America Noir David Cochran, 2016-06-21 In America Noir David Cochran details how ten writers and filmmakers challenged the social pieties prevalent during the Cold War such as the superiority of the American democracy the benevolence of free enterprise and the sanctity of the suburban family Rod Serling's The Twilight Zone featured victims of vast faceless bureaucratic powers Jim Thompson's noir thrillers such as The Grifters portrayed the ravages of capitalism on those at the bottom of the social ladder Patricia Highsmith in The Talented Mr Ripley placed an amoral con man in an international setting implicitly questioning America's fitness as leader of the free world Charles Willeford's pulp novels such as Wild Wives and Woman Chaser depicted the family as a hotbed of violence and chaos These artists pioneered a detached ironic sensibility that radically juxtaposed cultural references and blurred the distinctions between high and low art Their refusal to surrender to the pressures for political conformity and their unflinching portrayal of the underside of American life paved the way for the emergence of a 1960s counterculture that forever changed the way America views itself Gothic to Multicultural A. Do Admit Mimi Pond, 2025-09-16 Mimi Pond crafts a gorgeous dazzling biography of the Mitford Sisters Born with pedigrees but without the pocketbooks to match The Mitfords were certainly no strangers to lies intrigue or scandal Nancy Pamela Diana Unity Jessica and Deborah All six sisters were weaned on their family's well documented upper class eccentricities a ne'er do well would be entrepreneur father a stern stiff upper lipped mother a revolving door of governesses of varying propriety all against the backdrop of a crumbling estate falling into disrepair The sisters grew from cloistered turn of the century country girls into debutantes who would marry into political influence for better or worse Is it any wonder that a young working class Mimi in Southern California becomes enamored with The Mitfords downright fanciful rich and famous lifestyle This charming inventively cartooned and lovingly researched biography captures the dramatic over the top antics of high society's strongest personalities as they rubbed elbows with some of history's most infamous fascists and communists Pond's genius for classic cartooning in the vein of the Vanity Fair caricature and the satirical illustrations of Charles Addams brings the aesthetic decadence of the 1920s and 30s to life with effortless aplomb warts and all

Justice in the Balkans John Hagan, 2010-03-15 Called a fig leaf for inaction by many at its inception the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia has surprised its critics by growing from an unfunded U N Security Council resolution to an institution with more than 1 000 employees and a 100 million annual budget With Slobodan Milosevic now on trial and more than forty fellow indictees currently detained the success of the Hague tribunal has forced many to reconsider the prospects of international justice John Hagan's Justice in the Balkans is a powerful firsthand look at the inner workings of the tribunal as it has moved from an experimental organization initially viewed as irrelevant to the first truly effective international court since Nuremberg Creating an institution that transcends national borders is a challenge fraught with political and organizational difficulties yet as Hagan describes here the Hague tribunal has increasingly met these difficulties head on and overcome them The chief reason for its success he argues is the people who have shaped it particularly its charismatic chief prosecutor Louise Arbour With drama and immediacy Justice in the Balkans re-creates how Arbour worked with others to turn the tribunal's fortunes around reversing its initial failure to arrest and convict significant figures and advancing the tribunal's agenda to the point at which Arbour and her colleagues including her successor Carla Del Ponte nicknamed the Bulldog were able to indict Milosevic himself. Leading readers through the investigations and criminal proceedings of the tribunal Hagan offers the most original account of the foundation and maturity of the institution. Justice in the Balkans brilliantly shows how an international social movement for human rights in the Balkans was transformed into a pathbreaking legal institution and a new transnational legal field. The Hague tribunal becomes in Hagan's work a stellar example of how individuals working with collective purpose can make a profound difference. The Hague tribunal reaches into only one house of horrors among many but within the wisely precise remit given to it it has beamed the light of justice into the darkness of man's inhumanity to woman as well as to man. Race, Gender and Empire in American Detective Fiction John Cullen Gruesser, 2013-09-11 This book highlights detection's malleability by analyzing the works of particular groups of authors from specific time periods written in response to other texts. It traces the roles that gender, race, and empire have played in American detective fiction from Edgar Allan Poe's works through the myriad variations upon them published before 1920 to hard-boiled fiction, the origins of which derive in part from turn-of-the-20th-century notions about gender, race, and nationality, and it concludes with a discussion of contemporary mystery series with inner-city settings that address black male and female heroism.
