Handbook of Interview Research Jaber F. Gubrium, James A. Holstein, 2002 The Handbook of Interview Research is the most ambitious attempt yet at examining the place of the interview in contemporary society. Interviewing is the predominant mode of research in the social sciences. It is also the stock in trade of information seekers in organizations and institutions of all kinds as well as in the mass media. Across the board interviews provide today's leading window on the world of experience. The Handbook offers a comprehensive examination of the interview at the cutting edge of information technology. Drawing upon leading experts from a wide range of professional disciplines, this book addresses conceptual and technical challenges that confront both academic researchers and interviewers with more applied goals. From interview theory to the nuts and bolts of the interview process, the coverage is impressively broad and authoritative. The Handbook of Interview Research is both encyclopedic and thematic. As an encyclopedia, it provides extensive discussions of the methodological issues now surrounding interview practice, offering a multi-faceted assessment of what has become the method of choice for obtaining personal information in today's society. But the Handbook also is a story which spins a particular tale of interviewing, one that moves from the commonly recognized individual interview to what is called the interview society. The gist of the presentation is that we can no longer regard the interview as simply an instrument for gathering data, but must now also view it as an integral part of society.

Inspecting the Interview Carsten

Junker, 2024-09-03 Interviews are omnipresent in scholarship and public discourses. They play a crucial role in various spheres, from collecting research data to providing persons in the public eye a platform in print and online media. Interviews do not only capture a dialogue; they provide a framework in which dialogue gets staged. As such a framework, the interview protocols experiential knowledge and personal experience in certain ways according to interlocutors' different degrees of authority to speak. The volume contributes state-of-the-art research on what conclusions can be drawn from these and further reflections for a general assessment of the interview as method and form. It offers fundamental conceptualizations of the interview as a structured and mediated site of knowledge production. Theoreticians and practitioners assembled here conceptualize the interview from perspectives in different fields of the humanities and social sciences, such as linguistics, literary and cultural studies, musicology, psychology, and philosophy.

Cheer, Solène Prince, Philip Hayward, 2023-04-07. The links between islands and tourism as sights of pleasure is embodied in the touristification of sun sand and sea. Islandscapes are central to the tourist imaginaries that shape islands as touristified places: curated, designed and commodified for both mass tourism and more niche inclined versions. Yet while islands are parlayed for touristic pleasure seekers islands are also home to longstanding communities that have variously battled with the tyranny of distance from metropolitan centres as well as the everyday challenges of climate change effects and benefitted from their isolation from modern day pressures. This anthology of articles previously published in the journal Shima explores emergent themes that describe how island peoples adapt and respond in localised cultural islandscapes as a consequence of tourism expansion. It is aimed at researchers in island studies tourism sustainability human geography cultural studies sociology and anthropology. The anthology will also be of interest to those with an abiding interest in the trajectories of islands and their peoples particularly where tourism has come to shape islandscapes. The Art of Toshiko Takaezu Peter Held, 2011-04-15. Tracing the artistic development of renowned potter Toshiko Takaezu 1922-2011 this masterful study celebrates and analyzes an artist who held a significant place in the post World War II craft movement in America. Born in Hawaii of Japanese descent in 1922 Takaezu worked actively in clay fiber and bronze for over sixty years. Influenced by midcentury modernism her work transformed from functional vessels to abstract sculptural forms and installations. Over the years continued to draw on a combination of Eastern and Western techniques and aesthetics as well as her love of the natural world. In particular Takaezu's vertical closed forms became a symbol of her work created through a combination of wheel throwing and hand building techniques that allowed her to grow her vessels vertically and eased the circular restrictions of the wheel. In addition to her art Takaezu was renowned for her teaching including twenty years at Princeton University. This beautifully illustrated book offers the first scholarly analysis of Takaezu's life work and includes essays by Paul Smith director emeritus of the American Craft Museum and Janet Koplos former senior editor of Art in America. Weak Painting After Modernism Craig Staff,2023-09-01 This book examines the terms upon which painting in the United States sought to negotiate with the legacy of American formalist aesthetics and by extension the understanding of modernist painting it had become most readily associated with In so doing a separate set of possibilities for painting gradually began to emerge The salient debates and practices that collectively worked to establish such a response are approached through the philosopher Gianni Vattimo s idea of pensiero debole or so called weak thought To this end the proposed study both identifies and seeks to examine a type of weak painting which like Vattimo s idea took as its critical point of departure the exhaustion but not the vanishing of the project of modernism the belief in reason progress history the nation state etc Craig Staff explores particular instances wherein artists sought to extend the parameters of the object beyond what had been called into question namely the proclivity for modernist painting s strength to be understood as denoting amongst other things a perceived set of universal essences This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history fine art cultural studies critical theory curatorial studies and philosophy
