Architecture Division,1975 The Renaissance in National Context Roy Porter, Mikulas Teich,1992 The Renaissance in National Context aims to dispel the commonly held view that the great efflorescence of art learning and culture in the period from c 1350 to 1550 was solely or even primarily an Italian phenomenon These essays address the development of art literacy and humanism across the length and breadth of Europe showing that the Renaissance had many sources independent of Italy meeting numerous local needs and serving diverse local functions specific to the political economic social and religious climates of various regions and principalities The authors show that though the Renaissance was in a fashion backward looking recovering the culture of antiquity it nevertheless served as the springboard for many specifically modern developments including the rise of diplomacy education printing nationalism and the new science Forthcoming Books
