The Trajectory of Holocaust Memory Stephen D. Smith, 2022-12-30 The Trajectory of Holocaust Memory The Crisis of Testimony in Theory and Practice re considers survivor testimony moving from a subject object reading of the past to a subject subject encounter in the present It explores how testimony evolves in relationship to the life of eyewitnesses across time This book breaks new ground based on three principles The first draws on Martin Buber's I Thou concept transforming the object of history into an encounter between subjects The second employs the Jungian concept of identity whereby the individual internal identity and the persona external identity reframe testimony as an extension of the individual They are a living subject rather than merely a persona or narrative The third principle draws on Daniel Kahneman's concept of the experiencing self which relives events as they occurred and the remembering self which reflects on their meaning in sum Taken together these principles comprise a new literacy of testimony that enables the surviving victim and the listener to enter a relationship of trust Designed for readers of Holocaust history and literature this book defines the modalities of memory witness and testimony It shows how encountering the individual who lived through the past changes how testimony is understood and therefore what it can come to mean

Murder in Our Midst Omer Bartov, 1996 He shows how the way we understand ourselves reflects the ambivalent effects of the Holocaust on our perceptions of war and violence history and memory progress and barbarism

Fantasies of Witnessing Gary Weissman, 2018-07-05 Fantasies of Witnessing explores how and why those deeply interested in the Holocaust yet with no direct familial connection to it endeavor to experience it vicariously through sites or texts designed to make it real for nonwitnesses Gary Weissman argues that far from overwhelming nonwitnesses with its magnitude of horror the Holocaust threatens to feel distant and unreal A prevailing rhetoric of secondary memory and trauma he contends and efforts to portray the Holocaust as an immediate and personal experience are responses to an encroaching sense of unreality In America we are haunted not by the traumatic impact of the Holocaust but by its absence When we take an interest in the Holocaust we are not overcoming a fearful aversion to its horror but endeavoring to actually feel the horror of what otherwise eludes us Weissman focuses on specific attempts to locate the Holocaust in the person of Elie Wiesel the most renowned survivor and his classic memoir Night in videotaped survivor stories and Lawrence L Langer's celebrated book Holocaust Testimonies and in the films Shoah and Schindler's List These representations he explains constitute a movement away from the view popularized by Wiesel that those who did not live through the Holocaust will never be able to grasp its horror and toward re creating the Holocaust as an experience nonwitnesses may put themselves through It is only by acknowledging the desire that gives shape to such representations and by exploring their place in the ongoing contest over who really knows the Holocaust and feels its horror that we can arrive at a more candid assessment of our current and future relationships to the Holocaust he says The Routledge Encyclopedia of Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century Sorrel Kerbel, 2004-11-23 Now available in paperback for the first time Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century is both a comprehensive reference resource and a springboard for further study This volume examines canonical Jewish writers less well known authors of Yiddish and Hebrew and emerging Israeli writers includes entries on figures as diverse as Marcel Proust Franz Kafka Tristan Tzara Eugene Ionesco Harold Pinter Tom Stoppard Arthur Miller Saul Bellow Nadine Gordimer and Woody Allen contains introductory essays on Jewish American writing Holocaust literature and memoirs Yiddish writing and Anglo Jewish literature provides a chronology of twentieth century Jewish writers Compiled by expert contributors this book contains over 330 entries on individual authors each consisting of a biography a list of selected publications a scholarly essay on their work and suggestions for further reading Catalog of the Gerald K. Horowitz, 2012-02-01 CHOICE 1997 Outstanding Academic Books Through new close readings of Holocaust fiction this book takes the field of Holocaust Studies in an important new direction Reading a wide range of narratives representing different nationalities styles genders and approaches Horowitz demonstrates that muteness not only expresses the difficulty in saying anything meaningful about the Holocaust it also represents something essential about the nature of the event itself The radical negativity of the Holocaust ruptures the fabric of history and memory emptying both narrative and life of meaning At the heart of Holocaust fiction lies a tension between the silence that speaks the rupture and the narrative forms that attempt to represent to bridge it This book argues that the central issues in Holocaust historiography and literary criticism are not simply prompted by the fictionality of imaginative literature they are already embedded as self critique in the fictional narratives While the current critical discourse argues either for or against the unrepresentability of these events and thus the appropriateness of imaginative literature this book develops the theme of muteness as the central way in which literary texts explore and provisionally resolve these central issues Focusing on the problem of muteness helps unfold the ambivalences and ambiguities that shape the way we read Holocaust fiction and the way we think about the Holocaust itself Reinventing the Sublime Steven Vine, 2013-06-06 Examines the return of the sublime in post modernity and at intimations of a post Romantic sublime in Romanticism itself

