Damascus miriam cooke,2016-10-04 On March 17 2011 many Syrians rose up against the authoritarian Asad regime that had ruled them with an iron fist for forty years Initial successes were quickly quashed and the revolution seemed to devolve into a civil war pitting the government against its citizens and extremist mercenaries As of late 2015 almost 300 000 Syrians have been killed and over half of a total population of 23 million forced out of their homes Nine million are internally displaced and over four million are wandering the world many on foot or in leaky boats Countless numbers have been disappeared These shocking statistics and the unstoppable violence notwithstanding the revolution goes on The story of the attempted crushing of the revolution is known Less well covered has been the role of artists and intellectuals in representing to the world and to their people the resilience of revolutionary resistance and defiance How is it possible that artists filmmakers and writers have not been cowed into numbed silence but are becoming more and more creative How can we make sense of their insistence that despite the apocalypse engulfing the country their revolution is ongoing and that their works participate in its persistence With smartphones pens voices and brushes these artists registered their determination to

Whose City Is That? Culture, Design, Spectacle and Capital in Istanbul Dilek Özhan Koçak, Orhan Kemal Koçak, 2014-06-26 Whose City is That shows that Istanbul is produced not only by strong and systematic efforts corporate influences and or marketing activities but also by individual contributions and coincidences As such the primary purpose of this book is to find the answer of to whom Istanbul does belong presenting the reader with the richness of human experience and the practice of everyday life The chapters in this book are therefore focused on the physical and economic dimensions as well as the imaginary fictional and hyper real dimensions expressing the concern of bringing the real and imaginary borders of the city together The book provides an understanding that for each inhabitant there is another city another Istanbul Each person living in the city creates or lives in another city which is made of their own personal and particular experiences In addition the Istanbul the authors understand and describe turns into something different moment by moment which cannot be defined or identified because of its very nature as a megacity However its flow is not aimless and non directional and each sign is not causeless or dateless In this context in order to make the possibilities of the city visible the contributors to this volume ask Istanbul whose city is it The title of the book enables different academics to ask the same question using different methodologies and subjects The question Whose City is That and the necessity of studying Istanbul using multidisciplinary perspectives brought many researchers from different fields together because the city is larger than one approach and the constraints of one unique field Gathering researchers and academics from various disciplines such as communication studies cultural studies cinema media studies literature the fine arts city and regional planning political science social and economic geography anthropology and architecture enables each to think about the city alone and together so as to create new forms of thought and discourse about Istanbul

Creativity and Humour in Occupy Movements A. Yalcintas, 2015-02-03 This volume offers scholarly perspectives on the creative and humorous nature of the protests at Gezi Park in Turkey 2013 The contributors argue that these protests inspired musicians film makers social scientists and other creative individuals out of a concern for the aesthetics of the protests rather than seizure of political power
