challenges the fundamental relationship between dress garment construction and the body working from the body outward as opposed to the methods that are based on the prevalent paradigm of the tailoring matrix which work from the outside toward the body This alternative theory for understanding the body and the proposed method of working allows for diverse expressions and enhanced functional possibilities in dress