This work looks at 18th century Romantic modernist and post modern inventions of the sublime alongside contemporary critical accounts of the relationship of sublimity to subjectivity aesthetics politics and history The Case for Auschwitz Robert Jan van Pelt, 2016-03-23 From January to April 2000 historian David Irving brought a high profile libel case against Penguin Books and Deborah Lipstadt in the British High Court charging that Lipstadt's book Denying the Holocaust 1993 falsely labeled him a Holocaust denier The question about the evidence for Auschwitz as a death camp played a central role in these proceedings Irving had based his alleged denial of the Holocaust in part on a 1988 report by an American execution specialist Fred Leuchter which claimed that there was no evidence for homicidal gas chambers in Auschwitz In connection with their defense Penguin and Lipstadt engaged architectural historian Robert Jan van Pelt to present evidence for our knowledge that Auschwitz had been an extermination camp where up to one million Jews were killed mainly in gas chambers Employing painstaking historical scholarship van Pelt prepared and submitted an exhaustive forensic report that he successfully defended in cross examination in court Indelible Shadows Annette Insdorf, 2003 Table of contents

Singing for Survival Gila Flam, 1992 Gila Flam offers a penetrating insider's look at a musical culture previously unexplored the song repertoire created and performed in the Lodz ghetto of Poland Drawing on interviews with survivors and on library and archival materials the author illustrates the general themes of the Lodz repertoire and explores the nature of Holocaust song Most of the songs are presented here for the first time An extremely accurate and valuable work There is nothing like it in either the extensive Holocaust literature or the ethnomusicology literature Mark Slobin author of Chosen Voices: The Story of the American Cantorate Holocaust and the Moving Image Toby Haggith, Joanna Newman, 2005 Based on an event held at the Imperial War Museum in 2001 this book is a blend of voices and perspectives archivists curators filmmakers scholars and Holocaust survivors Each section examines films and how they have contributed to wider awareness and understanding of the Holocaust since the war Jewish-American Artists and the Holocaust Matthew Baigell, 1997 Jewish themes in American art were not very visible until the last two decades although many famous twentieth century artists and critics were and are Jewish Few artists responded openly to the Holocaust until the 1960s when it finally began to act as a galvanizing force allowing Jewish American artists to express their Jewish identity in their work Baigell describes how artists initially deflected their responses into abstract forms or by invoking biblical and traditional figures and then in more recent decades confronted directly Holocaust imagery and memory He traces the development of artistic work from the late 1930s to the present in a moving study of a long overlooked topic in the history of American art Absence / Presence Stephen C. Feinstein, 2005-08-11 Since the liberation of the Nazi concentration camps and recognition of the Holocaust as a watershed event of the twentieth century if not in Western Civilization itself the capacity of art to represent this event adequately has been questioned As it analyzes a cross section of Holocaust art within the context of art history Absence Presence addresses the discussion head on and explores the interchange between media and horror The book's contributors include case studies from a broad spectrum of artists in North America Europe and Israel to examine some of the more dominant themes in these artists work In addition to standard readings of Holocaust art the essays help illuminate the issues of eugenics the importance of art for Hitler and the Nazis the immense pilfering of art that occurred during World War II and the length and degree of the destruction of European Jewry which forced artists to reinvent their work through their own fate This selection of essays also provides alternative views to more typical readings on the Holocaust specifically to the story of the Shoah as a relevant art subject and to those who have a right to create art about the Holocaust These issues were the subject of an intense international debate based on an exhibition at New York's Jewish Museum titled Mirroring Evil The retrospective brought to art a series of contemporary perspectives that represented both the outer edges as well as mainstream postmodern thinking concerning representations of the Holocaust This book which covers the art from the late 1980s through 2002 includes the work of an array of scholars curators and artists from many countries It will be of great interest to art historians Jewish scholars and anyone interested in learning more about the art and artists of the Holocaust
